ADMIRAL DENIES THAT NAVY PACT OFFERS PARITY

Peril to Commerce Seen by Reeves.

Clash Over Hearings

Washington, D. C., May 22.—(AP)—Anti-administration advocates of the London naval treaty determined today to bring it to a vote this session in the face of a move by the opposition to continue the committee hearings indefinitely.

Senator Hiram Johnson [Rep., Cal.], a critic of the treaty, upset plans for an early report when he announced upon the conclusion of today's hearings that he wished to hear about 14 more witnesses.

There is still talk of a special session of the senate this summer to consider the treaty.

ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 22.—[Special.]—That Anglo-American naval parity is established by the London treaty was denied vigorously by Rear Admiral J. M. Reeves, member of the navy general board, in testimony before the senate foreign relations committee today.

The treaty purports to allow Great Britain fifteen and America eighteen 8 inch cruisers, balancing a British preponderance of small cruisers. Reeves cited other provisions of the treaty under which Britain is in reality allowed 19 to our 18 big cruisers. "This is not a question of parity," he said. "It is one of inferiority, and anybody that imperils the security of our commerce."

Board Not Consulted.

Admiral Charles F. Hughes, chief of naval operations and ex-officio head of the general board, told the senate naval affairs committee the board was not asked for advice after Sept. 11, when it pronounced 21 big cruisers the minimum concession it would make to Great Britain. Admiral William V. Pratt, who was willing to go below 21, joins the administration adviser and the general board was sidetracked.

Hughes said the 5-3 ratio gave Japan superiority to America in the western Pacific, where American possessions are situated.

"Would the increased ratio given Japan by the London treaty leave us a chance in a war in the western Pacific?" asked Senator Tasker L. Oddie [Rep., Nev.].

"There is always a chance," Hughes replied, "but it makes it almost impossible to carry out our policy in the far east."

Admiral Frank H. Schofield, another member of the general board recently selected to command the battle fleet, pronounced the treaty disadvantageous to the United States.

Aircraft Carrier Parity Stressed.

Rear Admiral W. A. Moffett, chief of the bureau of aeronautics, and Rear Admiral A. J. Hepburn, chief of staff to the United States fleet, expressed views favorable to the treaty.

"I believe that the tonnage of aircraft carriers and the number of aircraft carriers that we can have is of much greater importance than that of any other category or of the question of 8 inch versus 6 inch gun cruisers," said Moffett, who was a technical adviser at London.

"Great Britain and the United States have parity, 135,000 tons, in this category; Japan has 81,000 tons, a ratio of 5 to 3. I consider this of greater importance than cruiser ratio. I believe the placing of landing decks for 33 per cent of the total cruiser tonnage preferably first on the remaining 6 inch gun cruisers, will make them at least equal, and in my opinion superior, to the 8 inch gun ships without landing decks.

Claims Concessions Necessary.

"The purpose of the conference was to secure limitation and, if possible, reduction in naval armament. Both were accomplished. No agreement would have been had unless concessions were made by each nation, as the national needs of each nation differed. Each nation naturally did all it could to protect its national interests. There would have been no agreement without give and take by each.

"I consider the agreement as made does not in any way jeopardize the safety and security of the United States, that unless it is ratified we will not build a navy anywhere near equal with Great Britain or with a ratio of 5-3 to Japan."

Kansas Is Driest Area in Union.

New York, May 22.—[Special.]—American sentiment after ten years of the Volstead law is 40 per cent "wet," 29 per cent "moist" and 31 per cent "dry," according to the final results of the Literary Digest's nation-wide prohibition poll to be announced in tomorrow's issue of the magazine.

A total of 4,806,464 votes were cast in the poll.

Of these 1,943,052, or 40.43 per cent of the total, favored outright repeal of the eighteenth amendment and all that goes with it.

Another 1,399,314 cast their ballots for modification of the Volstead law. This was 29.11 of the total.

The rest, or 1,464,098, 30.46 per cent, urged strict enforcement of the existing measure.

Two Out of Every Five Wet.

On the basis of its findings, the magazine estimates that "forty voters out of every hundred in the United States" desire the repeal of the constitution's most discussed amendment and that another 29 out of each of the hundreds are for modifying the law in some way.

The magazine sent out twenty million blank ballots but only 4,806,464 of them came back "properly marked." However, the editor of the publication in a statement accompanying his announcement of the summary—the final figures of the poll—to be published tomorrow, considers this an "unparalleled return" and submits that so many votes "indicates that the American people are more deeply stirred by the existing prohibition situation than they were even by the Hoover-Smith contest"—which incidentally the magazine was able to forecast by means of a similar poll of the nation's voters.

Five States "Bone Dry."

Only five states of the forty-eight registered "bone dry," giving a majority vote for strict enforcement. They were Arkansas, Kansas, North Carolina, Oklahoma, and Tennessee. Five others, Connecticut, Louisiana, Nevada, New Jersey and Rhode Island, were just as emphatically "wet," going wholeheartedly for repeal of the law. Thirteen, Alabama, Arkansas, Colorado, Iowa, Kansas, Maine, Mississippi, Nebraska, North Carolina, Oklahoma South Carolina, Tennessee, and Texas, gave 40 per cent of their votes for enforcement, and eighteen, Connecticut, Delaware, Florida, Illinois, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Missouri, Montana, Nevada, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Wisconsin, Wyoming and the District of Columbia, went more than 40 per cent for repeal.

THE MESS OF POTTAGE AND THE BIRTHRIGHT

HARVARD'S IBIS BIRD IS STOLEN; SUSPECT YALE

Cambridge, Mass., May 22.—(AP)—The ancient and treasured wooden Ibis bird emblem of the Lampoon, Harvard's funny magazine, was reported stolen from the Lampoon sanctum today. Wrathful "Lampy" editors promptly cast suspicion upon the Yale Record and the staff of the Harvard Crimson, with which they traditionally have strained relations.

Suspicion was directed at New Haven because of the mysterious appearance of the stolen Yale fence last year at a Lampoon dinner, and the theory that revenge might have prompted the taking of the Ibis. Crimson editors were so resentful that they should be suspected that they offered to pay the expenses of former Police Commissioner Grover A. Whalen to come up from New York and investigate.

Crimson Takes Trail.

New Haven, Conn., May 22.—(AP)—A telegram signed the "Harvard Crimson" was received tonight by the Yale Daily News telling the theft of the Harvard Lampoon's Ibis.

The telegram read:

"The Lampoon's Ibis has been stolen. Do you know anything about it? Rumor Connecticut car effected theft. Copy of Yale Record found in place of bird. Ibis sacred symbol of Lampoon. Highly valued. Please wire reply collect and any information you may have."

A Van Winkle Resents This Sort of Thing

Somebody else will have to collect fares, pick up the milk cans and assist the elderly ladies on and off the one man trolley car plying between Elgin and Aurora. Robert Van Winkle has resigned.

A 22 year old farmer lad, of plain and simple tastes, Robert was entirely satisfied with his position until the occurrence of certain events about to be related. He knew everybody and everybody knew him. Folks called him Bob.

Bob liked nothing better than to sit at his post, as conductor-motorman, and pilot his car along the winding reaches of the Fox river. He was familiar with every chipmunk on every crossroads. The 22 mile trip between the two towns consumed an hour and a half, if no live stock strayed on the track.

A Lady Takes Passage.

A man has to have stamina to hold Bob's job, for occasionally a roving gunman from the wicked city invades the pastoral countryside. Wherefore, the conductor-motorman goes armed, and is particularly watchful of nights.

Bob was not alarmed Wednesday night. He had but one passenger on the last trip to Aurora—a young lady—a strange young lady. As the car rumbled along toward its destination he suddenly became conscious that she was eying him intently. He looked about. It seemed to him there was a wild light in her eyes.

The car arrived in Aurora. Bob rose to switch to the other end, when suddenly the lights went out and the young lady's arms were around his neck. She was kissing Bob and whispering that she loved him. Spring had got her man.

Robert Goes to Court.

"What could I do?" asked Bob yesterday before Police Magistrate Weber in Aurora. "I couldn't leave my post of duty. I nearly went mad, trying to think of a way out. At last I broke away, called the police, and had her arrested. I want her punished. I intend to pick my own wife."

The young lady blushed. She said she was Marie Koch, 19 years old.

"Well, now," said the judge. "You can't be too stern at this time of year. I'll let this girl's family handle the case. The charge of disorderly conduct is dismissed."

Girl Flying to Australia Lands on Island Near Goal

BATAVIA, Java, May 22.—(AP)—Amy Johnson, British girl flying alone from England to Australia, landed today on the island of Timor. She is now separated from her goal only by the Timor Sea. Miss Johnson today flew over a wild stretch of islands and sea in the East Indies.

25,000 RUMANIAN JEWS REPORTED FLEEING POGROM

LONDON, May 22.—[Jewish Telegraphic Agency.]—Reports in Rumanian newspapers reaching London today said that 25,000 Jews had fled into the forests from the attacks of anti-Semitic peasants at Marmorosh, Rumania. Hundreds of others were said to have escaped by train.

These newspapers assert that the recent anti-Semitic disturbances in Rumania were serious and contradict official communiques, in which they were described as unimportant incidents.

The Bucharest newspaper Dimineatza says that a man named Danila, about whom priests have spread the rumor that he was former Crown Prince Carol in disguise, had inflamed the peasants against the Jews. Danila was reported to have called on the peasants to massacre the Jews.

TRAFFIC HALTS WHILE MOTHER CROSSES STREET

Where Michigan boulevard runs into Lincoln park, and hundreds of autos go speeding north and south at no one knows who's bidding, traffic was brought to an abrupt halt at 11:55 a. m. yesterday.

Not a policeman; not a red light.

The lake sparkled on the east and mothers and nursemaids placidly wheeled babies along the sunny walk on the west. Every one was at peace except one mother—who was trying to cross the throbbing boulevard.

The drumming traffic suddenly stopped with a squeal of brakes. Chauffeurs stared, drivers smiled, and bus passengers stood up to see what was going on.

A mother goose and her five little goslings waddled across the boulevard.

Mother of 4 Shot to Death; Quiz Husband

Mrs. Marie Pelletier, 49 years old, 2521 South Ridgeland avenue, Berwyn, the mother of four children, was mysteriously shot to death within a few paces of her own doorstep last night. The Berwyn police are holding her husband, Louis, a hat maker, for questioning. A neighbor, Joseph Spale, 21 years old, told the police of frequent quarrels in the Pelletier household and also that he saw the woman on the street, a short time before her body was found, with her husband following a few feet to the rear.

Mrs. Pelletier had left her home about 10 o'clock to purchase provisions in the 22d street business district, a few blocks away. A short time later Miss May Kouhot, 2637 South Harvey avenue, Berwyn, and Miss Sylvia Marek, 6239 West 26th street, Berwyn, came upon the body of Mrs. Pelletier on the sidewalk. They called some youths nearby, who turned the body over. As they did so Pelletier walked up and said, "That's my wife," the girls told the police.

Husband's Story of Shooting.

Pelletier's story was that after his wife had left the house he and his son Lester, 24 years old, had heard the shots, but had believed them to be the backfire of an automobile. Later, he said, he stepped out on the front porch, saw a group of people on the sidewalk nearby, and walked over to find his wife with two bullet wounds in her breast.

One of the bullets also pierced Mrs. Pelletier's hand as if she had placed it on her breast as the shot was fired. One of the shots had pierced her heart.

The police at first were of the opinion that robbery was the motive for the slaying. Pelletier said his wife had carried her pocketbook when she left the house, but no pocketbook could be found. Questioning of witnesses, including members of the family, brought out that the couple often quarreled violently. Pelletier was then taken into custody for questioning, although at an early hour this morning only the other witnesses had been heard.

Four Children Survive.

Besides Lester the Pelletier children are Le Roy, 18 years old; Lawrence, 28; and Mrs. Lawrence Pletycha, 25, of 18 South Harlem avenue, Riverside.

Several residents of the neighborhood told the police they had heard the shots, but none had investigated. The girls who found the body did not hear the shooting, they said. They told the police, however, that their attention had first been drawn to the body when a man dressed in dark clothing, walking ahead of them, bent over, peered at the body, and then went on.

Richard Wilder, a radio engineer living at the Oak Park Manor hotel, 408 South Oak Park avenue, told the police he had gone to the Pelletier home to see Lawrence, one of the sons, who was not home, and had been invited into a basement room to listen to a radio. Shortly after Mrs. Pelletier left the house Pelletier also went out, Wilder said, and was not heard from again until he called through a basement window that an accident had befallen his wife.

Pelletier made a trip to a nearby drug store shortly after his wife's body had been found and carried into the house. He told the police that when he saw the blood on his wife's dress he thought she had taken a poison and had gone for an antidote. When he returned to the house he found policemen in charge of Lieut. James Miles there

TROOPS GUARD AIR LINER AFTER 61 HR. SEA HOP

Graf Will Start for Rio Janeiro Today.

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

PERNAMBUCO, May 22.—After a 61 hour flight from Seville, the Graf Zeppelin, the first dirigible to pass over South American soil, made a perfect landing here tonight and was safely moored at 8:05 p. m. local time [6:05 p. m. Chicago daylight time].

The ship was wildly greeted by thousands, who had been waiting at the field for hours. The night was ideal, with only a few high clouds and a steady south breeze, not too heavy.

Darkness already had set in when Dr. Hugo Eckener, who was following the coast, swung his ship over Pernambuco, heading inland, straight for the airport.

Circles Mast at 1,000 Feet.

At an altitude of 1,000 feet the ship came up to the windward side of the mast, making a wide circle and becoming almost invisible against the dark hills, except for her riding lights. Then she put her nose into the wind to feel its force and passed slowly over the field grandstand, where she was greeted with a roar of welcome. The ship then made another circle, settling this time a few hundred feet lower.

As she was creeping forward, the landing rope shot out and within fifteen minutes the ship was safely secured to the mast. The mob surged forward and troops fought off the excited watchers.

Some delay was encountered in getting the passengers off, as the field was a morass from last night's downpour.

Ceremonies Cut Short.

Cleared by customs officials, Dr. Eckener, with the Infante Alfonso was escorted to the grandstand and there greeted by the governor of the state of Pernambuco and local officials. The ceremonies were cut short, as the passengers had not had dinner, and all immediately went to a hotel. As soon as they were off the field all the smokers lit up cigarets, as they had not smoked for about three days.

Dr. Eckener announced that the ship would leave late tomorrow, but would not fuel tonight, although it was believed he would rescind that order, as the gas making plant, on the arrival of the ship, was already working and is ready now to deliver 7,000 cubic meters of gas fuel, which will require nine hours.

As the Graf Zeppelin had not been expected to make a stop here on her southbound leg, no formal arrangements had been made for the party. Tomorrow is expected to be devoted to sightseeing. It is also reported Dr. Eckener is dubious about making even a short landing at Rio de Janeiro, as he is uncertain of the air currents there.

LOSES A DAY'S TIME

PERNAMBUCO, Brazil, May 22.—The Graf Zeppelin on landing here tonight ended the first and most important part of its new voyage.

The distance covered from Seville was 4,000 land miles. The insufficiency of the supplies put on at Seville through the negligence of the Spanish officers, caused us a loss of 12 hours on the ocean crossing and will cost us more than a day on the entire trip.

Fair and agreeably cool weather stayed with us through the entire crossing, even the usual rains in the so-called calm belt being unusually light. The passengers were delighted over the smooth and cool equator voyage.

Weather Cold Over Equator.

This morning we at last encountered warmer weather, freeing us from the woolen sweaters we were wearing in fear of catching cold over the equator.

We passed the equator and the Guano-White rock of St. Paul's at exactly 8:30 a. m., ship's time, without making much fuss about it. Because the crew was busy then, the celebration was held two hours later. Each passenger received a certificate from Capt. Schiller, impersonating Aerolus, the God of the winds, the certificates having been designed by Dr. Eckener's painter-brother. All

Pay $12,000 for Rio Hop.

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

RIO DE JANEIRO, May 22.—The press here has announced that the Graf Zeppelin's visit to Rio de Janeiro has been assured by the federal government agreeing to contribute about $12,000 toward the extra expense necessitated by the Pernambuco-Rio de Janeiro hop. Since there is no mooring mast here, 300 Brazilian soldiers will anchor the Zeppelin at the Campo dos Affonsos, the aviation field.

The airship may only stay in Rio de Janeiro for three hours. Therefore no reception program has been arranged, other than invitations to the authorities and other notables to witness the landing from a special grandstand.

R-100 Moors; Tail Damaged.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

CARDINGTON, England, May 22.—After being out all night, the British dirigible R-100 was moored this evening with 30 feet of her tail fabric damaged. The attachment to the mooring mast was carried out in a heavy rain and wind, but as she was secured some time just after 6 o'clock it was noticed that the tail buckled slightly toward the right.

Commander R. S. Booth said he knew nothing of the damage until within signaling distance of the airdrome, when Maj. Scott, who did not accompany the flight, sent up a message. The damage was not serious.

The airship at one period attained a speed of 80 miles an hour, and it is possible the damage was caused then through the great external pressure. The R-100 was making its last trip before its Canadian flight, and left Cardington last night. During the cruise it passed over Cardington, Leeds, Manchester, Liverpool, Crewe, and The Potteries, and at one time cruised over the North sea.

Flight Lasted 23 Hours.

An air ministry statement issued tonight said the flight of approximately 23 hours successfully tested the engine and wireless apparatus. The behavior of the ship was generally satisfactory, it was stated. It will be necessary to put the ship in its hangar to repair the minor defect.

The air ministry, in its statement, said:

"A request has been received from the Canadian department of national defense asking that the R-100 not arrive in Canada until after the close of the parliamentary session, so the ministers and others may be able to receive the airship on its arrival at Montreal. Secretary of State for Air Lord Thomson, telegraphed yesterday agreeing to the proposed postponement."

CORONER RETURNS SUICIDE VERDICT IN SIMONS DEATH

A formal verdict that William Simons, leading citizen of Kentland, Ind., and a veteran member of the Chicago Board of Trade, had committed suicide, was returned yesterday by Coroner Allen Penoyer at Kentland. Mr. Simons' body, with three bullet wounds in the head and body, was found beside a highway near Kentland last Tuesday morning, and some members of his family declared he had probably been the accidental victim of bootleggers.

A number of Chicago friends attended Mr. Simons' funeral at Kentland yesterday.

The coroner's finding held that Mr. Simons killed himself while temporarily deranged. Contributing causes cited by the coroner were that Simons had never entirely recovered from injuries to his head incurred in an automobile accident five years ago, and that recently he had suffered new financial reverses.

Mr. Simons was the president of the Sawers Grain company of Chicago, which failed seven years ago, and was a former business partner of Warren T. McCray, former governor of Indiana, who served a term in the penitentiary as the outgrowth of certain financial difficulties.

DRYS RAID MALT SHOP AND ARREST MAN AND WIFE

E. C. Yellowley, chief prohibition enforcer for this district, yesterday conducted another raid on a store dealing in home brewing supplies, thus bearing out his statement that he was not through with such raids when Joe Grein's place at 210 West Madison street was raided two weeks ago.

The People's Supply company, at 1419 West 79th street, was raided yesterday, and $20,000 worth of malt, hops, bottles, caps, and other paraphernalia was seized. The raid was made on a search warrant issued after the agents said they had made a purchase, asking for "enough to make five gallons of beer."

Mr. and Mrs. Max Newman, of 7707 South Laflin avenue, were arrested. They have been in business for three years.

EXTRA VALUE BUT NO EXTRA COST

It costs more to make PEBECO Tooth Paste because it contains more expensive ingredients, mostly imported. The formula requires them. Else it could not perform the extra functions which have won so many enthusiastic friends. Pebeco whitens as it cleans, and gently stimulates the salivary flow, helping Nature check the destructive mouth acids. Pebeco is therefore the cheapest tooth paste in the world because it gives so much more. Give it a chance to prove itself—TODAY!

BEVERLY HILLS IN UPROAR OVER TAX INCREASES

Many Residents Find Bills Have Doubled.

Taxpayers in Beverly Hills complained of tax increases yesterday. Knots of property owners gathered to discuss inequalities, lawn mowers were idle, flowers withered for lack of water, and clothes hung on the line after they had been dried for hours. The topic was taxes.

Elmer C. Wolter, 10331 South Throop street, found his taxes up from $74.80 in 1927 to $813.91 in 1928. Wolter protested against the "scientific reassessment" which seemed to have produced a clerical error. His neighbor, T. Peetz, 10337, will pay only $35 on a home more modest, but not so much so as the difference in tax bills would indicate. Both homes are across from a lumber yard and near a railroad.

Other Cases Are Cited.

E. R. Kilpatrick, 1644 West 104th street, took an increase from $99.19 in 1927 to $279.66 for 1928 on his six room home, while across the street Mrs. John Lucasey, 1653 West 104th street, will pay only $153 on a ten room home with two baths.

The homes of Ira O'Dell, 1939 West 104th street, and J. E. Aldrich, 1635 West 104th street, are practically alike in construction cost, with the odds in favor of Aldrich because he has a 100 foot lot against his neighbor's 50. Yet the assessor taxes O'Dell at $304 and Aldrich at $238. Dr. W. H. McCarthy, 1665 West 104th street, with an eight room home on a 100 foot lot, is taxed at $343. His is a neighbor of both O'Dell and Mrs. Lucasey.

"Every effort was made under the reassessment to make an honest, impartial assessment," Harry S. Cutmore, director of the work, said. "Errors were bound to creep in. Ten per cent in mistakes can be made to overshadow 90 per cent accuracy. If these people have just complaints they can call at the assessors and have the mistakes, if any, corrected free of charge for 1929. Associations will exact a fee for the same work.

"The staff corrected many errors in this area and sent resolutions calling on the reviewers to record the corrections. The board acted on but few of these resolutions. I believe that many of the apparent inequalities will be shown groundless by examination of construction and materials in otherwise similar homes."

Malone Appeals to Swanson.

William H. Malone, chairman of the state tax commission, yesterday appealed to State's Attorney Swanson for aid in securing necessary books to audit the reassessment activities of the boards of review and assessors.

Swanson declared that the matter will be settled amicably. It was reported that Mr. Malone was to seek a grand jury investigation of the work done by the boards, but Swanson said that no request for an investigation had been asked.

The first real estate tax bills for city townships were mailed yesterday by County Treasurer Harding. Taxpayers in Hyde Park, Lake, and Jefferson will receive 300,000 bills today, the first in two years. The bills represent $100,000,000 in taxes.

GIRL TAKES POISON AT PARTY OF TEXAS POLITICAL LEADER

Dallas, Tex., May 22.—[Special.]—After draining a bottle of poison after a party, Mrs. R. L. Works, young church worker, was found near death today in the hotel suite of R. B. Creager, Republican national committeeman and Texas political leader.

R. B. CREAGER. [P. & A. Photo.]

Mrs. Works was rushed to a hospital and Creager was questioned by police. He said she had come from her Brownsville home to attend a church convention, and that by a coincidence he was visiting here and invited her to join a party of friends at the hotel roof garden last night. During the dinner, he said, Mrs. Works became indisposed and two of the other women took her to his room.

While in his room Mrs. Works obtained a bottle of poison and drank it, mistaking it, Creager insisted, for a gargle.

SENATE CALLED "RUBBER STAMP" FOR EMMERSON

Plan House Fight to Halt Tax Amendment.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Back from the second week of the special session of the Illinois general assembly yesterday, Chicago legislators referred to the state senate as a "rubber stamp" and as "the governor's echo."

These expressions were high spots in the comment on the speedy action of the senate in adopting a resolution for an amendment of the revenue article of the constitution that would cancel all the present restrictions upon the legislature in the imposition and distribution of taxes.

Cite Action of Last Year

There were no signs of anger toward either the downstate majority or the eight Cook county senators who voted for the resolution. The consensus was that little more was to be expected from a body dominated by the executive department for years. In support of this attitude, the senate's action last year in passing a constitutional resolution and an income tax bill, both of which were lost when they reached the house, was cited.

"The senate's adoption of the resolution was not unexpected," said Minority Leader Michael L. Igoe. "In fact, it was conceded in the conference of representatives and senators from Cook county held a few hours earlier. One of the senators (Lowell B. Mason) who later voted for the resolution said openly that there was no use in opposing it in the senate and that the fight would have to be made in the house.

"That situation has arisen year after year at Springfield. Time and again Len Small submitted measures to the assembly that he passed easily in the senate and they were defeated in the house; and now the same thing is occurring under Emmerson. He sends up a resolution or a bill, the senate rubber stamps its approval, and then it is sent over to the house for its first real consideration. The journals of the houses are full of instances of this character.

Choose Easiest Way Out.

"I shouldn't want to accuse all of the senators in yesterday's majority of being lazy, but they certainly did choose the easiest way out. As the governor's echo the senate voted 'aye' and its decision was cast in secret caucus in advance of its meeting and not one of those who spoke for the resolution really discussed its merits. There was no debate on the specific subject acted upon.

"No one ever has seen that sort of procedure in the house. There every proposition is taken up and discussed on its merits. And the governor will find that it is much harder to lead the house by the nose than it is the senate."

Senator Thomas J. Courtney, one of the bitter end scrappers against the majority of his associates, said he still was unable to see why that majority had turned down his suggestion that Gov. Emmerson be asked to state his position on the form of amendment acted upon.

Wants Opinion of Governor.

"The governor has said repeatedly that he is more than anxious for the adoption of a revenue amendment," said the senator, "and that means he wants to see the legislature submit one that will pass on a referendum vote of the people. But he has not said, publicly at least, what he thinks of the pending amendment. Is it what he wants and is it what he thinks the voters will approve?

"I do not see how he can take that position. Even the speakers at the public hearings who urged the adoption of an amendment urged that changes be made in the present resolution. The senate did not consider a single one of the recommendations made by the organizations represented by the speakers. Several serious legal faults were pointed out in the resolution and not the slightest effort was made to correct any of them. Therefore we must expect their organizations to be against them in the referendum."

"The action of the senate will not have any influence on the attitude of the house," said Representative Elmer J. Schnackenberg, who again this year is leading the Republican end of the house fight against the amendment in its present form.

"Before the house acts finally on the resolution it will receive the same thorough consideration it would receive if the senate had not even taken it up."

CANAL OFFICIALS PRESS PLEA FOR SPECIAL SESSION

President Howard W. Elmore, Attorney Walter E. Beebe, and Chief Engineer Edward J. Kelly of the sanitary district will leave for Springfield Monday to make a personal plea to Gov. Emmerson for a special session of the legislature to consider the urgent financial needs of the district.

The trustees already have petitioned the governor for the special session. A copy of a resolution adopted at the last board meeting urging that Gov. Emmerson authorize the legislature to grant the sanitary district the right to issue 120 million dollars in bonds in the next six years without state referenda was mailed to the executive.

"The governor must be made to see," Mr. Beebe said, "that this is an urgent need of the district, that we must have the money, and that we are unable to complete the construction program outlined by the Supreme court unless the money is provided. The six year bonding program without referenda is our only resource."

INDIA'S UNREST SPREADS; AFGHAN TRIBES IN REVOLT

Troops and Natives Clash After British Raid

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 22.—News here today that the trouble on the northwest frontier of India, which was caused by leaderless tribesmen in Waziristan, is now affecting the whole country. The tribesmen, who bombed out of their positions by British airplanes with the approval of the Afghan government, have now retreated into Afghan territory and are stirring trouble there.

A clash occurred between tribesmen and Afghan troops at Kok-i-Lowara, where the tribesmen were driven into the hills.

British Troops in Control.

BOMBAY, India, May 22.—(AP)—British and Indian troops were soon established in control of the Peshawar district tonight, that further attempts at civil disobedience and demonstrations by the natives became the question.

Dharsana was under martial law. Troops were bivouacked on the scene of yesterday's serious encounter in which 600 Hindu demonstrators were injured. If the followers of Mahatma Gandhi expected to execute their raids upon government salt pans they made no sign tonight.

New Border Threat Appears.

With this situation well in hand a new threat against peace in India appeared on the northwest horizon. The Mullah of Turangzai was reported to have stationed a seriously large number of his followers within striking distance of Peshawar. His followers were reported to have suffered severe casualties from British bombing planes yesterday night. Government authorities today considered the need of further strengthening the armed forces in the region.

Arrests for disobedience in civil law, varying from mild offenses to serious, are continuing throughout India, with prisoners in all cases being given prompt trials.

Cavalry Rides Into Surat

A government statement said that yesterday's roundup of raiders at Dharsana only three or four were seriously injured. It was reported that about 2,600 Nationalists participated in the attacks.

A store of dynamite, surreptitiously removed from a freight car at Surat, today had vanished in spite of the most diligent effort to locate it. Surat today received a detachment of Indian cavalry numbering 250 which rode into town with complete field equipment and bristling with machine guns.

Police and troops today raided the Nationalist camp at Untadi, near Dharsana, and destroyed it, remaining in complete control of the area. At Wadala a party of 100 raiders divided themselves into two batches, and were arrested.

Intimate details of the private life of Mr. Gandhi today were made known in a letter, which he wrote to Miss Slade, alias Mira Behn, at Ahmadabad, Ashram, intended for the eyes of all Ashram inmates.

Gandhi Describes Prison Life.

The "holy one" declares the prison officials are kind and attentive. He says:

"I have been quite happy now that up my arrears of rest. The nights are cooling and I am permitted to sleep right under the sky. I have had refreshing sleep.

"I am giving as much time as I can to the takli [a hand spinning wheel.] I find I have no speed at all. For the first day I gave seven hours to it. I was washed out at the end of the performance. I must learn the trick of getting speed. My health is alright. I rise at 4 a. m. I am given a light when I can read the gita, according to custom.

"I am gradually recovering from my exhaustion. I rest regularly from eight in the morning to 12 noon and thus get two or three hours sleeping the day. I gave up orange juice during the march, but have begun taking them again here. On the third day I took raw goat's milk and am continuing it for the present. I take three pounds daily."

DEMAND $6,000 FROM BANKER TORTURE THREAT

Canton, Ill., May 22.—(AP)—Kidnapists who attempted to get $6,000 from O. D. Bailey, banker at Ipava Grove, Ill., near here, failed today to get into the trap set for them today.

Two notes received by Bailey yesterday demanded the money under threat of harm to his son and daughter. He reported to police and displaced a dummy package today at the designated crossroad on the route from Table Grove to Ipava, Ill. A watch was set over the spot, but no one appeared.

Bailey said he had no clew to the sender of the notes. One came to him by a boy who said a stranger had asked him to deliver it. The other was mailed in Peoria, Ill. Bailey said he did not recall any enemies he might have made either here or in Peoria. As soon as he got the notes he drove to Milwaukee, Wis., where Wilma, his daughter, has been teaching school, and to Chicago, where Don, 22, his son, has been managing a cafeteria at 63rd and East 63d street, and took them back to Table Grove.

GIRL IS RELEASED AFTER SIX YEARS IN STATE ASYLUM

Six years after she was incarcerated as "feeble-minded" in the Lincoln State School and Colony at Lincoln, Ill., by the Juvenile court, Grace Molkentine, now 19 years old, was ordered released yesterday by Judge Joseph B. David of the Superior court.

The release order issued by Judge David set forth that the young woman "was not at the time of commitment feeble-minded, is not now, and never was, and that on the contrary she appears to be a young woman of great intelligence." The order also held that the commitment, which was signed by Judge Mary M. Bartelme of the Juvenile court on Jan. 31, 1924, was unlawful and void.

The Juvenile court was criticized by Judge David as a "sociological laboratory that usually doesn't work," and the officials of the state institution were rebuked for "passing the buck to the courts" in not releasing the girl.

"It is disgraceful that this young woman should have spent what should have been six of the happiest years of her life in such a place," Judge David said. "Because she didn't like to go to school and played 'hookey' she was adjudged feeble-minded."

Judge David's order was issued at a habeas corpus hearing asked by the girl's father and stepmother, George and Anna Molkentine, 30th street and Des Plaines avenue, Riverside. The writ was directed against P. S. Waters, officer of the Lincoln school.

Clarence Molkentine, 22 years old, brother of Grace, last night told of the family's efforts to have the girl released since her commitment. After repeated failures, he said, they asked an attorney to handle the case—a cousin, Walter C. Wellman.

"We're glad to have Grace back," young Molkentine said. "She was a foolish girl for staying out of school, and the folks were—well, overly strict."

Emblems Awarded

Mary Blanche Little of Logansport, Ind., a junior in the college of liberal arts and a member of Alpha Chi Omega sorority, was crowned May queen at Northwestern university yesterday afternoon. A pageant with singing and dancing marked the springtime fête held on the meadow of the Evanston campus.

After the coronation, Women's Athletic association emblems were awarded to three outstanding co-eds. They are: Gertrude Eberhart, Kappa Kappa Gamma, 909 Lakeside place, May queen last year; Ruth Orndorff, Alpha Chi Omega, 4430 Wilcox street, and Elizabeth Sweet, Kappa Kappa Gamma, 506 5th street, Wilmette. Basis of these awards are sportsmanship, character, leadership, and service to the university.

Avis Hillman, president of Mortar Board, then announced elections to that senior honorary society. Those elected are: Eleanor Bell, Alpha Chi Omega, Coral Gables, Fla.; Jane Dibble, Gamma Phi Beta, Cleveland, O.; Marion Fry, Pi Beta Phi, 811 Clinton place, Evanston; Jean Simpson, Kappa Kappa Gamma, 922 Sunnyside avenue; Beulah Smith, 113 Ravinia court, Ravinia; Dorothy Verges, Pi Beta Phi, Norfolk, Neb.

Kill Each Other in Gun Duel in Darkened Room

Las Cruces, N. M., May 22.—(AP)—Clashing in a gun duel to death, Inez Valencia, 68, and Pedro Gonzales, 31, killed each other in a dark room of a small adobe hut near here last night. The bodies were found by Cessario Valencia, who carried a lamp into the room after the sound of firing had ceased. Each man held the other by his left hand and in their right hands were revolvers from which all shots had been fired.

OLGA EDWARDS GOING ABROAD; AMSTER ON WAY

New York, May 22.—[Special.]—Olga Elde Edwards, who was given a suspended sentence for trying to extort money from Nathan L. Amster, millionaire traction man, closed her account with the courts and Mr. Amster before Supreme Court Justice Aaron J. Levy this afternoon.

Besides receiving permission to go to Europe or any other place she chooses, so long as she does not further annoy Mr. Amster, Justice Levy allowed the former show girl the interest from the famous $100,000 trust fund established by Amster, and custody of her child, Lee Edward. Justice Levy's final disposition of the case puts Miss Edwards almost back where she was before the trouble over her visits to the Amster office started.

Mr. Amster, according to his friends, left for Europe yesterday and Miss Edwards today signified her intention of sailing for the same part of the world early next week. The fact that they both will be in Europe at the same time caused Justice Levy to warn Miss Edwards to "watch her conduct."

ITALY MAY SEND EDDA MUSSOLINI'S HUSBAND TO U. S.

ROME, May 22. — (AP) — Diplomatic circles in Rome were gossiping tonight about reports that Count Galeazzo Ciano, son-in-law of Premier Mussolini, may soon be sent to Washington as secretary in the Italian embassy.

He would take with him his wife, the former Edda Mussolini, whom he married April 24. The couple are finishing their honeymoon in the south of Italy and are expected to return shortly to Rome.

Count Ciano now is secretary of the Italian embassy to the Holy See.

U. S. GRAND JURY INDICTS NICHOLS AS TAX EVADER

Income of $94,000 Over Salary Charged.

William E. Nichols, alleged tax fixer, was indicted by the federal grand jury yesterday on charges of evading $4,938.39 in income taxes for 1927 and 1928. Nichols' name has figured in the state's attorney's investigation into charges of bribery in Building Commissioner Christian P. Paschen's office, and he has been a frequenter of the office of Gene G. Oliver, a member of the board of assessors, according to federal investigators.

Nichols, who is a salesman for the Wisconsin Lime and Cement company, was indicted on two counts, the first charging that he had a total income of $50,624.29 in 1927 and the second that he received $55,962.28 in 1928. He is alleged to have received $44,728 in 1927 above his salary and $49,459.28 in "other income" during 1928. The true bill sets forth that he filed returns and paid taxes only on his salary and interest from bank deposits, less the regular deductions.

"Income Believed Higher."

Nichols' income for the two years mentioned in the indictment is believed to have been much more than that specified, according to Assistant United States Attorney Dwight H. Green, but he said no additional amount could be shown to be income.

One of the witnesses before the grand jury in the Nichols investigation was Attorney Morris Weinberg, and he is alleged to have served a number of clients whose sole demand was for a reduction in their taxes. Weinberg, according to the internal revenue investigators, dealt with Nichols, who in turn is alleged to have communicated with the proper officials relative to having assessments lowered.

Assessor Oliver is under indictment for evasion of income taxes and his case is set for trial on June 18.

Bribe Charges Made.

Although Nichols has figured in the state's attorney's investigation into the affairs of Commissioner Paschen's office, the federal authorities did not concern themselves with this phase. Charges that bribes were solicited and paid in Paschen's office were made by Jules K. Masse, a draftsman, in a civil suit, and a grand jury investigation followed.

The federal investigators expressed the opinion that virtually all of the income Nichols is alleged to have made above his salary was as payment in connection with tax fixing.

Nichols was a candidate for state senator in 1922.

GEN. FUNSTON'S WIDOW VOTED $3,600 PENSION

Washington, D. C., May 22.—(AP)—A measure carrying provision for a $3,600 annual pension for the widow of the late Maj. Gen. Frederick Funston has been passed by congress and now awaits signature of the President.

Mrs. Funston, now ill in San Francisco, was granted a pension of $100 a month several years ago. To supplement this sum in the support of a family she obtained employment in a store. Failure of her health brought about a movement for a more substantial government contribution.

Gen. Funston, who rose from the ranks, was the leader of the fearless band which captured Aguinaldo, the Philippine insurrectionist, and later figured in the expedition of 1916 in Mexico.

U. of C. Graduate Students Protest Ruling on Theses

Graduate students of the University of Chicago have protested against a regulation which is scheduled to go into effect July 1 requiring all candidates for a doctor's degree to submit 100 bound copies of theses to the university library before convocation. Students object to the expense, which varies from $100 to $800. A counter suggestion is made that the expense be shared by students, the graduate school and the library. The graduate school faculty will meet tomorrow morning to act upon the protest.

SENATE LACKS QUORUM (BALL TEAM IS HOME)

Washington, D. C., May 22.—(AP)—Unable to obtain a quorum, the senate adjourned at 3:20 this afternoon until tomorrow.

Adjournment was moved by Senator McNary of Oregon, the assistant Republican leader, who changed his mind after succeeding in having adopted a motion calling for a round-up of absent senators by the sergeant-at-arms.

The league leading Washington baseball team played a double header with Boston today.

DRY ATTEMPT TO USE HOOVER AS CATSPAW BARED

Lobby Hearing Reveals Tariff Trade Offer.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 22.—[Special.] — Efforts of the Anti-Saloon league to entangle President Hoover into a prohibition-tariff trade to block a Volstead referendum in Rhode Island next November were revealed by the senate lobby committee today.

Memoranda found in the files of F. Scott McBride, general superintendent of the league, disclosed that on the eve of a state senate vote on the referendum resolution R. P. Hutton, chief of the Rhode Island dry league, appealed to McBride to obtain statements warning of tariff retaliation, if the state went wet, from both the President and C. H. Huston, chairman of the Republican national committee.

"Word should be gotten to the Republican national chairman and Hoover, if possible," read a memorandum of Hutton's long distance telephone plea to McBride on Feb. 27, 1930, "and say they expect New England to stand for the prohibition enforcement policy as New England expects other states to stand by the tariff policy. If they strike at the prohibition amendment, which the states of the south and west like, they may expect these states to strike back."

Confers with Senator.

McBride testified today that instead of approaching the President or Huston, as requested by Hutton, formerly superintendent of the league in Wisconsin, he conferred with Senator Felix Hebert [Rep., R. I.], and the latter, according to McBride's telegram to Hutton on Feb 28, "said he would try to reach leaders."

Neither Mr. Hoover nor Huston responded to the appeal, if any was made, apparently. The referendum measure was passed by the Rhode Island legislature and, in a subsequent letter to McBride, Hutton sadly predicted that as a result of the combination of circumstances, including "the fight between Senator Metcalf—or rather Jimmy Dooley, whose puppet Senator Metcalf is—and National Committeeman [absolute Republican state boss as well as financial industrial boss of Rhode Island] Frederick S. Peck," as well as "the terrific unemployment," the state is "dead sure to go Democratic and dead sure to go wet" in November.

Other letters from Hutton, admitting that the latter had resorted to various efforts to kill the Rhode Island referendum resolution, produced by Senator J. J. Blaine [Rep., Wis.], finally brought from the dry chief disavowals of Hutton's language and methods.

High Cost of Collections.

McBride had other uncomfortable moments during the two hours' cross-examination today.

An auditor's report covering the last five calendar years which was put in the committee's record showed that the league has been compelled to spend from 72 to 99.49 cents to collect one dollar for its work. During the five year period, according to the report, a total of $5,315,498 was collected, out of which $3,820,434 was spent for collection, leaving net proceeds of $1,495,064.

Similarly, collections during the five fiscal years ended June 30, 1929, aggregated $5,214,000, of which $3,764,000 was spent in collecting the money. In one fund the cost of collection, totaling 99.49 cents per one dollar collected, was figured by the auditors to be 76.82 cents for the cost of securing subscriptions, 6.17 cents as the cost of periodicals or literature supplied to subscribers, and 16.5 cents for other collection costs.

The report also disclosed that the league expects to collect within the next five years $7,957,087 out of a total of $18,705,922 in pledges of future contributions and assessments against state organizations. Normally, McBride testified, the league collects about 70 per cent of the money pledged to it. Uncollectible pledges of $5,534,370 were deducted from the $18,705,922 total by the auditor and $5,214,464 has already been collected, leaving the balance of $7,957,087 as prospective income.

Satisfied with Mrs. McCormick.

"Frankly, Mr. McBride," asked Senator Blaine, after the dry leader declared the league had indorsed both Secretary of Labor Davis and Senator Joseph R. Grundy in the Pennsylvania Republican senatorial primary, "haven't you a mental reservation in the back of your head respecting some of these candidates who run as drys?"

"No, sir," answered McBride.

"Didn't you have a slight reservation respecting one of the candidates for the senate in Illinois in this last primary election?" asked Blaine.

"No," answered McBride.

"Weren't you just a little doubtful about Ruth Hanna McCormick?" continued Blaine.

"No," insisted McBride.

"Not about what she openly declared, but you were not fully satisfied with her attitude?" asked Blaine.

"Absolutely," said McBride, explaining that the league endorsed Senator Deneen "on his record" and stated that "Mrs. McCormick takes a dry position."

Calls Illinois "Dry."

Illinois, he declared, with the exception of such wet centers as Chicago, Peoria and East St. Louis, is dry.

"The city of Chicago," he asserted, "is probably two to one wet, but I think a referendum in Illinois on that issue would probably go dry. And yet I do not know. Nobody can tell until they have one."

"I recall," said Blaine, "in the primary campaign in Illinois the so-called Thompson machine, allegedly a very wet machine, was very actively supporting one of the candidates for United States senator in Cook county."

"On another issue," declared McBride. "They took sides on another issue."

"That is," said Blaine, "the wet Thompson organization was perfectly satisfied to support a dry candidate for the United States?"

"I am rather familiar with that," answered McBride. "The Thompson organization has a great many drys in it, as well as a great many wets. Probably the wets predominate, but Mr. Thompson himself has been rather clever along that line. He is the man that closed the saloons on Sundays in Chicago for the first time."

"Both the front and back doors?" asked Blaine.

"Yes," answered McBride.

"And that qualifies him for endorsement by the league?"

"No, he was never endorsed by the league," answered McBride, adding that in elections "we never say to the wets, 'Don't you vote for our dry candidate.'"

Uncertain About F. L. Smith.

McBride declared he does not know whether the Illinois league will support Frank L. Smith, who, barred from the senate, is now a Republican candidate for election as congressman at large.

A few minutes later Caraway, personally as well as politically dry, angrily assailed McBride for asserting that of the two the Thompson-Crowe-Barrett machine in Chicago is far more respectable than the New York Tammany Democratic organization, which was alluded to as a "squad of thirsty millionaires."

"Do you think that is a fair statement of that campaign?" demanded Caraway.

"It may be a bit extreme," conceded McBride.

Caraway Defends Tammany.

"I have a better word for it than that," shouted Caraway. "Maybe you don't use it in your profession. Do you think the Tammany hall combination is worse than the Thompson-Crowe-Barrett combination in Chicago?"

"They are a good deal alike," asserted McBride.

"I challenge that," snapped Caraway. "I challenge you to name a single similarity between the two. It does not exist."

"I think the statement is true," insisted McBride, "it says 'supporting Hoover are loyal friends of prohibition'——"

"Yes," interrupted Caraway, "and the Thompson-Crowe group were all supporting him. That statement means that nobody except drunkards were supporting Smith. That statement is so absolutely and unqualifiedly false it ought not to have been indorsed by anybody."

Robinson Submits King Report.

Following the hearing Senator Arthur Robinson [Rep., Ind.], only regular Republican on the committee, submitted to the senate his individual views in the form of a separate report of evidence disclosing that Senator W. H. King [Dem., Utah] had received a campaign contribution from Herman Metz, American agent of the German dye monopoly.

Congress Orders Inquiry Into U. S. Activity of Reds

Washington, D. C., May 22.—[Special.]—A sweeping congressional investigation into communistic activities in the United States, probably involving committee hearings this summer in several of the larger cities, was authorized today by the house of representatives.

After a short, stormy debate the house passed the resolution sponsored by Representative Bertrand H. Snell [Rep., N. Y.] providing for appointment of a committee of inquiry and giving it broad powers to go into every phase of alleged revolutionary movements. The resolution passed by a voice vote of 210 to 18. Being a strictly house measure, it does not require approval by the senate or President Hoover.

Scope of Approaching Inquiry.

Matters to be sifted by the committee, composed of five representatives appointed by the speaker, were listed in the resolution as follows:

"Communist propaganda in the United States and particularly in our educational institutions; the activities and membership of the communist party in the United States and all affiliated organizations and groups thereof; the ramifications of the Communist Internationale in the United States; the Amtorg Trading corporation; the Daily Worker, and all entities, groups, or individuals who are alleged to advise, teach, or advocate the overthrow by force or violence of the government of the United States, or attempt to undermine our republican form of government by inciting riots, sabotage, or revolutionary disorders."

The committee is authorized to hold hearings where it chooses, spend as much money as it needs, employ experts and clerical aid, and to subpoena witnesses and documents.

First "Investigation" by House.

The resolution marked the first entry of the lower house into the field of special committee investigations, which heretofore has largely been monopolized by the senate.

The communism resolution had the full support of the administration leaders, having been reported by the powerful rules committee and sponsored by its chairman, Representative Snell.

"Such evidence came before us that I did not believe the rules committee should take the responsibility of refusing this investigation," Mr. Snell told the house. "I opposed it at first. Now I am enthusiastically for it. No harm can be done by a careful, thorough, dignified investigation."

The only member taking the floor against the resolution was Representative C. W. Ramseyer [Rep., Ia.], who first sought to delay it on the ground that the opposition was unprepared, and then attacked it as an effort to create a "false and fake issue in the coming campaigns."

"The present unrest is a result of industrial depression, not the preachings of radicals," he declared, adding that no good will come of investigating schools and newspapers.

SENATE ORDERS ITS DIAL PHONES OFF PREMISES

Move On in House to Follow Suit.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 22.—[Special.] — The United States senate doesn't want dial telephones.

Hot under the collar after several trials with a dial phone installed in his office, Senator Carter Glass [Dem., Va.] decided to do something about it. Forthwith he prepared a resolution ordering all dial phones taken out of the senate wing of the capitol and office building.

"Mr. President," said Mr. Glass, arising to day in behalf of his resolution, "I want these abominable dial telephones taken out. The system is a perfect nuisance."

"But," protested Senator Joseph Robinson [Dem., Ark.], "does the senator understand this is a great conservation measure? It results in the discharge of a number of employés."

Glass Grows Snappish.

The Virginian snapped back: "I object to being transformed into one of the employés of the telephone company without compensation."

Senator H. F. Ashurst [Dem., Ark.] congratulated Glass upon "the moderation of the language he employs," asserting that "the Congressional Record would not be mailable if it contained in print what senators think of the dial telephone."

Senator Kenneth McKellar [Dem., Tenn.] added his congratulations to Glass "on the splendid work he is doing." Thereupon, without objection, the resolution was passed, after which Senator C. D. Dill [Dem., Wash.] warned the telephone company that if it doesn't profit by the object lesson congress will enact a law banning dial phones from the entire District of Columbia. The dial phones were installed recently throughout the downtown area.

Revolt Spreads to House.

The senate telephone tempest had an echo later in the house when Representative Abernethy [Dem., N. C.] introduced a resolution to have the dial instrument removed from the house.

It was also recalled that President Hoover had refused to have dials put on the White House telephones.

VICHY

Among the natural riches of the earth, the thermal springs hold one of the first places, and the mineral waters of Vichy predominate by their ever increasing use (180,000 bathers the last season, 48 million bottles exported this year).

The great curative activity of its waters at the springs seems to be due to the precious elements taken from the depths of the earth, which act with swiftness like reviving ferments—of this there exists no other example in the modern science of pharmacopedia.

The action of Vichy waters is specially marked in the disorder of the digestive apparatus of the liver and that of malnutrition.

The warm and salty water develops the function of the stomach and the bowels.

It acts especially on the liver in cases of congestive pressure through over-alimentation, the paludism of jaundice, the infection of the liver or the gall bladder.

The liver is the great laboratory of the body organism and its improper functioning may bring forth an infinite number of ailments.

Why let the alimentary poisons penetrate into the general circulation? A number of sicknesses, may develop all of which are correctible by Vichy. In this category belong many cases of eczema, rash, itching, local boils, asthma, headache, albumin from faulty digestion, etc.

Is the liver performing its most important nutritive functions? If not, you may develop diabetes, acidosis, Bright's disease, gravel, obesity, leanness, chronic rheumatism, for all of which ailments the Vichy treatment has acquired universal renown.

There is no uniform Vichy cure, as the therapeutic possibilities vary according to circumstances from childhood to advanced age.

The earlier one takes recourse to the thermal treatment, the more perfect will be the result obtained.

Around these incomparable springs are grouped the most complete research laboratories, equipped for ultra modern treatments, viz.: a staff of competent dietitians, electrical hydro-therapeutics, X-Ray, physical culture, and diversified sports.

At the same time the most enjoyable pastimes are available, capable of making agreeable the most severely conducted cures.

Vichy with its chain of hotels unsurpassed for their comfort and moderate prices, presenting at the same time the charms of the village and the luxuries of the city, where important works of amelioration are continually performed, justifies its world-wide reputation.

BERWYN REPORTS POPULATION GAIN OF 240 PER CENT

Three West Side Wards Show Losses.

The populations of six more Chicago wards were reported yesterday by the census enumerators, increasing to thirty-four the number of wards that have been recorded. The thirty-four wards show a total population of 1,010,177, an increase of 290,810 over the estimated population for the same wards in 1921, after the city had been redivided into fifty wards.

Among the suburban populations tabulated during the day, Berwyn showed an increase of 240 per cent in residents since 1920 and Lake Forest a increase of 67 per cent. On the basis of census returns thus far received in Cook county and five neighboring counties, it was estimated that the Chicago metropolitan area had gained 60 per cent in population in the last ten years.

Four Wards Show Losses.

Four of the wards reported yesterday, the 21st, 22d, 24th, and 17th, showed losses, while the other two, the 23d and the 10th, registered substantial gains. The net gain for all six wards was 1,007.

The populations of the six wards in 1930 and 1921, showing gains or losses, are as follows:

Ward.	1930.	1921.	Gain.	Loss.
21	39,984	44,377	15,607	.....
22	51,351	52,245	.....	894
23	49,585	60,755	.....	11,170
24	46,255	59,080	.....	12,825
17	62,636	52,234	10,402	.....
10	52,430	52,543	.....	113

The 21st, 22d, 23d and 24th wards are on the west side, comprising the area bounded roughly on the east by Ashland and California avenues, on the south by the Illinois and Michigan canal and Pershing road, on the west by Kenton avenue, and on the north by Roosevelt road and 16th street.

Industry Crowds Out Residents.

These west side wards are semi-industrial and their populations, except in the case of the 23d, are slowly being crowded out by rising manufactories, according to Joseph E. Vesely, chairman of the census advisory committee.

The 10th ward comprises the South Chicago district. The 17th ward is in the Englewood district.

Of the thirty-four wards so far reported, twenty have shown gains and thirteen losses in population. The increases are in the outlying wards, while those nearer the loop are losing in population.

Lake Forest Shows 67 Per Cent Gain.

The 67 per cent increase in Lake Forest's population was announced by Mrs. M. K. Northam, supervisor for the 1d district. The north shore suburb is credited with 6,137 inhabitants, against 3,657 in 1920.

Figures on North Chicago, also released by Mrs. Northam, show a population of 8,495, a gain of 45 per cent over 1920, when there were 5,839 residents. Winnetka has a population of 12,004, an increase of 80 per cent, or 5,196 over 1920, when the population was 6,694.

Berwyn's gain of 240 per cent was reported by Mr. Vesely. The western suburb's present population was given as 47,566, as compared with 14,150 in 1920. Berwyn is one of the fastest growing suburbs in the middle west, according to Mr. Vesely.

Berkley, in Proviso township, reported a population of 780. There was no population in 1920.

Figures on Metropolitan Area.

The figures indicating a 60 per cent increase in the metropolitan area came from the counties of Cook, Du Page, Kane, Will, Lake and Lake in Indiana. Du Page county led the others in towns and townships reported, with a gain of 137.97 per cent. A total of 72,859 persons have been counted where only 32,861 lived in 1920.

Cook county has more than doubled its country town population, according to indications in the incomplete returns. The towns so far tabulated show a population of 164,431, as against 78,332 in 1920.

The population so far reported in the other counties, showing the gains, are as follows:

Lake [Ill.], 86,271, a gain of 31,468, or 57.51 per cent.

Lake [Ind.], 21,033, a gain of 9,505, or 61.61 per cent.

Kane, 118,468, a gain of 27,534, or 31.31 per cent.

Will, 58,979, a gain of 12,567, or 15.49 per cent.

Chairman Vesely urges that all persons in Chicago who have not been enumerated send their addresses to the census supervisor, Association of Commerce, 1 North La Salle street.

ASKS DIVORCE

MRS. MILDRED M. BLAIR.

WIFE SUES FOR DIVORCE FROM CHAUNCEY BLAIR

Asks Decree on Cruelty Charge.

Chauncey B. Blair, insurance broker and son of the late Chauncey J. Blair, banker, was sued for divorce in a bill filed yesterday in the Superior court by Mrs. Mildred Marshall Blair, 1500 Lake Shore drive. The bill, drawn by Attorney Charles Cutting of the firm of Cutting, Moore & Sidley, charges cruelty.

According to current reports, friends of the couple had expected a divorce would follow their separation last January. At that time Mr. Blair announced he was changing his residence to the University club. It was a trial separation, he explained.

Interested in Science Cult.

Mrs. Blair's enthusiasm for a new science cult, of which she was a founder, was also said to have been a contributing cause to their separation.

The marriage of Miss Mildred Marshall, daughter of Mrs. George Marshall of 574 Hawthorne place, to Mr. Blair on Jan. 4, 1913, was one of the notable social events of the year. Mr. Blair's father was for many years president of the old Merchants National bank, which was later consolidated with the Corn Exchange National bank.

Mr. Blair, a Yale university graduate, is a nephew of Henry A. Blair, president of the Chicago Surface lines.

Bill Charges Choking.

The bill recites that Mr. Blair threw a book at his wife on Dec. 24, 1929, injuring her shoulder, and on the following day choked her. According to Attorney Cutting, Mr. Blair has lived at the family residence at 1500 Lake Shore drive only intermittently since last September.

The Blairs were the parents of three children, two of whom died in infancy. Mrs. Blair asks for the custody of the other child, Chauncey B. Blair Jr., 16 years old.

A property settlement has already been arranged, Mr. Cutting said, but he declined to say what the agreement was. It was reported that Mr. Blair will not contest his wife's suit.

MINE TO REOPEN; WORK FOR 500.

Benton, Ill., May 22.—(AP)—Resumption of operations about June 1, giving employment to 500 men, was announced by the Franklin County Mining company here yesterday. The mine has been idle for six weeks while the sales force was reorganized. The Great Lakes Coal and Coke company of Chicago has been appointed sales agents.

1,000 U. S. CITIES EXPECTED TO BE IN 10,000 CLASS

At Least 84 Will Exceed 100,000 This Year.

Washington, D. C., May 22.—(AP)—The last ten years have been an era of notable advance for the great American sport of city dwelling.

In 1920, there were only 737 cities among which to choose if one preferred to live in a place of more than 10,000. But already 780 such places have been reported in the 1930 census, and the early estimate of about 800 such places appears about to be swept aside for a larger figure—perhaps a thousand.

Fifty-seven cities of more than 100,000 already have been reported, and 27 additional that were on the list ten years ago are still to be heard from. This will make at least 84 cities of the 100,000 class in which to go sight seeing this year, as against a mere 68 in 1920.

Tacoma, Wash., seventy-first city in 1920, today came into the 1930 census list with a 9.7 per cent increase, passing two Massachusetts cities, Lynn, sixty-ninth, and Lowell, sixty-first, in the last census.

Their respective populations now are: Tacoma, 106,372; Lynn, 102,293; Lowell, 100,050.

Cleveland Passes 900,000.

Cleveland, May 22.—(AP)—The long cherished ambition of this city to boast a population of more than 900,000 was realized today when a pecheck of 16 wards added 1,768 names to the previously reported total. The addition gives Cleveland a population of 901,482, a gain of 13.1 per cent over the 1920 population of 796,841.

Illinois Counties Lose.

Harrisburg, Ill., May 22.—[Special.]—The twenty-eighth census district, comprising the largest area in Illinois and the first to report complete returns, has 144,994 inhabitants, a loss of 17,158 since 1920, Supervisor Roy L. Seright announced today. The ten counties in the district are reported as follows:

County.	Population.	Loss.
Edwards	8,383	128
Gallatin	10,088	2,768

G. O. P. FACTIONS MEET IN PEACE; PLAN PLATFORM

Name Committee to Draft County's Stand.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

A harmony fest of Cook county Republicans decided last night to prepare a definite Cook county platform, probably dealing with prohibition, the wet and dry referendum, taxation and revenue amendment, and other issues, for presentation to the Republican state convention June 19 at Springfield.

The action was taken at a dinner at the Hotel Sherman attended by Cook county Republican nominees and committeemen, at which all factions whiffed the peace pipes and buried the tomahawks. No issues were discussed beyond the general theorem of unified action, and to formulate the attitude of the Cook county party organization definitely on outstanding issues for the fall election a committee was appointed.

Platform Committee Named.

Members of this committee are:

SOUTH SIDE—County Chairman B. W. Snow, Oscar De Priest, James W. Breen.

NORTH SIDE—Thomas O. Wallace, John A. Massen, Christian P. Paschen.

WEST SIDE — Robert E. Crowe, Eden T. Brekke, Charles V. Barrett.

The commitee is to elect its own chairman, and is to draft a Cook county utterance within the next two weeks for consideration by the state convention.

The real object of the dinner as outlined by Chairman Snow was to get the candidates and the committeemen acquainted before the fishing season opens and vacations start in the Wisconsin lake regions. So many new candidates came out this year and the primaries put so many new faces on the tickets that the dinner was intended to serve as introductions en masse. All factions were represented among the speakers, all of whom breathed a hope that factionalism will be forgotten in the coming fight with the Democrats.

Proud of Candidates.

"There is no single candidate on the Republican ticket," said Mr. Snow, "from highest to lowest, for whom we have to apologize. Now the primaries are over, it's the duty of Republicans to join in the election of all Republicans who were nominated by the Republican voters in the primary. If I have any one ambition it is to reestablish in Cook county party responsibility for administration of public affairs."

Speaker David E. Shanahan argued that one element of strength in the Republican ticket is the fact that all factional groups are represented in the nominees.

"The time to fight is in the primaries, and the time for factional peace and harmony is after the ticket has been nominated," he said. "The more factions represented among the nominees, the better for the party on election day."

De Priest Sure of Success.

Congressman Oscar De Priest, who came from Washington to attend the dinner, spoke of unemployment and its possible effect at the polls. "But if the Republicans are united, and each works for all and all for each, there is no doubt as to Republican success," he said.

"Don't go around with a sour face," said Thomas O. Wallace, Brundage leader and Circuit court clerk. "Don't say it looks tough. We Republicans have as good a chance to win this time as ever if we all pull together."

"We have a normal Republican state and a large Republican county," said Charles V. Barrett, "and we have a party capable of big things. If we are all welded together, I believe we would win under the most adverse circumstances."

Massen Sees Bright Future.

Ald. John A. Massen, a Deneen man, said a better day is dawning for Chicago.

"In 1928," he said, "there were 16,118 trial felonies reported in the Municipal court, and in 1929 there were 11,171. It is a decrease of over 30 per cent, under a Republican state's attorney. In the next 25 years we'll have to spend perhaps a billion dollars for public improvements in the metropolitan area. This means tax revision and reduction of unit cost of government. If we devote ourselves to these two problems we will have the gratitude of Chicago."

Other speakers were Harry Olson, chief justice of the Municipal court; Mrs. Rena Elrod, William Busse, and Mr. Crowe. "I agree," said Mr. Crowe, "that after the primaries no discrimination should lie between factions. In fact, in the primaries, my friends supported some Deneen men, some Brundage men, and some organization men."

CARLISLE ASSESSED $6,971 PENALTY FOR CUSTOMS NEGLIGENCE

New York, May 22.—[Special.]—A fine and penalties amounting to $6,971 were paid to the customs house today by Col. C. A. Carlisle, financier of South Bend, Ind., for undeclared wearing apparel and jewelry which he brought into this country believing the articles to be exempt through use by members of his family during a year's residence abroad.

He and eight members of his family arrived yesterday with fifty-three pieces of baggage on the French liner Paris. Col. Carlisle, once a candidate for the governorship of Indiana, took the situation philosophically.

"If you're in a jam with the customs," he said, "the best thing to do is to get out as quick as you can by paying whatever is due."

Col. Carlisle is a former director of the Studebaker company and a son-in-law of the late Clement Studebaker, founder of the automobile company which bears his name.

PAMPINELLA TO GET FAIR TRIAL, SWANSON SAYS

Slain Man's Father Calls on Stege.

State's Attorney Swanson last night assured Chief of Detectives Stege that a fair trial would be given to John Pampinella, who is charged with killing William H. Slaughter, colored preacher, in the primary campaign in the 42d ward. Pampinella will go on trial this morning in the Criminal court of Judge Harry B. Miller. Earlier Mr. Swanson had replied to charges that two of his assistants in charge of the prosecution of the case were aiding the defense.

Stege called on the prosecutor after Silas Slaughter, aged father of the slain man, had visted the detective bureau. The father said he feared the prosecution of Pampinella was not sincere.

Father Talks to Stege.

"Yesterday Richard Prendergast (Deneen leader of the 42d ward) called at the home of a little girl who is a witness against Pampinella," Slaughter said at the bureau. "Prendergast wanted to take the little girl to the state's attorney's office and her father objected till Prendergast called in a man who showed a star and then he allowed the girl to go with them.

"At the state's attorney's office Prendergast was present while she was questioned."

"I would like your help, Mr. Stege, in seeing that a fair trial is had."

The statement issued by State's Attorney Swanson criticized Stege's attitude of the day before, when two colored women who testified to seeing Pampinella kill Slaughter, were said to have stated at the detective bureau that Assistant State's Attorneys Charles E. Lounsbury and Euclid Taylor "tried to get us to say we identified Pampinella because Chief Stege paid us to identify him."

Deny Reported Statement.

Mr. Lounsbury and Mr. Taylor denied having said anything of the kind to the two women and State's Attorney Swanson said he had taken statements from the women, in which they denied making the statement at the detective bureau.

Frank J. Loesch, president of the Chicago crime commission and a member of President Hoover's crime commission, said his office would watch the trial of Pampinella, who was a precinct captain for Prendergast. Mr. Loesch said he had talked with Prendergast a week ago, but not about the Pampinella case.

N. Y. MILLIONAIRE BUILDER IS SHOT; HUNT RACKETEER

New York, May 22.—[Special.—Albert J. Schwarzler, millionaire building contractor, widely known in business and political circles in the Bronx, is in the Union hospital with a bullet wound in his groin as the result of a mysterious attack made early today by two men a few seconds after Schwarzler had left his home and entered his automobile. His condition is not serious.

A reward of $5,000 for the arrest and conviction of the "pack of cowardly wolves" was immediately offered by August F. Schwarzler, a brother, who charged that the attempted assassination of his brother was plotted by the "racketeering crowd who dominate the labor situation in the Bronx and who have been in the habit of dictating who should work on buildings and who should not."

DOCTOR VISIONS CHICAGO AS 1940 HEALTH LEADER

City's Gains Told Before Medical Society.

Chicago by 1940 will be America's champion city in health and longevity said Dr. Gottfried Koehler, assistant health commissioner, speaking yesterday before 1,000 members of the Illinois State Medical society at its annual meeting in Joliet.

Citing records showing that the average age of death in Chicago in 1885 was 20 years and about five months, Dr. Koehler asked his hearers to compare that with the average life span for 1924—44 years and five months, a gain of 120 per cent in forty years.

"If the same ratio were continued for the next 40 years," he said, "the average age at death of Chicagoans in 1940 will be 97 years, nine months and 13 days."

Prediction on Census.

Dr. Koehler predicted that the 1930 census will disclose that between 17 and 20 per cent of Chicago's population is now 50 years old. By 1940, he believes, those who have reached 50 years will have increased to 25 per cent. He contrasted the figure with that of 1900, when only 10 per cent of the population reached 50 years of age.

"The radical changes in Chicago's health picture which these figures reveal is still more strikingly shown in the death-causes statistics," Dr. Koehler said. "Forty years ago the most frequent causes of death were pneumonia, bronchitis, tuberculosis, and diarrheal diseases, totaling 37 per cent of all death causes. Today the most frequent causes of death are heart disease, nephritis, and cancer, all of them diseases of later adult life, and totaling 41 per cent of all death causes."

Summing up, he said it was a matter for the population over 40 taking the lead learning how to live to be 50, 60, 70, "or as old as they care to be."

Asks Change in Law.

Dr. Charles E. Humiston declared that more than 2,000 persons each year die in Chicago for whom the cause is officially given as "unknown" in the death certificate. He asked remedial legislation to correct a defect in the law that makes such certificates possible.

"It affords a potential cloak for foul play," he said, "and can be of advantage to but one class—the enemies of society. With the connivance of a physician or a minor official either in the coroner's office of city health department, a murder might thus be effectually concealed from the authorities."

Dr. William D. Chapman of Silvis, Ill., was installed as president of the state society for 1930-'31. Dr. R. R. Ferguson of Chicago was named president to assume office at the next annual meeting. Mrs. R. K. Packard, wife of Dr. R. K. Packard, president of the Woodlawn hospital, Chicago, was installed as president of the society's woman's auxiliary.

The 1931 meeting will be held at East St. Louis.

Makes His First Solo Hop at 73; Plans Long Trips

Los Angeles, Cal., May 22.—(AP)—Despite his more than three score and ten years, Walter Upward, 73, today completed eighteen hours of flying instruction and made his first solo flight. Upward, a retired importer, maneuvered his biplane above the North Hollywood airport for twenty minutes, making an excellent landing. He said he planned to make several long aerial trips alone.

TROUBLES END

MRS. KATHLEEN PATTERSON

Troubles which had been heaped upon Mrs. Kathleen Patterson, 28 years old, of Kentucky, dissolved yesterday. She found herself reunited with her husband and child and with prospects of starting life anew in her native state. Various criminal charges against her were dismissed.

Mrs. Patterson had been accused by her mother-in-law, Mrs. Irene Patterson, of taking $20,000 in bonds, and of contributing to the delinquency of her 5 year old daughter, Louise. But Mrs. Patterson's attorneys, Harold Levy and Emmett Byrne, and Assistant State's Attorney George Lavin, told Judge Otto Kerner that the elder Mrs. Patterson had experienced a change of heart and was willing that her son, Merton, and his wife try life together again.

Mrs. M. Knowles, the child's maternal grandmother, who had come from Portland, Ore., to ask for custody of the child, was satisfied when the girl's expressed desire to live with her mother was approved by Judge John Sbarbaro. During the time Mrs. Patterson was in the county jail she obtained a court order for a raid on a house at 3219 Indiana avenue while the child was being kept there.

CHICAGO YOUTH HELD IN WHEATON ON GUN CHARGE

Du Page county authorities last night were investigating the recent activities of Joseph Miller, 18 years old, of Chicago, who during the day was placed under $500 bonds on a gun carrying charge by Police Magistrate Frank Herrick of Wheaton.

William F. Heibel, a gasoline station owner at Roosevelt road and Pleasant street, Wheaton, had heard a suspicious noise early yesterday, and peeping out of his window he saw two forms crouched beneath the window. Wheaton police investigated and arrested Miller and a companion, who gave the name of Al Johnson, 19 years old, 1226 Milrose street. Johnson was released but Miller, who may also be known as Joseph Klesewitz, the authorities believe, was found to be carrying a revolver.

4 in Car Plunging Through House; Nobody Is Hurt

Baltimore, Md., May 22.—(AP)—An automobile plunged through the front of a brick house here today, and stopped with its radiator in the kitchen door. The four occupants of the car escaped without a scratch and a child and her older sister in the building were uninjured. The driver was arrested by a policeman for "operating while drunk."

DR. KEGEL LOSES REFRIGERATION INSPECTION PLEA

Boiler Department Wins in Committee Vote.

Health Commissioner Kegel yesterday lost his battle in the council health committee for the passage of an ordinance which would give his department the authority to inspect installations of artificial refrigerators. The committee by a vote of 8 to 5 recommended the boiler inspection department's ordinance to the council for passage. The dissenting aldermen announced that they will take the Kegel ordinance to the council in a minority report.

Besides giving a decision in the fight between Dr. Kegel and George E. Nye, chief boiler inspector, the committee's action affects the jurisdictional dispute between the Plumbers' and Steamfitters' unions. The plumbers have supported the Kegel ordinance which would have given the inspection work to the plumbers employed in the health department while the boiler inspection ordinance gives the work to steamfitters.

Fight Goes to Council.

Both sides indicated that the fight, which has been waged for nearly a year, is not ended but will be taken to the council.

"The committee's recommendation is a disgrace," said Dr. Kegel. "The aldermen who voted for the boiler inspection ordinance took labor and the industry into consideration, but not the health factor.

The vote on the boiler inspection ordinance was as follows:

FOR.
Meyering [8th],	Taylor [37th],
Zintak [12th],	Ringa [39th],
Morris [18th],	Ross [40th],
Rocznialski [33d],	Mellin [50th].
AGAINST.
Eaton [5th],	Albert [43d],
Nance [7th],	Massen [48th].
Pacelli [20th].

In explaining his vote Ald. Clement A. Nance [7th] blamed the two department heads and by inference Mayor Thompson for leaving it to the committee to make a decision in the dispute between two city administration departments and between two labor unions.

Albert Sees Harmony Need.

"It is pathetic when department heads do as they wish," agreed Ald. Arthur F. Albert [43d], "and a serious situation when the department heads cannot get together on a matter of this importance."

The boiler inspection ordinance, as does the Kegel ordinance, states: "All poisonous or toxic refrigerants used in any direct system of refrigeration shall have a distinct and easily recognizable odor or characteristic irritating properties," and provides that suitable materials shall be used in the refrigerators to prevent the escape of the poisonous refrigerants. One of Kegel's objections to the ordinance, according to his statement, is that it does not limit the pressure in the refrigerator pipes to the amounts he sets as safe.

Regulating the installation of the artificial refrigerators was agitated in July, 1929, after the health department established that ten deaths had been caused by the leakage of poison-out refrigerants which could not be detected because the gas had no odor or irritating characteristics.

GERMANS SALUTE U. S. MOTHERS AT GRAVES OF SONS

Gold Star Group Sees Foe of 12 Years Ago.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SAINT MIHIEL CEMETERY, THIAUCOURT, May 22.—When a small group of gold star mothers arrived here this morning to visit the graves of their sons who fell in the Saint Mihiel sector there was an unexpected delegation waiting to greet them.

As the bus carrying the mothers swung into the entrance to the cemetery they saw, standing at the gates, a little group of nine men with close cropped hair and of military bearing. At their center was a tall, stout man with mustache who seemed to have an air of authority. Next to him was a lanky giant in a faded trench coat, with a hawklike nose, his bronze cheeks criss-crossed with scars.

Salute, Then Vanish.

The stout man in the middle doffed his hat to the mothers and bowed. The giant in the trench coat brought his heels together with an audible click and saluted. Then the whole group, as if embarrassed, stepped into waiting automobiles and disappeared.

It was the materialization of one of those bits of unpremeditated drama which the French call a "coup do theatre." No one, however, would have imagined anything "so theatrical," for the group which greeted the war mothers was a committee of German officers inspecting German cemeteries in France.

The stout man with the mustaches was Gen. Otto Gessler, for eight years German war minister, and the man in the trench coat, with the scarred face, was his aid, Col. Kell, who once fought against the American troops at Saint Mihiel.

When the mothers learned that they had just received a salute from officers who had fought against their boys, they were surprised and poignantly stirred.

"You mean that that nice old man was a German war minister?" several chorused in astonishment. Then one wrinkled little woman settled the question with one dry sentence.

"Well, I guess the German mothers had sons killed in the war, too," she said.

Meeting an Accident.

The visit of the German military graves commission was accidental. They had been inspecting their own cemetery a couple of miles down the road and wished to see how the American cemetery looked. Accompanied by Commandant Rey, head of the graves service department of Meuse, they drove up to the cemetery and walked in unannounced. They were wandering over the graveyard studying the arrangement of crosses and the unfinished chapel.

"How beautiful it is here!" Gen. Gessler exclaimed, in a husky voice. "All of these white marble crosses, these neat gravel walks, and this lovely grass. I wish that we had something like this." The general was thinking of the dingy German cemetery down the road where 11,000 weather stained crosses of black wood stand in bleak rows unrelieved by green lawns and shrubs.

INTERESTING LETTERS

If you have received a letter from an interesting or little known place send the envelope to The Tribune, stating name of place where it was mailed and some information about the writer of the letter.

FROM HEREDIA, COSTA RICA

Letter received by Donald Waggoner, DeWitt, Ia.

"Here is a letter I received from Mr. Amando Céspedes Marin of Heredia, in the republic of Costa Rica," Mr. Waggoner writes. "Mr. Marin owns and operates the most consistent little radio broadcasting station in the world. The station's call letters are NRH. It uses only seven and one-half watts of power on a wave length of 30.3 meters, from 9 to 10 p. m., central standard time.

"The city of Heredia is located 105 miles from the Atlantic ocean, 50 miles from the Pacific, 310 miles from the Panama Canal, and 150 miles south of Nicaragua. Heredia is located in the province bearing its own name, about 3,800 miles above sea level. The surroundings are always ever green."

The city of Heredia is the capital of its namesake, the province of Heredia. It lies at the base of the hills of Barba and it is about 12 miles by rail from San José. The city is a well built and attractive one, has good lighting, well paved streets, and a good water supply. The population numbers about 7,000.

The province of Heredia is largely mountainous, the principal peak, Desengano, rising to a height of 6,308 feet near the center. It has numerous fertile valleys adapted to the raising of coffee, which is the chief industry of the province, and good grazing lands.

Gen. Summerall Inspects Illinois R. O. T. C. Brigade

Champaign, Ill., May 22. — [Special.]—The University of Illinois reinforced brigade was reviewed by Gen. Charles P. Summerall, chief of staff of the United States army, and his staff this afternoon. Nearly 3,500 strong the reinforced brigade marched in formal review before Gen. Summerall and a corps of inspecting officers from the Sixth corps area headquarters, Chicago. The review was the feature event of the annual military day exercises. University classes were dismissed for the day.

Gen. Summerall presented the commissions and awards. Fifty-five students received commissions as second lieutenants, officers reserve corps. A number of awards were made to cadets, including the presenting of the university gold medal, which was won by S. Fred Cummings Jr., Mason, Ill., and the Hazleton gold medal, which was won by John H. Kott, Chicago. The awarding of the two medals was made by Dr. Kinley.

Mrs. Katherine Siems, department president of the Illinois Woman's Relief corps, presented the Woman's Relief corps panel, honoring eighteen cadets for outstanding military work during the present academic year.

A salute of seventeen guns was given in honor of Gen. Summerall's arrival on the campus this noon. A luncheon was held at Newman hall under auspices of Champaign County chapter, Reserve Officers' association, and the guest of honor introduced by Dr. Kinley. A welcome of new reserve officers was given by Gen. Summerall and the response made by Student Colonel Fred Humbert, Geneseo, Ill., and Maj. Gen. Frank Parker, commanding general Sixth corps area, which was followed by an address by Col. George S. Eaman, F. A. Res. president Illinois department, Reserve Officers' association.

"Your entire group of units has been graded as excellent," declared Gen. Summerall at the luncheon. "I am told that the inspecting officers have looked over the six units carefully and have found them to be in excellent condition."

Gen. Summerall and his staff left for Chicago on an evening train.

REPORT 100 DEAD IN FIRE ABOARD PILGRIM SHIP

PORT SUDAN, Anglo-Egyptian Sudan, May 22.— (AP) —The French steamer Asia, with 1,500 pilgrims aboard, bound for Red sea ports, was on fire in Jeddah harbor today and it was feared 100 lives had been lost.

The fire proved uncontrollable and the ship was abandoned. This afternoon it was impossible to approach the vessel. The pilgrims were en route to Mecca, Moslem holy city.

Captain and Crew Escape.

MARSEILLES, France, May 22.—(AP)—The Faber line, owners of the steamship Asia, which was afire in the Red sea today, has received a message indicating fear that there were some dead and injured among the 1,500 pilgrims aboard. The messages indicated that the captain and 86 members of the crew had escaped safely. Only fragmentary information concerning the disaster had been received up to this afternoon.

GRACE ABBOTT IS URGED FOR DAVIS' POST IN CABINET

Heads Children's Bureau in Labor Department.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 22.—[Special.]—An active campaign has been launched for the appointment of Miss Grace Abbott of Chicago as secretary of labor to succeed James J. Davis, who will resign during the summer as a result of his nomination for United States senator in Pennsylvania.

Miss Abbott has served as chief of the children's bureau of the department of labor since 1921. She holds a labor union card as a member of the federal employés' union, which is affiliated with the American Federation of Labor.

As a precedent for the naming of Miss Abbott as the first woman member of a President's cabinet, her sponsors point to the fact that the first woman member of the British cabinet, Miss Margaret Bondfield, holds the labor portfolio.

U. of C. Law Graduate.

Born in Grand Island, Neb., where her parents still live, Miss Abbott was graduated from Grand Island college and did graduate work in the University of Nebraska and University of Chicago, receiving her master's degree in political science at the latter institution. She also studied law there and later taught in the University of Chicago and the Chicago School of Civics and Philanthropy.

Her first national service for children was as director of the child labor division of the United States children's bureau, to which post she was appointed in 1917. After the first federal child labor law was held unconstitutional by the United States Supreme court Miss Abbott held other public positions, including that of adviser on the war labor policies board, secretary of the child welfare conference, and secretary of the children's commission of the first international labor conference.

Others Suggested for Post.

Others mentioned for Secretary Davis' post include John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America; William Doak of Virginia, of the railway trainmen's brotherhood, who was chairman of the labor committee in the Hoover campaign and prominently mentioned at one time for labor secretary; William Hutchinson of Indianapolis, president of the carpenters' union; Matthew Woll of New York, vice president of the American federation of Labor, and John Frey of Washington, metal workers' union.

PROPOSED FOR CABINET

MISS GRACE ABBOTT.

WOMAN, FIVE MEN ARE SAVED AFTER YACHT CAPSIZES

Six young people, one a woman, were safe at their homes last night after their rescue from the chill waters of Lake Michigan. Their sailboat was struck by a gale and overturned a mile off 68th street on Wednesday night. One of the party, Joseph Girsch, 7147 Luella avenue, a University of Chicago graduate, and a Red Cross junior life saver, brought about the rescue by swimming ashore and giving the alarm.

A lifeboat, manned by coast guardsmen and commanded by Boatswain's Mate Olson, set out from the Jackson park life saving station and rescued the five remaining members of the party, who were clingly, nearly exhausted, to the overturned hull of the yacht.

Those rescued were: Mrs. Evelyn Schneider, 20 years old, her husband, George, 22 years old, of 7336 Bennett avenue; Clifford Wright, 7400 Bennett avenue; and Buell and Forest Randolph, brothers, of 4755 Lake Park avenue. They were given first aid at the life saving station before they went to their homes. The sailboat belonged to Phelps Holland of the Jackson Park Yacht club.

INJURED IN FALL, DIES.

Miss Lissa Shaw, 67 years old, resident of Comstock, Mich., and sister of Elton R. Shaw, prohibition lecturer of 312 Euclid avenue, Berwyn, died yesterday in the Berwyn hospital of injuries suffered several days ago in a fall.

MRS. BRENNAN JOINS FIGHT FOR DRY LAW REPEAL

Will Help Enlist Women Against Prohibition.

Mrs. George E. Brennan, widow of the Democratic chief who in his lifetime was a wet leader, has voluntarily joined the Illinois division of the Women's Organization for National Prohibition Reform, the group announced yesterday. She was immediately placed on the policy forming executive committee.

"Mrs. Brennan's support is vastly encouraging to us," said Mrs. William H. Mitchell and Mrs. Leslie Wheeler, co-chairwomen of the Illinois division, in making the announcement at the newly opened headquarters, 700 North Michigan avenue. "She has become immediately active in sending us new members and has promised to assist us in our work of organizing the women of the state against prohibition."

Contributions Are Voluntary.

The organization was fostered nationally by Mrs. Charles H. Sabin of New York. There are no dues, the work being financed by voluntary contributions.

"I have always been opposed to the prohibition law," Mrs. Brennan said last night. "I agreed with President Wilson and Senator Lodge when they predicted the evils that might result from it and I quoted them when I spoke during my husband's senatorial campaign four years ago.

"Mr. Brennan ran as a modificationist. Four years ago no one dared talk of repeal; it is interesting to note the change in attitude. I'm heart and soul with these women who are working for repeal and I want to help them in any way I can. I'll go downstate and organize Democratic women, Republican women, and women of no party at all if they wish. I'm all for the cause.

"It's Time for a Change."

"Mr. Brennan always talked temperance, and so did I when I helped him, but there is no temperance whatever these days. Prohibition speaks for itself. We hear of the dreadful things it has caused every day.

"The women who opposed the saloon before prohibition and helped place the law upon the books were doubtless sincere in their beliefs, but they were misguided in choosing means to rectify the situation. We have had prohibition for ten years—it is now time to try something else. Our American love of liberty and freedom is surely not expressed by prohibition."

WOMAN TO MAKE 200 BUSTS FOR FIELD MUSEUM

Commissioned by the Field Museum of Natural History to make 200 sculptured figures, busts, and face masks illustrating the principal living races of man, Miss Malvina Hoffman, New York sculptress, will sail for Europe today from New York. She also plans to seek types for modeling in Asia, Oceania, and North, Central, and South America.

The various series of figures are to be displayed in the Chauncey Keep Memorial hall of the museum, which will be devoted to the science of physical anthropology. The entire display will be finished so as to serve as an exhibit of the Century of Progress exposition in 1933, museum authorities said.

Other types of exhibits in the hall will be human and anthropoid skeletons, facial and bodily deformations practiced by primitive tribes, physiological abnormalities, and exhibits designed to illustrate the problems of social anthropology. One exhibit will be devoted to the racial problems of the United States.

SO. AFRICA VOTES RIGHT TO SECEDE FROM BRITAIN

CAPE TOWN, Union of South Africa, May 22.—(AP)—The South African assembly today passed a motion affirming South Africa's right to secede from the British empire, if it so desired. The vote was taken after a speech by Premier Hertzog, who replied to a speech made by Gen. Smuts Tuesday, when the latter declared it would be impossible for South Africa to secede from the British commonwealth without full consent of all other dominions and the British parliament.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., May 22.—[Special.]—The probability of prohibition dissension in the ranks of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, which heretofore has always toed the mark respectfully when support of the eighteenth amendment was requested, was admitted here tonight by an officer of the federation who entertains the dry viewpoint.

Mrs. Grace Morrison Poole of Brockton, Mass., first vice president of the body that includes in its memberships 14,500 women's organizations throughout the country, frankly spoke her mind at the dinner at the Abraham Lincoln hotel that was the largest and last of the social functions of the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs' annual convention. The final session will be held tomorrow morning in the Centennial building.

Opposition Is Growing.

At the approaching biennial of the general federation in Denver, said Mrs. Poole, a resolution will be presented asking opposition to measures for repeal of prohibition legislation. While making plain her own stand with the drys, she could not fail to recognize, she said, the growing wave of opposition to prohibition, and she thought it highly likely that some of the delegates at Denver will make the most of the opportunity to voice their equally emphatic stand in favor of repeal.

"The fact that a vote by voice will be taken unless a ballot is requested," she said in an interview later, "will affect the position of a number of women whom I feel sure would not dare to express an open opposition. If a ballot is taken the vote will be heavier against prohibition. However, I am certain that regardless of any division of sentiment, the resolution, asking support for prohibition, will be passed by a majority."

Smallpox Protection Sought.

A resolution introduced this morning took cognizance of the alarming increase of smallpox in Illinois, 4,300 cases being reported in 1929, more than any other state in the union. The federation voted to request greater protection against the disease from the state health department.

Another resolution provided for active opposition to billboards along the state highway. Advertisers are to be advised of the depreciation of beauty the federation feels results from their use.

Legislation sponsored by the clubs of the state, as reported by Miss M. L. Carpenter, chairman of legislation and civil service, in her annual report, includes:

1. Needed revenue legislation.
2. Sterilization of the unfit.
3. Motor drivers' examination for license.
4. Preparation of the referendum for women on juries.
5. Improved smallpox vaccination measures.

Attorney General Oscar Carlstrom "got himself a great big hand" when he addressed the convention this morning, assuring the delegates that he was going out to support actively the women on juries legislation when it comes up in November.

Mr. Carlstrom won more applause when he denounced the manipulation of justice by unscrupulous attorneys in criminal cases. When, he asserted, "a criminal trial becomes a jousting bout between the keen minded lawyers for the defense and the prosecuting attorneys, those lawyers who thus prostitute their profession become participants in the crime."

MacDONALD LOSES LIBERAL SUPPORT IN PARLIAMENT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 22.—It was definitely announced tonight that negotiations for an agreement between the Labor party and the Liberals have broken down. Prime Minister MacDonald is stated to have definitely refused the pledge to introduce the scheme of electoral reform urged by David Lloyd George.

The decision was communicated to the Liberal leader tonight and is regarded in political circles as implying a termination of the Liberal-Labor concordat which enabled the government to carry the coal mines bill through the house of commons.

Meanwhile Mr. MacDonald scored a victory in the Labor party's meeting tonight at which Sir Oswald Mosley moved what was practically a vote of censure against the government, the motion expressing the party's dissatisfaction with the government's unemployment policy. The vote was defeated by 210 to 29.

MANDEL'S 75TH YEAR

GRAIN RECORDS ALTERED, U. S. WITNESS SAYS

Attempts to Manipulate Prices Charged.

Testimony involving Chicago grain brokerage houses and one or more grain traders in charge of having juggled records of sales of grain was introduced yesterday in the federal hearing on charges filed last March by Secretary of Agriculture Arthur M. Hyde against William B. Massey, John Reddy, and Philip J. Reddy of Chicago.

The testimony was introduced by E. M. Blaylock, certified public accountant for the federal grain futures administration. He presented records of grain sales made on July 11, 1929, taken from the files of the Philip J. Reddy, Lamson Bros., and James E. Bennett brokerage concerns.

Answering questions of prosecuting attorneys, Blaylock asserted that records of some sales entered for the accounts of Massey and John Reddy had been altered, and that in other cases original orders for the grain trades involved could not me produced when they were requested by the grain futures administration.

Manipulation Charged.

Other evidence in support of the secretary of agriculture's complaints was offered yesterday in an effort to show that the respondents have "attempted to manipulate" the market price of wheat for future delivery on the Chicago Board of Trade. It is charged that the respondents, in sales between July 11 and Aug. 1, "through ruses, schemes, and devices" caused to be sold at least 345,000 bushels of December wheat "at prices both lower and higher than the real prices existing when these sales were executed."

Testimony yesterday brought out that the search by the grain futures administration for evidence of unusual handling of grain trades had started last fall upon complaint of M. M. Darling of Enid, Okla., whose order for sale of 3,000 bushels of December wheat was traced to Massey's account. Further testimony on the government's complaints will be presented today before Referee John C. Brooke of Washington.

"Defense Without Precedent."

"While this has been characterized as a test case, the situation of defending members of the board of trade against what we call punitive or semi-criminal charges, without recourse to judge or jury, is forcing us to proceed in the defense without precedent of law," said attorneys for the respondents yesterday.

"This is the first case ever presented by the administrators of the grain futures act in which they seek to prosecute violators of the rules established by the Chicago Grain exchange. We hold that such serious charges come properly within the province of the Board of Trade or of a regular civil action."

Massey was previously suspended for two years from the Board of Trade for the deals now involved in the federal complaints.

BARBER WITNESS THREATENED IN SANITARY QUIZ

Bloom Fails to Give Graft Story.

Robert C. Scelze, Hotel Sherman barber, the witness who, it is reported, confessed to the special grand jury investigating sanitary district affairs that he was a pay roll dummy, has been threatened. A report of the threat has been made to the jury, it is rumored. Scelze is reported to have said he had been a pay roll dummy for the brother-in-law of a former sanitary district trustee. Scelze, it is rumored, has been the only witness to confess.

First Assistant State's Attorney Northup made the general complaint also before the jury yesterday, it is reported, that because he cannot keep his plans secret many of the former district pay rollers that he counted on for state's witnesses have left town.

Complains to Swanson.

Northup did not divulge the exact nature of the threats against Scelze except to say that the barber's telephone has been kept busy by men calling him about his confession since the fact became public. Scelze, it is reported, also complained directly to State's Attorney Swanson that he had been promised that it would never be known if he confessed. He complained because he said the promise was not kept and it has caused him much uneasiness and embarrassment.

The prosecutor apparently gave up trying to get Ike Bloom, former well known south side café owner, Maurice [Mossy] Cullerton, southwest side Democratic leader, and William J. Connors, 42d ward Democratic chieftain, to tell the grand jury of pay roll irregularities or any other matters connected with the sanitary investigation. He has had them before the jury on three different days and he finally excused them yesterday. They have not talked.

J. McSweeney Is Witness.

J. McSweeney, reported to be a brother of a former member of the legislature and now a county employé, was another who failed to live up to the prosecutor's expectations about pay roll padding evidence. He was sent from the jury room several times when, it is reported, he did not answer questions satisfactorily. Several other alleged pay rollers also were before the jury.

Prosecutor Northup indicated that his new indictments—if the jury votes any—will be based principally on the $1,062,000 cinder path adjoining the north shore channel road.

CRIMINAL COURT.

Bocker Cachren, burglary, sentenced to 1 year to life in Pontiac reformatory; Frank Skyes, burglary, sentenced to 1 year to life in the penitentiary; Gus Vojcichy, embezzlement, sentenced to 1 year in the county jail, by Judge John J. Sullivan.

Frank Phillips, bombing, sentenced to 1 to 20 years in the penitentiary by Judge D. J. Normoyle.

Rufus Fields, burglary, sentenced to 1 year to life in the penitentiary by Judge Walter P. Steffen.

Ernest Anderson and Claude Wilson, having burglar tools, sentenced to 1 to 2 years each in the penitentiary; Isaiah Richarson, rape, sentenced to 15 years in the penitentiary, by Judge Harry B. Miller.

12 CONTRACTORS ARE CALLED IN CURTIS INQUIRY

Chief Investigator Pat Roche of the state's attorney's office said yesterday that he had sent letters to 12 building contractors asking them to appear at his office as soon as is convenient in connection with the investigation involving Attorney Harry K. Curtis, son of Vice President Curtis. Attorney Curtis, it was charged, accepted money from contractors who desired to obtain work from the government.

Attorney Curtis, who admitted accepting fees from contractors, but denied that he had promised to exert any influence to get government jobs for any contractors, was not certain yesterday as to what his attitude would be regarding Roche's request for his records.

"I have not decided whether to give Roche my records," he said yesterday. "I may decide not to do so."

Roche specified no definite time for Curtis to produce the records.

WETS ORGANIZE TO PIT CANDIDATE AGAINST PINCHOT

Plan to Fight Davis if He Doesn't Say He's Moist.

Philadelphia, Pa., May 22.—[Special.]—Wet opposition to Gifford Pinchot, bone dry, who surprised every one by winning the Republican nomination for governor in Tuesday's primary, was assured today.

Robert Kelso Cassatt, banker and head of the Pennsylvania association against the prohibition amendment, announced after a conference with his lieutenants that a wet ticket would be put into the field.

The foes of prohibition will attempt not only to best Pinchot in the fall election, but also will name a candidate for the United States senate to oppose Secretary of Labor Davis, who was away with the race for the Republican senatorial nomination, defeating the hopes of Senator Joseph Grundy, arch-apostle of tariff protection. The only way Mr. Davis can evade this opposition, said Mr. Cassatt, is for him to declare himself wet.

Pinchot Plurality 12,795.

With the wet board of strategy men meeting the latest returns showed Pinchot leading, with a plurality of 12,795 votes, the candidate of the Vare organization, Francis Shunk Brown, who ran as a "mild" dry. Only twenty-one election districts were missing in the tabulation.

Thomas W. Phillips, who was the candidate of the wets for the Republican nomination for governor, will not lead the fight against Pinchot in the fall. This was made clear in an announcement made by Mr. Cassatt after he had conferred with Mr. Phillips, Raymond Pitcairn, and Randolph F. Childs, the leaders of the anti-prohibition forces. Mr. Cassatt said:

"This association is in a fight to the finish for the ultimate repeal of the eighteenth amendment and the immediate repeal of the Snyder act, and has no intention of permitting the election of Gifford Pinchot to the office of governor of Pennsylvania."

6th Pennsylvania Primary Cost.

Washington, D. C., May 22.—[Special.]—How senatorial primary costs in Pennsylvania compare with those in Illinois will be disclosed on Monday when Secretary of Labor James J. Davis and his defeated opponents, Senator Joseph R. Grundy and Francis E. Rohlen, will appear before the senate campaign expenditures committee. The committee, which is headed by Senator G. P. Nye [Rep., N. D.], arranged today for this initial step in the inquiry into expenditures in Pennsylvania similar to that already inaugurated in Illinois.

The committee on Monday will merely receive statements from the candidates and their campaign managers, leaving further hearings until the data presented have been studied. It is likely that the committee will go to Chicago for hearings in the Illinois investigation before proceeding further with the Pennsylvania inquiry.

Topic of Speculation.

The Pennsylvania primary results continued to be a topic of speculation in Washington.

The nomination of Gifford Pinchot for governor gives the senate radicals particular reason for elation. Mr. Pinchot maintains a residence in Washington and has been a frequent participant in the councils of the radical [illegible]

ERICKSON GETS 4TH DELAY OF SMOKE TRIAL

Efforts of the city smoke department to bring Carl A. Erickson, who operates five rooming houses in the Forty-second ward, to trial for violations of the smoke ordinance were unsuccessful yesterday, when the fourth continuance in two months was granted to Erickson by Municipal Judge Charles F. McKinley. Erickson has asked for a jury trial in each of the eleven suits brought against him by the smoke department for violations in November and December of 1929 and January and February of this year.

Frank A. Chambers, chief smoke inspector, and six of his deputies, were present in Judge McKinley's courtroom at 9:30 yesterday morning. At noon they were told to come back at 2 p. m., at which time the jury would be through with the case that was on trial. When they returned Chambers was taken into Judge McKinley's chambers.

In the conference Erickson's attorney, William L. Kelley, who is associated in the law practice with Charles E. Peace, Republican committeeman of the Forty-second ward, said that he thought that the case was to be called on next Tuesday. Judge McKinley said that he had dismissed the jury and couldn't call it back and the case was set for next Monday.

HOOVER SAID TO BE FOR MODIFIED PACKERS' DECREE

Washington, D. C., May 22.—(AP)—The Hoover administration was represented as favoring modification of the 1920 packers consent decree in a circular purporting to have been issued by Matthews and company, Chicago brokers, which was read in the senate today by Senator Black [Dem., Ala.].

Black asked immediate consideration of the Schall resolution to request the justice department for information on the extent to which the decree has been enforced and the attitude of the department toward modification.

Senator McNary [Rep., Ore.] objected to consideration on the ground that a similar resolution already had been adopted and information furnished.

THE SENATE VOTE ON THE TAX AMENDMENT.

The state senate has approved a proposed amendment of the state constitution to permit new forms of taxation, including an income tax. Any new taxes, and especially an income tax, will bear most heavily upon the salary and wage earners of Cook county. Downstate voted to a man for the amendment, as was to be expected. That gave the amendment 30 votes. The other eight were contributed by Cook county members.

The amendment was fathered by the Republican governor, Mr. Emmerson. Of the eight Cook county members who voted for it, seven are Republicans. The conclusion is inescapable. The Republican party in Illinois, and especially in Cook county, will be charged with responsibility for the senate's action. The issue is too simple and the facts too overwhelming to confuse them in the minds of the voters.

The amendment has yet to come to a vote in the house of representatives, where it must obtain a two-thirds majority as it did in the senate. Downstate again will vote as a unit for the measure. Cook county elects just over a third of the house. The Republican representatives from Cook county hold in their hands the future of their party in the county and the state.

FIRES, FORESTS, AND THE BOY SCOUTS.

With forests again in the midland and the eastern states the American people will have recreational areas saved from the encroachments of settlements and cities. And on the theory that the forest have a dual purpose, which is both recreational and economic, projects for reforestation are gaining more and more momentum. The theory is correct, but the technique of working it out has its difficulties.

Fire hazards in the forests increase with their use for recreation. Careless campers and motorists can destroy the forests that they use faster than new trees will grow. Fire furrows through the woods from five feet wide to forty, to prevent the spread of fires, also make roadways for the campers' entrance. Use of the forests often causes their destruction.

The answer is obviously that measures must be extended further for fire prevention in the forests. General training in camp craft and in care against fires also must be extended. The generation that matures with Boy Scout training will suffer from fewer forest fires. The Boy Scouts and the trained boys in the summer camps are our best chance against forest fires. These boys know better.

SHIRTS AND PANTS.

Italy not long ago pulled off a black shirt revolution. By force majeure and quantities of castor oil a change in styles for men there was accomplished, and Mussolini marched on Rome to put the black shirt over. Black shirts in Italy still raise the vivas and high emotions; Mussolini still holds Rome, though the revolution dwindles now to matters of mere politics, finance, land tenure, and wheat production.

France, too, had its great day, and a revolution around breeches, or the absence of them, sans culottes, was brought to pass in the late eighteenth century. Men fought and died for the sacred symbol "sans culottes," Napoleon emerged, and history degenerated into problems and concerns in the shifting map of Europe. The past shows that little less than war and revolution will change men's styles. Too often even they will fail.

Men are afraid to change their styles. Women are afraid not to. And where women today are herded back into the "covered wagon" styles of the barbaric past, men stand stanchly by the old sweat compellers, the woolen coats, pants, vests that have muffled them from neck to knee for the last one hundred years. Small changes with a fancy name occur, but basally man's dress remains about the same from the nation's early days down to this week. In summer time mankind still must steam and sweat on the American sentiment as in the old muffled days of yore.

We get our styles from London, and London is cool in summer. Where woman's Paris imitations have, or had, at least the virtue of keeping her cool in summer and in our heated houses, with a heavier cloak to put on and off at will, men, following London, are fixed in a woolen world of coat collars and heavy shoulders, of sleeves, vests, layer on layer, under our continental sun. Arctic clothes in winter, tropic clothes in summer, is our need.

Man is now undressed, or partly so, without a coat in summer, and until a shirt emerges, triumphant from the brain of sweltering man, that will look well without a coat, the suffering must go on. The present tucked-in shirt is bad without a coat to cover it, and the shirt remains the key to man's perspirational salvation.

A shirt identical with present styles but built like a middy below, close around the hips, outside the trousers, probably is the best beginning, and experiments in this model have found a measure of success. It is not extreme, and thereby it avoids the mistakes of many touted style reforms. With such a shirt a man can go sans coat without undue embarrassment or exposure. It becomes his coat, in fact, washable each day. It is better looking, cleaner, and far cooler than the older style, and on a colder day the woolen coat can be put on and none can note the difference.

In sports and workmen's clothes the break may be seen here and there from the old idiocies of man's summer wear. But the day to day job of wearing clothes in summer remains about the same. The coat, the vest, the pants, the tucked-in shirt, the underclothes, layer on layer, all remain. Man's summer wear in continental America should be silk or cotton and the format should be changed. But only a war, a revolution, a Lindbergh or a Bobby Jones, or the mighty voice of an overheated people, it may be, can bring about that epoch making change.

THE NAVY AND THE SILK TRADE.

Admiral Bristol was led into an argument on the Japanese silk trade by Senator Walsh of Montana in the navy hearing. Mr. Walsh wanted to know if American security was not more in the export of silk to American markets than in the superiority of the American fleet, considering that Japan must sell silk to buy food. The admiral replied as courteously as he could. He might have asked Senator Walsh what that economic relationship had to do with him as a military man.

Senator Walsh as a member of congress can do things to affect trade relations. Admiral Bristol must accept these decisions. The army and navy have nothing to do with the determination of policies which cause wars. That is in the hands of the politicians who do not fight them. Admiral Bristol cannot foretell when an American policy of keeping Japanese silk out of the United States to protect substitutes manufactured here may be adopted in congress. If the flow of silk into the United States keeps from war, the stoppage of it might lead to one. With that the admirals have nothing to do. They are not asked whether in case a tariff did this would they be able to do anything about it. They are given the facts accomplished and told to see that everything comes out all right.

Their duty is to consider war with every probable enemy as a fact in itself. They do not make wars by doing so, but they frequently do the better in war because they have so considered the problem. Admiral Bristol's whole question is this: Given a war with Japan, can he fight it? He does not know whether or when silk will cause a war. It is of no importance to him what causes one. If it is caused he has a right to the ships which will win it. That is his only concern.

Both the navy and army have found that it is the general rule of government at all times to give them a minimum of help before a war. They are in luck if they are wisely sustained in one. Policies other than military which may keep peace in the Pacific or elsewhere are not intrusted to military authority. The navy's problem is not whether the fleet is sufficient in peace, but is it sufficient in war? War must be presumed before the naval opinion is asked. That is what it considers. Admiral Bristol and his associates are not discussing a silk bound peace.

FINNISH AND AMERICAN PROHIBITION.

Finland and the United States are the two countries of white civilization which still adhere to the theory of absolute prohibition of intoxicating beverages. The peoples of the two countries are racially different, but both are progressive and politically experimental and both are comparatively new in the exercise of their own free judgment as democracies.

Both retain the law of uncompromising prohibition, although in the case of both their neighbors trying to find a happy medium either have not gone to the extreme of unqualified denial or, having experimented with it, have dropped it and have taken to other measures of regulation and control.

The two legally bone dry countries have had parallel experiences. Donald Day of THE TRIBUNE press service, examining conditions as the noble experiment has developed them in Finland, found that the Finns were taking their prohibition about as the Americans were taking theirs, with less violence, less enforcement and better liquor, if a difference was to be noticed. Helsingfors is wider open than New York and less attention is paid to it. The smugglers have an easier time and have avoided trade wars. They are not shooting each other and the government is not shooting any one. Evidently prohibition Finland has not adopted the art of the poisoner as an aid to morality. The drinking is less temperate than before theoretical prohibition, but the law deals with a citizen who gets into the street traffic intoxicated not because he has been drinking but because he is drunk.

The two peoples, Finns and Americans, have different backgrounds, but when confronted with government coercion in affairs which should be left to personal regulation, so long as conduct is not offensive to the community, they take the same road in resisting the invasion of individual rights. Apparently Finland, although not ready to revoke its edict, is taking the experiment lightly. The evidence which it has produced wherever it has been tried is against it. The obstruction is universal in human nature.

Editorial of the Day

SATURDAY AT CAMBRIDGE.

[Boston Herald.]

The reasons for the rather slim attendance at the Harvard-Dartmouth baseball game, and at other college baseball games, were apparent to anybody who walked down to Soldiers' field from Harvard square last Saturday. A lacrosse joust was going on nearby. Students were hurrying back and forth with tennis bats. Other baseball games were in progress. Crews were on the river, and sturdy young men were lolling at the boathouses. Cars with undergraduates in golf attire were numerous. Here and there were couples in riding garb. Up at Harvard the young hopefuls of Dr. Hopkins were competing on the track with the hopeful youngsters of Dr. Lowell.

It was evident, too, that the man watching the effective and versatile Mr. Devens of Harvard moisten his hand were older than those who used to cheer for David Scannell, "Doc" Paine and the Highlands; for Bill Reed, Percy Haughton and Walter Clarkson.

In short, the students nowadays are playing, instead of merely looking on, and that is as it should be. They turn out in large numbers for something exceptional, but in general they prefer to make their own fun. If Mr. Bingham can actually keep the Harvard undergraduates by hundreds and hundreds on the fields, we could even forgive him the loss of a large number of "big" games.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

THE UNITED STATES OF EUROPE—

sounds all right to the people on the other side of the pond, but they'll find out when they get it going that there's going to be a little trouble bobbing up here and there now and then. Just as soon as they start a United States over there a Democratic party is bound to jump right up and say whatever has been done is all wrong and ought to be done the other way. Then the Republican party (you can't have a United States without a Republican party, you might as well face it) will holler for high tariff, and the drys will break loose and the wets will run rings all around the place, and there'll be new laws passed every five minutes. Everybody will try to have his own particular ideas fastened onto everybody else, and want all people who don't like 'em put in jail. When a nation has a king, everybody has to do as the king says, but in a republic you have to do as everybody says. That's a good deal harder, but people never get over thinking that it can be done. Anyhow a United States gives a lot more action and excitement than any other kind of government; nobody knows what's going to happen next. And it's a lot of fun just running around and wondering.

ACCORDING TO SCHEDULE.

Every three months
There's one thing I know,
I'll have a heartache,
It's always been so.

I'll love a new lad
And he'll go away,
That is my program,
I can't make 'em stay.

Some say I'm hot,
Some swear I'm cold,
Some day they'll tell me
I'm getting too old.

I'm always thinking
I won't love again,
Cursed be my tender
Affection for men!

Those that I like the best
Never adore me,
Those that like me the best,
Jove, how they bore me!

Every three months
I find I am sunk.
Love is a poem, dear!
Love is the bunk!

HELEN WELSHIMER.

THE SUMMER ARRIVED so sudden like that it was a real pleasure yesterday to read about four and five inches of snow out in Montana and up in Nova Scotia. And not long ago we threw a fit and wanted the weather man arrested every time a snowflake came down. Man is a peculiar animal; doggone, he's never satisfied.

AND AT LEAST one thing the Graf Zeppelin does for all of us, it teaches us geography. Just to prove our point we asked a man we happened to meet yesterday on the Boul Mich if he had ever heard of Pernambuco and sure enough he said no. "But," he continued, "if you think it's headed for a rise I'll phone my broker to buy fifty shares for me at the market."

"UNDERSTAND NOW that you think a new car will set you back too much," writes Bilious Bill, "and that you are looking for a used car." No, Bilious Bill, we were looking for a used car and asking people what they thought of the idea and we got so plumb sick of hearing 'em say, "Well, you'll just be buying another man's troubles," that we quit it. Try it yourself; ask anybody you know what they think of the idea of buying a used automobile. You'll see. It's a law or something.

MARY LEWIS of the Metropolitan Opera company got madder'n all get out in Paris this week because she found she was expected to appear in the film "La Belle Helene" without anything on but her flowing hair. The French aren't as diplomatic as we thought; why didn't they tell Mary she was to wear a Florida bathing suit?

TO MY LOVE.

Love me when the May wind blows,
for then my heart is never still.
It wanders to a green-gowned hill where apple trees wear summer snows.

May, the maid, invitingly beckons with her slender hands, strewing perfume on the lands that once lay by so drearily.

May has eyes more wildly blue than all the brilliance in the sky.
Wait until she's gone and I will strangely need the heart of you.

JEANNE DEMAMETTE.

LAGNIAPPE.

LISSEN, you good news of good times Pollyannas; we've gone and dug up another item for you and it's a peach. The government yesterday revealed that it had padlocked 2,726 places in Chicago in six years. Get the figures on the number padlocked from 1900 to 1906 and you can show an increased sale of padlocks in the last six years of 2,726%. It's a wow! Take it away, boys, and we'll hunt you another one.

GEORGE ANTHEIL, who wrote the new American opera "Trans-Atlantic, or the People's Choice," which is to be given at Frankfort-on-Main next Sunday night, says in an interview: "The danger in our civilization in America is the danger of our money." Well, George, if the stock market doesn't do a little climbing pretty soon, you can stop worrying and take a good night's sleep.

AND SPEAKING OF PADLOCKS, we've got a fine wheeze about malt and hops and bottles that we'd like to use right here for a last line, but those dry enforcement cops are very serious and maybe they couldn't take a joke and it would be just too bad to have a padlock right down here on our last line. Oh well, maybe it wasn't so funny after all.

MORE WOES FOR DRINKER.

IT IS certain that heavy drinkers are in danger of developing an eruption on the hands and arms which most people call pellagra. It is thought that this eruption results, not from the whisky directly but from the indigestion, starvation, and disturbed nutrition which result from a prolonged debauch. It is the rule that when a man is on a protracted spree he does not eat, or, if he does, what is eaten comes back. A step in breaking up the spree is to get the drunkard to eat and sleep. After a prolonged debauch the stomach is pretty well burned out and cannot digest the foods it takes, even if it stays down. There is some disagreement, however, as to whether this eruption is a spurious or a true pellagra.

Drs. Maloney and Tulipan regard it as pseudo pellagra. They base their opinion on a study of twenty-one cases seen in New York City during the late summer. Most of them were Irish or of Irish descent. None were Jews. In every case the man had been on a prolonged spree lasting four weeks or longer, and during this time he had consumed large quantities of low grade green whisky. Some of it was made from denatured whisky, bay rum, perfume, and other nonpotable alcohols. In each case the stomach was burned out, the digestion upset, and the appetite gone before the eruption appeared. Dr. Maloney and his associate think these were cases of pseudo pellagra because they never had any diarrhea, nor the tongue and esophagus symptoms of pellagra. The eruption was never anywhere except on the hands and arms.

When there were any mental symptoms they were those of alcoholism rather than of pellagra. Deaths were due to alcoholic poisoning rather than to pellagra. It is probably not highly important to decide whether these cases should be called pellagra or pseudo pellagra. If they be two diseases, both are important. Both endanger life and health directly or indirectly. Both can be prevented by following a proper diet. Both can be cured by means of diet.

WOULD IN MOST CASES.

T. Y. writes: Would applying liquid corn remover on a wart remove it?

REPLY.

It would in most cases.

PARALYSIS AGITANS.

Mrs. W. C. K. writes: What is the correct treatment for paralysis agitans? Can anything be done to check the progress of the disease? Physical weakness is my chief trouble. I find it increasingly difficult to get out of a chair, though I can walk fairly well when once on my feet. Any information which you can give me will be most gratefully received. Have any new discoveries been made regarding this disease? I would not mind the trembling so much if I could overcome the weakness. I have always been subject to erysipelas but otherwise my health is perfect.

REPLY.

If you wish you might ask your physician for treatment with hypothyroid extracts and lime preparations, though he cannot promise results. Unfortunately treatment is not satisfactory.

The recently developing disease epidemic, encephalitis, is frequently followed by paralysis agitans. The shaking which follows that disease is frequently curable.

The encephalitis which follows herpes and, possibly, erysipelas and other streptococcus infections is not followed by shaking. It is not probable that your agitans is due to the attacks of erysipelas.

MAY NOT BE HUNCHBACKS.

B. K. writes: I am engaged to a young man whose mother is a hunchback. I am quite certain there are no relatives on either side afflicted in this manner. Is there any possibility that our children will inherit this disorder? Is it true that in one of the future generations this condition will show itself?

REPLY.

The probability is that your children will not be hunchbacks. The condition, hunchback, may be due to tubercular infection of the spine, to some other infection, to occupation. In none of these instances is the deformity inheritable. Ewe neck may be inherited, but ewe neck is not hunchback.

LIVE IN OPEN AIR.

Mrs. M. J. H. writes: I am 49 years old. Since returning from France during the world war I have had convulsions about once every three weeks. A day preceding an attack I have headache and my hands tingle. Am I too old for epilepsy? What can I do?

REPLY.

You are not too old. The attacks are probably epileptic. Live in the open air, work hard, eat sparingly, regulate your bowel habits.

Send 5 cents and stamped, addressed envelope for our booklet on epilepsy.

PETITION FOR NATURALIZATION.

Chicago, May 16.—[Friend of the People.]—1. How long must I wait before applying for second citizenship papers and where do I apply?

2 Must there be a picture of identification?

3. How much will the papers cost?

I. H.

1. If the applicant's husband is a citizen, she may file her petition for naturalization after residing one year in the United States. The application may be obtained at this office, room 776 postoffice building.

2. The application must be accompanied by two photographs, 2½x2½ inches, on a light background, full front view without a hat. The pictures must be signed on the margin away from the face and clothing.

3. Five dollars for a certificate of arrival and $5 for a declaration of intention, but if the husband is a citizen no declaration of intention is required. The fee for a petition for naturalization is $10.

FRED J. SCHLOTFELDT,
District Director of Naturalization.

CIVIL HEALTH SERVICE EXAMINATIONS.

Chicago, May 18.—[Friend of the People.]—I note in THE TRIBUNE of the 15th inst. that 178 examinations have been held during the last year for the purpose of filling civil service positions in the city hall, schools, library and municipal tuberculosis sanitarium.

Will you kindly obtain the dates on which these examinations were held, especially those for the municipal tuberculosis field work? R. H.

Among the examinations recently held by this commission were head field nurse, June 28, 1928, and field health officer, Feb. 11, 1930.

Eligible lists exist at this time for other positions in the health service. We have placed the name of above writer on our mailing list for notification of the next examinations called for field nurse [health], field nurse [M. T. S.] and school tuberculosis nurse.

J. S. OSBORNE, Secretary,
Civil Service Commission.

1 YEAR ANNOYANCE ENDS.

Chicago, May 16.—[Friend of the People.]—I would like to call your attention to a very loose iron cover in the 11000 block Wallace street. Its rattling when machines pass over it has caused nervous and sleepless nights and annoyed me for four year. J. K.

Report is made that manhole cover complained of has been replaced with a new one by the bureau of sewers.

JOSEPH J. BUTLER,
Deputy Superintendent of Streets.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

65 YEARS AGO TODAY

MAY 23, 1865.

NEW YORK.—Gen. Sheridan and his staff left here for Cincinnati on their way to the southwest, where he will assume command of the department of Texas. The cavalry forces formerly commanded by Gen. Sheridan will be under Gen. Merritt during the coming grand review at Washington. It is understood that Gen. Merritt and Gen. Custer will join Gen. Sheridan in the west.

WASHINGTON.—An order has been issued assigning Gen. Logan to command of the army of the Tennessee. Gen. Hazen, commanding the second division, is to succeed Logan in command of the 15th corps. Gen. Banks was not removed from command at New Orleans from any political consideration whatever. Gen. Grant displaced him for military reasons and refuses to discuss a reconsideration of the case.

NEW YORK.—Mail matter is now received at this postoffice daily for Richmond, Petersburg, Wilmington, Charleston, Savannah, Mobile, and Jacksonville.

WASHINGTON.—President Johnson issued a proclamation opening southern ports to foreign commerce on and after July 1. Exception is made of the ports of Galveston, Lavacca, Brazos, De Santiago, Point Isabel and Brownsville, in Texas.

NEW YORK.—The Tribune's special says the large rewards offered for the capture of Booth and Harrold in connection with the assassination of President Lincoln are to be distributed at the discretion of the secretary of war after the end of the trial of the conspirators before the military commission.

WASHINGTON.—At the assassination conspiracy trial Miss Fitzpatrick, who resided at Mrs. Surratt's, testified to having seen John H. Surratt, J. Wilkes Booth, Atzerodt, and Payne there together. She accompanied Surratt and Payne to Ford's theater and was there when Booth came into the President's box.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY.

MAY 23, 1900.

CHICAGO.—The state board of arbitration will offer its services in the settlement of the labor trouble in Chicago. Horace R. Caleff of Monticello, chairman of the board, is in the city for that purpose, and will meet members of the Building Contractors' council today.

PUEBLO, Colo.—Calvin Kimblern, a Negro and formerly corporal in the 25th United States infantry, who shot his wife and murdered two children in the Fries orphan asylum in this city, was hanged to a telegraph pole opposite the depot by a mob of 10,000 persons.

LONDON.—Repeated statements of British war correspondents that Presidents Kruger and Steyn are contemplating unconditional surrender are discounted by Douglas Story, personal friend to both presidents, who in a message to the Daily Mail says the question is not considered and will not be considered. He declares the Boers intend to fight to the finish and that Johannesburg will be defended to the utmost. Lord Roberts is again moving. His infantry left Kroonstad on May 21, and he will move swiftly. It is expected he will cross the Vaal river, 85 miles away, by the end of the week.

NEW YORK.—Charles F. Neeley of Muncie, Ind., formerly financial agent of the United States postal department in Cuba, already under bond on two charges of embezzlement, was rearrested in a civil action brought by the government to recover $45,300. He was unable to give the $50,000 bail demanded and was locked up in Ludlow street jail for the night.

CHICAGO.—The right of women to membership in the general conference of the Methodist church, which has been the subject of debate in that body for many years, was definitely affirmed at yesterday's session by a vote of 542 to 94. The conference elected Dr. David H. Moore and Dr. John W. Hamilton as bishops.

10 YEARS AGO TODAY

MAY 23, 1920.

MEXICO CITY.—[By Sidney M. Sutherland.]—An official account of the assassination of President Carranza was obtained in a telegram from Gen. Juan Barragan, Carranza's former chief of staff, to Gen. Obregon. It was a reply to Obregon's scathing attack on Carranza's followers for not defending him to the last. He says: "Rodolfo Herrera joined our retreating column at Patla. He protested loyalty and declared he would assist us against your enveloping troops. Reaching Tlexicaltenango on Thursday at sundown, he saluted the president, and placed his men about the camp. Then we all retired. At 4 o'clock Friday morning he and his men surrounded the hut in which the president was sleeping, and without warning opened fire on the helpless executive. Every member of the president's party rushed to his defense. But those who were killed were shot in the early dawn as they rushed from their doors." Authentic reports declare that Carranza's body was hacked with machetes after he had been shot down.

MEXICAN IMMIGRATION.

Chicago, May 20.—Permit me to make an observation on your editorial that, under the epigraph "Mexican Immigration," was published in your paper yesterday.

It is of no use to be finding out excuses for the restriction of Mexicans—viz.: that they cannot resent because they are put on same footing as Englishmen, Germans, etc. The fact must be bluntly stated—the measure, as Senator Borah said, is discriminatory.

None of the Latin-American countries need laws of this character, for the simple reason that they are countries of immigration and not of emigration. Your figures that 58,000 Mexican immigrants enter this country every year are misleading. They enter, it is a fact, but they do not remain. You should subtract, to give correct information, the number of Mexicans that return to their native country every year. Then you would find an immigration that would not justify a restriction. If your figures were correct there would be no Mexicans in Mexico; the country would have emptied itself into the United States long ago.

This mobility of the Mexicans, it is true, is not effective in relation to industries, but it is helpful to agriculture, which pays low wages, requires 10 and 12 hours of work a day and does not supply work for more than three-fifths of the year.

Furthermore, I deny that the Englishmen are easily assimilable. I think there is no other people so refractory to assimilation and naturalization as the English. This holds true about the Canadians. Both are very proud of their origin and would never change [except in sporadic cases] their nationality even for that of Americans. You should not judge the assimilation of the English people by that of the days of yore. When they arrived here for religious and political liberty they were Americans at heart. The Englishmen of today are of different strata. Some countries of Europe progressed just as much as the United States. England, Germany and others have, also, plenty of opportunities for their nationals. Point me the percentage of naturalization of the Englishmen of today. Forget the Welsh Mr. Davis. It is a stale example.

To shorten, it would have been much better if a negotiation between the state department and the Mexican embassy had been entered into to draw up a "gentlemen's agreement," as was done for the Japanese people, who are barred from this country.

I should like to state that the restriction of immigration applied to Latin-Americans is the beginning of the end of Monroeism and Pan-Americanism.

JOSE SAHAGUN DE LA MORA.

SUFFERING PIGEONS.

Chicago, May 20.—Many times on my trips to and from town I have fed the pigeons which flock around the peanut stand on the Quincy and Wells "L" platform. I have been heartbroken of late to note an ever increasing number of crippled birds—some with paralyzed legs, others with their feet burned entirely off, due to the electric wiring beneath the "L" platform where they roost. Yesterday the sight of one very young bird affected me so that I resolved to write and inquire: [1] In time will the paralyzed leg become strong if there is no further contact with the electric wires? [2] Will a hardened stump grow on the part that has been burned off, so that the bird can balance himself and have a fighting chance in the scramble for food?

It is pitiful to see such young birds limping around. The little fellow I saw yesterday took two or three hops and then slumped over and looked so disconsolate as much as to say: "O, what is this terrible thing that has come to me?" Could one interest them in a new roosting place by not feeding them there? Or should they be caught and put out of their misery?

LOVER OF BIRDS.

AN ERROR OF JUDGMENT.

Saugatuck, Mich., May 20.—Why pick on Joe Grein in the bottle and cap test of Volsteadism? Dr. Doran, prohibition commissioner, knows very well that had he seized the stocks of the 6,000 or 7,000 Kresge stores he would have had the front page everywhere.

However, after due deliberation, I cannot help but feel that Joe neglected to contribute his $500,000 last year to the Anti-Saloon league fund.

R. L. A.

FAST TIME TO ST. LOUIS.

Chicago, May 16.—In your issue of May 14 appears a communication from Mr. M. W. Nay which reads, in part, as follows: "C. F. Palmer and myself drove down to St. Louis at night last month in 6 hours and 15 minutes . . . from the heart of one city to the heart of the other. We were watching for cops all the way down; in fact, I still have a stiff neck."

A speed of 6 hours and 15 minutes from Chicago to St. Louis via motor means an average of more than 50 miles per hour, in spite of the fact that the traffic regulations in cities such as Chicago and St. Louis cut down the speed on city streets to not more than 15 miles an hour on the average. The safety of motor travel on the highways and of passengers in railway trains is endangered by such performances.

I have been waiting to see if any public authority has taken any note of this statement, as was done in a similar speed case two or three years ago in Massachusetts. You, of course, know that Mr. William R. Dawes, vice president of the Central Trust Company of Illinois, is chairman of the committee on the protection of railway grade crossings and highway intersections, appointed by the secretary of commerce as part of the national conference of street and highway safety, and you know that the report of that committee states that accidents at highway intersections, including city streets, caused more than 50 per cent of the estimated 31,000 motor vehicle fatalities which occurred in the United States in 1929.

Mr. Dawes' committee report also shows that expenditures by the railways for grade crossing elimination have averaged more than $30,000,000 per year during the last three years, plus a corresponding amount by public authorities, so that the average total expenditure by the railways and public "is probably averaging more than $60,000,000 per annum."

The Chicago and Eastern Illinois railway operates a six and a half hour train from Chicago to St. Louis. A shorter schedule than six and a half hours could easily be attained if the railroad company disregarded municipal slow orders and safety precautions. T. C. POWERS,

President Chicago and Eastern Illinois Railway Company.

RADIO ANNOUNCERS FOR BREAKFAST.

Oak Park, Ill., May 17.—No doubt the professional radio announcers receive very good salaries and this is as it should be. However, when there are millions of listeners, would it not be a good idea for these announcers to be quite sure of the pronunciation of many words in common use? We hear much about "progrums"; then we are treated to something which is described as "equi-zit"; then a little later we hear something about a "little midget," or maybe a "little booklet."

And many, many times we are treated to "feels badly," which, of course, makes the listeners "feel sadly." If there is a grammar in existence which states that "feel badly" is correct English, many students of the language would be delighted to hear all about it. The joke is that so many highly educated men and women are extraordinarily careful to tell how "badly" they feel about something. It should be dished out along with "have gotten" and "have got."

Highly educated women [at least they consider themselves to be] invite guests "for" dinner. Are we cannibals? We have roast beef for dinner, but as I understand it we invite guests to dinner.

M. G. S.

SO SORRY.

Villa Park, Ill., May 20.—Neither in your Voice of the People nor in your editorial columns of May 19 issue can be found a single comment on the prohibition question! What's the matter?

W. W. SWIRE.

WITH PLEASURE.

Chicago, May 20.—A certain company has some advertising on billboards all over the city with incorrect English: "I like fish that bite and tobacco that don't." "Tobacco that doesn't" is correct. It does not rhyme, so they can't call it poetical license. If we want a beautiful city, why not have correct English? We wish our city to be a center of beauty and culture. Please give this your attention.

ADMIRAL DENIES THAT NAVY PACT OFFERS PARITY

It Imperils Commerce of U. S., Reeves Declares.

Reeves Explains Terms.

"As to the question of parity during the term of the treaty—and the treaty is not effective after Dec. 31, 1936—Great Britain will have nineteen 8 inch gun cruisers and a superiority of six inch gun cruisers, except in the last year, when she will have eighteen 8 inch cruisers with a total tonnage of 339,000 tons," he said.

"The United States will be permitted to have sixteen 8 inch gun cruisers and an inferiority of 6 inch as well as a total cruiser tonnage of 323,500.

"Will you explain how it is that Great Britain will have 19 during the life of the treaty?" asked Senator Thomas J. Walsh [Dem., Mont.].

"She is permitted fifteen 8 inch gun cruisers, plus the four Hawkins class, which are in that subcategory," Reeves replied.

"Those ships have a total tonnage of over 29,000 tons and carry seven and one-half inch guns.

"Upon the conclusion of the treaty, the date upon which we are supposed to attain parity, the two nations will be left by the terms of the treaty in the following situation in regard to total cruiser tonnage built and building: The United States 337,600 tons, Great Britain 425,350 tons.

"Of her 425,350 tons, as I read the treaty, Great Britain may have built and building a total of 23 8 inch cruisers.

"The ratios during the life of the treaty with the tonnage that we may have in commission and which Great Britain will have in commission is five for the United States, 5.58 for Great Britain and the ratio of the cruiser tonnage built and building with which the treaty leaves us is five for the United States and 6.3 for Great Britain."

Japan's Gain Our Loss.

Admiral Reeves said that the Japanese ratio of 3 to our 5 was based on restriction of our bases in the far east which we conceded at the Washington conference. So long as that premise remains the Japanese ratio should not be increased, Reeves said. The increase to 7-10 allowed Japan by the London treaty he pronounced a "very serious disadvantage to our country."

It was learned tonight that the state department has informed certain members of the foreign relations committee that diplomatic exchanges are to be instituted with Great Britain and Japan for the purpose of clarifying certain replacement sections of the treaty which have been interpreted by naval experts as permitting Great Britain to lay down additional 8 inch gun cruisers in 1934.

Section 19 states that replacement for 6 inch gun cruisers over the age limit may begin in 1934, but does not state definitely that 6 inch gun ships must be replaced by 6 inch gun vessels. American naval experts have stated that under this provision Great Britain could lay down a number of 8 inch gun vessels without violation of the language of the pact.

Examined by Senator Arthur Robinson [Rep., Ind.], Admiral Schofield said that Pearl Harbor in the Hawaiian islands and the Panama Canal Zone are the only outlying naval bases worthy the name that we possess. Cavite in the Philippines, which cannot be expanded under the Washington agreement, can take care of a few gunboats only.

"What is the nearest British base to the Panama canal?" Robinson inquired.

"I think the British bases in the Caribbean are hardly worthy of the name," Admiral Schofield replied. "They used to be garrisoned and defended 30 or 40 years ago, but today they are of minor importance and are not a real threat, except as to ownership, to our position."

"Is there any base there in that region that is important, owned by any other power?"

"No, sir; no naval base of importance. There are positions that could be developed into naval bases."

"Admiral, can you tell the committee how many naval bases over the world Great Britain has?"

Bases Cover Trade Routes.

"I could not tell how many but she has a good many. You start in at Singapore and go westward to Aden, then to Port Said, Malta, Gibraltar, and then when you go across toward us you come to Bermuda which is unimportant. They have a naval basis on the Pacific coast at Vancouver which is also unimportant, although it used to be quite well developed. Their principal strength lies in the fact that they own places that they can develop and they have developed those that are apparently essential to them in time of peace."

"They cover nearly every trade route that there is in the oceans; do they not?"

"I think that has been a long standing policy of Great Britain and their empire—to cover the trade routes with bases and ports that furnish facilities for shipping, both naval and commercial, and to place these ports as far as possible at the foci of commercial routes."

"Is there any reason," asked Senator Johnson, "that you can suggest why Great Britain should say, 'You shall build six inch gun cruisers, as we wish, rather than 8 inch gun cruisers, as you wish, within your tonnage allotment?'"

"I think—perhaps I am suspiciously minded—but I think I can see a reason why she wants us to have six inch cruisers," replied the admiral.

"What is that reason?"

"She hopes we will not build them."

"And that because they are unsuited to our needs?"

Burglar Terrorizes Family of Broker; Loot Is $1,925

A prowler with a flashlight and pistol broke into the home of John R. Lipowski, a mortgage broker residing at 2040 Humboldt boulevard, early yesterday, terrorized his family, and escaped with $1,900 in jewelry and $25 cash. The robber threatened Lipowski, his wife, Mary, 38 years old, his 17 year old daughter, Jean, and his 20 year old niece, Emily Gruszecka, saying he would shoot if they made an outcry.

Tonight: Get Rid of

BURNING FEET

The New Right Way
THE ENGLISH WAY

To take out the agony—banish all burning, aches and soreness—try the new 1930 way and in 15 to 20 minutes your foot troubles are over.

Just put two tablespoonfuls of Radox in a gallon of hot water and soak your feet for 20 minutes—you never had such a joyous, invigorating foot bath in all your life—you can just feel all the acid and poisons coming out of the stuffed up pores of your poor feet.

Do this tonight and tomorrow your feet will be so strong and sturdy and vigorous that you can walk all day long without discomfort.

It's the oxygen in Radox that gets into the thousands of pores of your feet and chases out the poisons that have accumulated there for years—it's these acids and poisons that make your feet ache and burn and nothing in the world will get them out but Radox.

You can get a package of Radox at any good drugstore—it is inexpensive and if it doesn't put new life and vigor into and bring blessed comfort to your distressed feet—money back.

DOYLE REVEALS ORIGINAL HERO OF SHERLOCK TALES

Abandons Super Sleuth on 71st Birthday.

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 22. — Never again will Sherlock Holmes, accompanied by his faithful friend, Dr. Watson, track down the master crook through a labyrinth of clews. The fictional sleuth, who has become a symbol for the genius of detectives, has been abandoned by his creator who, after gaining a world-wide reputation through the help mining adventures of the great Sherlock, now refuses to have anything more to do with his illustrious puppet.

SIR ARTUR CONAN DOYLE. (A. P. Photo.)

"I am through with him forever. I am tired of hearing myself described as the author of 'Sherlock Holmes,'" Sir Arthur Conan Doyle declared firmly today. It was the author's 71st birthday.

Doctor Inspired Writer.

Although he is tired of hearing of Sherlock Holmes, Sir Arthur admitted that he was a great detective and had a counterpart in real life.

"He was an Edinburgh doctor named Dr. Bell, under whom I studied. He had an almost uncanny gift of drawing large inferences from small observations. When I tried to be a detective, I naturally thought of Dr. Bell and his methods; and what I applied to diagnosis of disease, I applied to the diagnosis of crime. Dr. Watson was just an ordinary man," Sir Arthur explained.

Lady Conan Doyle revealed, however, that her husband was somewhat of a Sherlock Holmes himself. She said that people all over the world have written to him asking him to solve their problems after the police had failed. Sir Arthur took up some of these cases and nearly always found the exact solution, she said.

New Psychical Student.

The Conan Doyle family represented a happy picture today when the writer came to London from his Crowborough home for the first time in months. He was accompanied by his wife and two sons and a daughter, all of whom went to the theater this evening. A long illness has kept the author at home and has prevented him from writing for more than brief periods. All of his present writing is devoted to psychic subjects, which are now a chief interest in life.

CALLS PLANES INDISPENSABLE TO U. S. DEFENSE

Naval Officer Tells of Advance.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 22.—[Special.]—The development of naval aviation since the world war was described tonight as "astounding" by David S. Ingalls, assistant secretary of the navy for aeronautics, in a broadcast address on the importance of aviation in national defenses. Mr. Ingalls asserted that both airplane carriers and airships are now an integral part of this country's naval defenses. He said that already they have displaced the smaller types of coast defense warships.

In emphasizing the importance of the aircraft to the fleet Mr. Ingalls described a successful theoretical attempt to destroy the Panama canal locks by a fleet of bombing and pursuit planes launched by one of the fleet's two 23,000 ton carriers during war maneuvers last year. He asserted that once launched the attack of the fleet of planes from a carrier will go through.

Aircraft is used, Mr. Ingalls said, "for scouting purposes, for protecting sea lanes, for attacking enemy war ships, and for coast defense today.

Protect Nation's Sea Lanes.

"We have developed units of planes to be based strategically along our coasts to patrol and protect the so-called sea lanes," he said. "These lanes extend into the great ports and parallel the coasts, perhaps some distance out to sea. They are invisible, to be sure, but are as definitely determined as are the great arterial highways of the land. Protection of the lanes is vital both to our nation's commerce and to the maintenance of the lines of communication of our fleet. In the past we have afforded protection by a great variety of small naval vessels. Now we find the navy augmenting and replacing these surface craft by planes; and from our shore bases these planes cruise far out to sea, equipped with radio to report hostile vessels, equipped with bombs and machine guns with which to attack them.

"Today every one of our battleships and cruisers carries on board from two to six of these planes.

Plane Carriers a Vast Help.

"But the most important feature of naval aviation is the development of our great airplane carriers, the Lexington and Saratoga. These ships are almost 900 feet long and 90 feet wide. They can attain a speed of almost forty miles an hour.

"Each of these carriers affords a means of bringing to a naval engagement a fleet of some eighty fighting, bombing, scouting, and torpedo planes.

"Once launched the attack of the fleet of planes from one of these carriers will go through. Experience in the world war proved this time and again, and so for the defense of our coasts we must rely upon our own carriers of planes, both ships and Zeppelins. For scouting over the vast expanses of the sea no instrument yet devised is equal to the dirigible. Capable of a speed of very near that of the airplane, carrying on board some six planes to protect it or to attack anything that can be seen, the Zeppelin provides not only the greatest scout of the present day, but also a small carrier of extraordinary destructive power."

WOMAN FLYING TO BEDSIDE OF INJURED PARENTS

A young Chicago woman was rushing by plane last night to Valdosta, Ga., upon learning of a serious automobile accident yesterday in that town in which her parents were the victims. The woman is Mrs. Louise McCusker, 24 years old, of the DeWitt hotel, 244 East Pearson street.

Immediately upon receiving word that her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Stothardt, also of the DeWitt hotel, had met with a serious accident while motoring to Florida, Mrs. McCusker arranged for a plane at the Curtiss airfield at Glenview and engaged Dr. Frederick Harvey, 2561 North Clark street, to accompany her.

Mr. and Mrs. Stothardt were injured when their auto overturned in a ditch.

H. L. Mayer, the pilot, said he proposed making the journey in ten hours with stops at Evansville and Terre Haute, Ind., and at Nashville, Tenn., and Atlanta, Ga. Mr. Stothardt is a furniture dealer.

TACTICS IN SPEED CASES ILLEGAL, JUDGE CHARGES

Fairbank Assails Police Methods in Arrests.

Municipal Judge Freeman L. Fairbank in the Speeders' court charged yesterday that the present method of prosecuting speeders is illegal. He taxed police with disregard of law in arresting speeders and bringing them to trial. He also declared that he will discharge all violators brought before him until proper procedure is followed.

"Speeding is an offense against the laws of the state and as such is a serious crime," he said. "Yet the police are careless in making arrests and haphazard in prosecution where the law provides for proper procedure. The law fixes no speed limit other than to say that one must drive at a reasonable rate of speed, which may mean 35 miles an hour on one street and as high as 45 on another. Cities and villages have no right to fix speed rates."

Calls Action Without Reason.

"Policemen hide behind billboards or in alleys and pounce upon a man driving 36 miles an hour. Such action is without reason. The driver may be conscious of no violation and in fact may be driving reasonably. Nevertheless, he is charged with an offense which may discredit him later in his life. Instead of being taken to a police station, where a proper information charging him with a crime should be filed, he is allowed to go free after receiving a ticket, an extra legal procedure.

"He is brought to trial on a faulty complaint. Perhaps the arresting officer does not appear in court, his place being taken by a brother officer who gives hearsay testimony. He is given a fine and the record may be used against him at some future date.

Should Investigate Facts.

"Proper procedure would demand an investigation of facts to determine the reasonableness of his speed. Such questions as the driver's experience, condition of traffic, protection, time of day, and weather conditions should be investigated in every case before a sentence is imposed. A man can speed and not be a criminal. I am convinced that speeding does not cause accidents or contribute to the death toll, because the driver, when commonly said to be speeding, is more alert and careful than one going at a moderate pace and gawking at the scenery."

An investigation of abuse of the loop no parking ordinance was ordered by the council committee on traffic regulation and public safety. Ald. Thomas J. Bowler [41st], chairman, charged garage owners with racketeering under the ordinance.

College Girl Killed.

Miss Marion Jamieson, 21 years old, 5058 Luella avenue, a student at Rosary college, River Forest, was killed yesterday when the automobile in which she was riding collided with another machine at Fair Oaks avenue and Division street, Oak Park. She died while being taken to the West Suburban hospital. Edgar S. Riedell, 332 Wesley avenue, Oak Park, driver of the other car, was arrested and released after posting bond of $1,000.

This death and two others yesterday raised the 1930 county toll to 336. The other victims:

Louis Ross, 67 years old, 2707 West Division street, died at the Lutheran Memorial hospital from injuries received when he was struck by an automobile last April at Washtenaw avenue and Division street. Carl S. Letchman, 1402 North Maplewood avenue, was the driver of the automobile.

Russell Charles Rogers, 7 years old, 957 West 64th street. Fatally injured when he was struck by a truck at 63d and Sangamon streets. The driver, Frank Peterlin, 9957 Exchange avenue, was held.

Skull Million Years Old May Be Long Missing Link

New York, May 22.—(AP)—Freshly found evidence of a missing link, said to sustain Darwin's original evolution theory and put man's origin in Africa, was presented to the American Society of Mamologists today.

This thing, which may have been neither human nor ape, was discussed at a symposium on gorillas, where man's differences as well as ape resemblances were cited. One sharp difference found by Dr. T. Wingate Todd of Western Reserve university showed that gorillas have almost no adolescence.

Two Schools of Opinion.

There were two schools of opinion as to when man separated from apes, if human beings originated so. One held that it took place long before the three great branches of anthropoid apes—gorillas, chimpanzees, and orangs—began to differ from each other. The other side held that man appeared somewhere after the orang had split away from the two other ape tribes.

The missing link is a skull with teeth, found five years ago at Taungs, South Rhodesia, Africa. The teeth gave the clew to something new, and the study has just been completed by Raymond A. Dart of the University Witwatersrand, whose report was read by Dr. William K. Gregory of Columbia university.

May Be Million Years old.

The skull was found in a limestone cave, with indications that it was about one million years old. It may even have belonged to the much sought pliocene era, more than a million years ago, whose soil has never yet yielded fully accepted proof of human existence.

This cave was the home of baboons of a type now extinct. The skull was that of a child-creature estimated at about three years. It attracted attention because the brain pan and the fore part were slightly more voluminous than those of chimpanzees of the same age.

Teeth Like Babies.

It still bore its milk teeth, but they were difficult to examine. Now Dr. Dart reports that the canine teeth of this infant, instead of being of the sharp and fanglike order, as are those of gorillas and chimpanzees, resemble teeth of human babies. Furthermore, by X-ray Dr. Dart finds that the adult canine teeth in this kind of creature were smaller than those of apes.

"This find," said Dr. Gregory, "tends to support Darwin's original theory and indicate that man arose in South Africa. The fossil is regarded by many scientists as the most important find yet made connecting man and the apes."

Woman Convicted 49 Times Forfeits Bond

Valparaiso, Ind., May 22.—[Special.]—Freida Schussler, convicted forty-nine times on liquor charges in twenty-five years, failed to appear in court here today and a $500 bond on a liquor count was forfeited. Mrs. Schussler recently completed a thirty day jail sentence and paid $500 fine for liquor law violations.

DUCE CHEERS UP LABOR OF ITALY, WHO CHEER HIM

Tells 5,000 Other Nations Have Troubles, Too.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MILAN, Italy, May 22.—Premier Benito Mussolini told 5,000 working men at Sesto San Giovanni, near here, today that they were no worse off than were the working men of any other country.

"If any one tells you that abundance reigns in other countries, he lies, knowing that he lies," said il duce. "Open your papers today and read how in Merrie England unemployment has reached 2,000,000 and the minister of labor has resigned because he cannot solve this most tormenting problem of powerful England."

Il duce appealed to the workers to keep the general interest of Italy in mind in these trying times "when nations are powerful and their workers are respected in the world."

Premier Mussolini ended his discourse shouting:

"Whose is this Italy of work and Fascism?"

"Ours," the workers shouted back.

Adopting a dialectic method, il duce put the workers through a sort of catechism.

"Who made the eight hour working day a law of the land?" he asked in one of his questions.

"Il duce," was the response.

"My speeches at Livorno and Florence," the premier said, ridiculing criticisms made, "have as a consequence raised a cry from all the geese, which have started to defend the different capitals of the European countries.

"It appears that only in Italy are there airplanes, for elsewhere it is evident there are only innocent paper kites; only in Italy are there cannon, for elsewhere there are only canes for a promenade; only in Italy are there barracks, while elsewhere there are jolly places for enjoyment and meditation.

"Only Italy would have the audacity to possess a navy, while all the other nations have only fishing or pleasure fleets. But you know that the reality is profoundly different and that, if all the countries are armed or are arming themselves, one cannot understand why only Italy should be disarmed and should not arm herself justly."

Don't fool yourself

Since halitosis never announces itself to the victim, you simply cannot know when you have it.

Before any "date" end halitosis

Before any engagement where you wish to appear at your best, decency demands that you rinse the mouth with full strength Listerine, the safe antiseptic.

By so doing you eliminate any risk of offending by halitosis (unpleasant breath). For Listerine overcomes bad breath instantly.

You never have halitosis? Don't fool yourself—you simply cannot know when you have it. It doesn't announce itself to the victim. But it does to others and offends them.

Being an active germicide capable of killing 200,000,000 germs in 15 seconds, full strength Listerine checks mouth fermentation and infection—both a cause of odors. Then it gets rid of the odors: it is an instant deodorant.

Keep a bottle handy in home and office and use it. It makes you agreeable to others instead of disagreeable. Lambert Pharmacal Co., St. Louis, Mo., U. S. A.

Why You Should Never Cut a Corn

If you are troubled with corns or callouses, do not run the risk of blood poison by paring them. Statistics show that many deaths have occurred from this seemingly innocent practice of paring corns.

Simply go to your druggist and get a few cents worth of Ice-Mint, rub a little on any painful corn or callous. Immediately the pain will disappear and in a short time the corn or callous will loosen and lift off easily with the fingers—root and all—leaving the surrounding skin in a healthy normal condition.

This, together with the fact that Ice-Mint overcomes such affections as sore, tired, aching, pulled or burning feet and makes them cool, easy and comfortable, is probably responsible for the hearty endorsement given it by druggists.

To rid one's feet of every hard corn, soft corn, corn between the toes or painful callouses in such a pleasant and safe way, makes it seem the height of folly for anyone to pare a corn and people are warned to stop it.

CANNON PARRIES FINAL THRUSTS OF HIS ENEMIES

Re-elected to Methodist Temperance Board.

Dallas, Tex., May 22.—(AP)—Bishop James Cannon Jr. of Washington, D. C., tonight had parried the fourth and probably the final thrust of his enemies during the 41st quadriennial conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

The bishop again was named to the board of temperance and social service today after a determined movement to substitute Bishop A. Frank Smith of Houston had been crushed by the conference, 257 to 124. As the bishop member of the nationally known board, Cannon was expected to be chosen chairman, the post he held prior to the conference.

Bishop Cannon earlier had been cleared of a charge of unbecoming conduct in his political activities: the episcopacy committee had found that the charges of stock gambling against him did not warrant a trial after he had apologized for his transactions, and the conference had refused to record a protest against the action of the committee.

Daniels Assails Cannon.

Debate on the proposed ousting of the bishop from the board of temperance and social service was bitter and cries of "Tammany" and "Wet" caused two prominent Democrats and Methodist laymen, opponents of Bishop Cannon, to speak on a question of personal privilege.

Charles M. Hay of St. Louis, Democratic nominee for the United States senate in 1928, again voiced his dry views and expressed hope that the Methodist Church, South, would not drive out "all of us" who voted for Alfred E. Smith in the last presidential election.

Saying the honesty of his motives had been question, Josephus Daniels of Raleigh, N. C., secretary of the navy under President Wilson, denied that politics had anything to do with his opposition to Bishop Cannon. Some members of the audience hissed when Mr. Daniels concluded with the warning that "if you want to strike a deadly blow to prohibition, nominate a man who has had to apologize for stock gambling."

Succeed in Having Record Vote.

Opponents of Bishop Cannon succeeded in having a record vote taken on the proposed substitution after it had appeared they would be denied even that privilege.

The majority of the committee on temperance and social service, of which Mr. Daniels was chairman, nominated Bishop Cannon and ten others to the board. When the report reached the floor Dr. W. A. Newell of Greensboro, N. C., moved that Bishop Smith be substituted and the battle began.

WASHINGTON NOTES

Washington, D. C., May 22.—(AP)—Muscle Shoals legislation drafted along the lines suggested to congress by President Hoover will be taken up next Tuesday by the house with a view to securing final congressional action on the decade old problem at this session.

Jules Henry, chargé de affaires of the French embassy, delivered to the state department the official text of Premier Briand's proposal for a United States of Europe.

The war department approved the application of the Illinois department of public works for authority to widen a bridge over the Little Calumet river at Halsted street near 145th.

The senate passed the Howell bill to authorize the construction of a bridge across the Missouri river between Council Bluffs, Ia., and Omaha, Neb. The measure now goes to the house.

A bill by Senator Hawes [Dem., Mo.], to direct the interstate commerce commission to protect the interests of employés in railroad consolidations was passed by the senate and sent to the house.

The Fish resolution to establish a federal policy for sex equality in nationality in all international agreements was adopted by the house and sent to the senate.

The Vestal copyright bill to authorize this country to join the International Copyright union and to provide an automatic copyright law was approved by the house patents committee.

President Hooveer sent to the senate the nomination for reappointment of Frank T. Newton as marshal for the eastern district of Michigan.

MINISTER WHO SHOT TWO FREE ON $13,500 BOND

Ottawa, Ill., May 22.—[Special.]—The Rev. James A. Wilson, 59, Mendota Methodist minister who is under prison sentence for attempting to murder his church sexton, Amos Elliott, was released from the La Salle county jail under $13,500 bonds furnished before Judge Edgar Eldridge today. Seven prominent Mendota residents and members of his congregation furnished the bonds in order that their minister might be at liberty while his attorneys are waging a fight on a writ of error in the Illinois Supreme court, in an effort to set aside the verdict convicting him.

"I'm certainly glad to get out in the air and sunshine," said the minister as he left the county jail and departed by auto for Chicago with his wife and daughter, Mrs. Helen Ivins. He announced his intention of spending a long vacation at the Ivins home, working in the garden, and of taking treatment for deafness attributed to his attempted suicide after shooting both Mr. and Mrs. Elliott.

GOTHAM BUILDING COLLAPSES; TWO KILLED, 4 HURT

New York, May 22.—[Special.]—Four stories of steel framework for what was to have been a building extending 100 feet on 11th avenue and 200 on 51st street collapsed today and crumpled down into the foundations like a heap of metal shavings from a giant lathe.

One man was taken from the wreckage, dead, and another died on the way to the hospital. Four were injured.

HOUSE APPROVES SETTLEMENT OF GERMANY'S DEBT

Young Plan Sets Terms of 420 Million Obligation

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 22.—[Special.]—After a brief debate and over only slight opposition the house today approved the administration's plan for settling Germany's 420 million dollar war debt in accordance with the Young plan. A bill authorizing the settlement passed without a record vote.

With the bill through the house, administration leaders were confident of obtaining passage in the senate at this session and thus finally concluding the last phase of the debt negotiations growing out of the world war. Germany already has accepted the proposed agreement, and it has the indorsement of President Hoover as well as state and treasury departments.

What Bills Call For.

Two major obligations are met by Germany under the settlement, one on account of awards of the mixed claims commission and the other the costs of the United States army of occupation.

The bill calls for payment by Germany of $9,700,000 for fifty-two years to meet awards of the claims commission and of $6,026,000 for thirty-six years to meet army of occupation cost, a total of more than 737 millions, which includes 5% per cent interest on the army of occupation costs and 5 per cent interest on the mixed claims. The American treasury already has received $87,000,000 from Germany, which cut the total of the principal amount of both debts to about $420,000,000 on Sept. 1, 1929. The agreement is retroactive to that date.

Under the agreement the United States, along with Great Britain and France, accepts a 10 per cent reduction in army costs, amounting to $29,000,000, in accordance with the Young plan.

Bar McFadden Amendment.

It was the latter provision which aroused what opposition did appear in the house debate. Representative Louis T. McFadden [Rep., Pa.] charged that it committed this country to the Young plan and would involve it in the connection of reparations and debt settlements. He declared that the state and treasury departments have been "evasive" on this point.

Following up his attack, McFadden offered an amendment inserting the "express understanding that in this agreement there is no connection between German reparation payments and allied debts owing to the United States." The amendment was ruled out of order as not germane.

The bill was defended by Representative Willis C. Hawley [Rep., Ore.], chairman of the ways and means committee; Carl R. Chindblom [Rep., Ill.], Richard B. Wigglesworth [Rep., Mass.], and other administration followers.

Model Mountain Range Planned for 1933 Fair

Plans for the construction of a model of a mountain range for the 1933 World's Fair were discussed last night by a committee on mining and metallurgy appointed by the National Research council and officers of the fair. The range will be a maximum height of 250 feet and about 1,200 feet long. Its summit, in reality will be the roof of a steel building. The interior of the building will be used for geologic exhibits and the exterior will provide a natural setting for other exhibits.

In an actress it's Personality

in a cigarette it's Taste

IT TAKES SOMETHING MORE than good looks to hold the center of the stage—and something more than mere mildness in a cigarette to win the popularity that Chesterfield enjoys.

IT'S THE TASTE, of course—and there's a lot of difference between mildness alone and mildness with taste . . . between ordinary tobaccos and quality tobaccos . . . between ordinary blending and the Chesterfield blend.

TASTE A CHESTERFIELD! — Mildness is there, of course, but much more . . . delicate richness, fragrant aroma, and—"TASTE above everything".

We state it as our honest belief that the tobaccos used in Chesterfield cigarettes are of finer quality and hence of better taste than in any other cigarette at the price.

MONTREAL MEN VIEW TRIBUNE'S NEW PAPER SHIP

Will Carry 4,400 Rolls of Newsprint to Chicago.

BY STANLEY JACKSON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTREAL, Que., May 22.—With flags flying, the motor vessel Thorold of the Quebec and Ontario Transportation company, a subsidiary of the Ontario Paper company and THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE company, was inspected by a number of guests of the company yesterday afternoon at a reception held aboard the vessel. Many of the guests were shipping men of Montreal.

A party of officials of the company, including A. A. Schmon, vice president and general manager of the company was on hand to receive the visitors; also Capt. James Mackinstosh, who brought her over from England, where she was built.

First of Type Seen.

The vessel is the first of its type seen in these waters, having been built with specially constructed Diesel engines for the newsprint carrying trade on the great lakes between Thorold, Ont., where the head office and mills of the Ontario Paper company are located, and THE TRIBUNE plant in Chicago.

The Diesel type of engine, stated Mr. Schmon, was decided on after the company's experts had made an intensive study of the requirements of the vessel, and were built at the Sulzer Brothers plant in Switzerland. The ship has been constructed to carry 4,400 rolls of newsprint per trip, and presents a rather unique appearance in comparison with other vessels.

Many features may be found in her construction which place the ship in the latest class of marine building. Prominent among these are the minimum of space occupied by her powerful engines, the auxiliary Diesels, and all her deck machinery, which is electrically controlled. One novel feature is that the contents of any tank in the ship, whether oil or water, may be measured immediately by an ingeniously constructed gauge.

Is Steam Heated.

Another is the specially constructed exhaust from the main engines. This is led through a separate boiler and provides low pressure steam for heating purposes throughout the vessel. This boiler has a special oil firing jet for use when the engines are not operating.

The vessel has been equipped with the latest type of radio apparatus. She has two main cargo holds, each divided athwartships by bulkheads at their centers. The new ship can be transformed for grain or pulpwood transportation service in Canadian waters if necessary.

ACT TO REMOVE BODY OF LINCOLN KIN TO ARLINGTON

Springfield, Ill., May 22.—(AP)—The city health department today issued a permit for the removal of the body of Abraham Lincoln II. to Arlington cemetery, Washington, D. C., where it is to rest beside that of his father, Robert Todd Lincoln.

Abraham Lincoln II., grandson of the Emancipator, died in Lincoln, Ill., March 5, 1890, while his father was minister to the Court of St. James's. The body was buried Nov. 11, 1890, in a crypt in the National Lincoln monument in Oak Ridge cemetery here.

When it was determined to bury Robert Todd Lincoln in Arlington cemetery Mrs. Lincoln requested that the boy's body be moved there also.

YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE SOLVED

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: Rest

8 WIVES SHARE IN PROPERTY OF PERSIAN EX-SHAH

3 Princesses, Prince Among Beneficiaries,

New York, May 22.—[Special.]—A copy of the will of Sultan Ahmed Kajar, former shah of Persia, who died on Feb. 27 last in Paris, was filed in the Surrogate's court here today by attorneys for the Guaranty Trust company, which is made executor. The value of the estate elsewhere is not disclosed, the petition merely stating that the amount of personal property in this county, in the form of securities with the trust company, is over $25,000 and that so far as is known there is no real estate here.

The former shah left to his mother, Queen Malekeh-Djahan of Paris, his jewels and his real estate in Persia; also one-sixth of his securities.

Children Get Residue.

To his four legitimate children—three princesses and one prince—he left the residue of his estate, each princess getting one-fifth and the prince two-fifths. The children are:

Princess Maryam, 15; Princess Iran, 14; Princess Homayound, 13, and Prince Freydoun, 9.

To each of his eight "temporary wives" in Persia the shah left $1,000 outright and $600 a year until the children of each shall have attained the age of 20 years.

The shah's brother, Prince Mohammed Hasson Kajar, receives $6,000 a year income for himself and $6,000 outright for the upkeep of their father's tomb.

The Guaranty Trust company receives $2,500 for the upkeep of the testator's tomb.

Secretary Is Remembered.

His excellency Saleh Khan, who had been grand master of ceremonies at the court and secretary to the shah during his exile, received 4,000 pounds sterling, and his devoted chamberlain, Khazan Homayoun, 1,000 pounds sterling, Khazan, the chamberlain, has served four generations of Persian sovereigns.

Prince Ahmed Mirza Kajar was the seventh and last representative of the Kajar dynasty and was one of a large group of deposed Persian monarchs. Of them all he was said to be the wealthiest.

In October, 1925, when he was 30 years old, his dynasty was overthrown by the Reza Kahn, one of the most picturesque figures in Persian history, a soldier, adventurer, and former premier.

The young shah fled from the country and settled in Paris, creating a furor there by the ostentation of his household and the seemingly limitless extravagance of his habits.

LEWIS GRILLED IN ILLINOIS MINE INJUNCTION SUIT

Springfield, Ill., May 22.—(AP)—Subjecting John L. Lewis, international president of the old line faction of the United Mine Workers of America, to severe cross-examination, attorneys for State President Harry Fishwick of the Illinois miners this morning endeavored to force the union chief to admit that he had violated an injunction restraining him from interfering with union affairs in Illinois.

Lewis was on the stand defending himself from contempt charges for more than four hours yesterday. He was recalled this morning for questioning by attorneys for Fishwick, who obtained the order tying the hands of Lewis in this state and who brought contempt of court proceedings after the international leader of the old union is said to have disregarded the court order.

Lewis testified that following the issuance of the injunction last October, provisional officers and board members who had been appointed to replace Fishwick and his associates had been retained on the international union pay roll. The functions of the provisional group were suspended until late in March, although they still were being paid, he said.

Lewis' defense against the contempt charge is that the officers of the Illinois union have bolted from the United Mine Workers and set up as dual union, thus abandoning the shelter of their injunction.

PICK HIGH SCHOOL BOARD OFFICERS IN LAKE FOREST

Lake Forest's new high school board met last night and chose Ald. Fred J. Held as president and Attorney Calvin Trowbridge as secretary. In the drawing for terms, Dr. George N. Sleight, a Lake Forest college professor, drew a three year term; Henry Strenger, a plumbing contractor, and Ald. Held, two year terms, and Frank W. Read, president of the First National bank of Lake Forest, and Richard Bentley, Chicago lawyer, one year terms.

Lake Forest recently voted to withdraw from the Shields-Deerfield high school district, and the board is prepared to oppose any legal action by that district to prevent formation of the new high school district. A building, which with 35 acres of ground, will cost $750,000 is planned. It is to be ready for occupancy in two years.

The board started work on a tax levy which must be filed with the clerk of Lake county by July 1.

WM. HUBBARD, PHONE INDUSTRY PIONEER, IS DEAD

William Hubbard, pioneer in the telegrapn and telephone industry and member of the first graduating class at the Illinois Industrial university, now the University of Illinois, died yesterday at the Sherman hospital in Elgin. He was 80 years old and a native of Elgin.

WM. HUBBARD. [P. & A. Photo.]

Mr. Hubbard took up telegraphy in 1864. He entered the university in 1868 and, regular attendance not being requisite, was working as a telegrapher for the Union Pacific railroad at Greeley, Col., on Oct. 10, 1871 when the first appalling message of the Chicago fire went over the wires. He handled the message at Greeley.

When telephones first became practical, Mr. Hubbard entered that field, inventing an instrument which the old Chicago Telephone company used. He was made manager of that company in 1881 but left after some years to devote his energies to the development of the independent telephone interests.

His private collection of antiquated telephone and telegraph instruments is notable. He had assembled a collection of such instruments for Purdue university, was collecting one for Rosenwald Industrial museum until illness overtook him two months ago. He leaves two daughters, Mrs. Roy F. Webster of Chicago, and Mrs. Lyman L. Weld of Hubbard Woods.

M. C. WATTERS DIES SUDDENLY IN RAIL STATION

Mortimer C. Watters, 57 years old, retired official and part owner of the Fortune Products company, 725 West Van Buren street, died suddenly of heart disease last night at the Chicago and North Western railroad station.

Watters was taken ill a moment after he had greeted his brother, John E. Watters, and the latter's wife, of Rochester, N. Y., who had come here to visit him. Dr. Victor Horning, station physician, attempted to revive him.

Mrs. Rose E. Blair, Widow of Judge, Dies in West

Los Angeles, Cal., May 22.—[Special.]—Mrs. Rose E. Blair, widow of the late Judge Frank W. Blair, died here today at the home of a daughter. She was born near Winslow, Ill., in 1864, and in 1888 married Frank Blair, who became assistant state's attorney under Charles Deneen in Chicago. Mrs. Blair was a founder of the Los Angeles Parent-Teachers' association and active in club work. Two sisters, one residing in Belleville, Ill., and a son and daughter survive.

CITY NOTABLES AT RITES FOR JOHN POWERS

Members of the city council attended in a body yesterday the funeral of former Ald. John Powers, who had served for thirty-eight years as the representative of the old 19th and the present 25th ward. Thousands of the poor of the west side who recalled the helping hand extended by "Johnny de Pow" gathered at the north side residence where Powers spent his reclining years, 6038 Sheridan road, to mingle with notables of the city who were mourning the loss of a friend.

Among those attending were former Mayor Carter H. Harrison, President Anton J. Cermak of the county board, Coroner Herman N. Bundesen, Sheriff John E. Traeger, Probate Judge Henry Horner, Judge Francis Borrelli, Congressman A. J. Sabath, and scores of others besides the aldermen. Five of the aldermen who had served with Powers were pall bearers, John S. Clark, John J. Coughlin, James B. Bowler, Joseph B. McDonough, and Thomas F. Byrne. The others were Mr. Cermak, Judge Horner, and William J. O'Brien, former business partner of Ald. Powers.

Requiem high mass was sung at St. Ignatius church, Loyola and Glenwood avenues, and Father Bernard Heeney spoke on the life and death of Ald. Powers. Burial was in Calvary cemetery.

DEAN PATTERSON OF MICHIGAN U. IS DEAD AT 66

Ann Arbor, Mich., May 22.—[Special.]—George Washington Patterson, 66, dean of the college of engineering and architecture at the University of Michigan, died this afternoon in University hospital from a heart attack.

The funeral will be held Saturday afternoon at St. Andrew's Episcopal church, with Dr. Henry Tatlock, assisted by the Rev. Henry Lewis, officiating.

Dean Patterson came to the university in 1889 as an instructor of physics after receiving degrees from Yale university and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Besides the widow he is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Carroll B. Haff of Pelham Manor, New York, and a son, Robert R., of Bucharest, Rumania.

ADVERTISE IN THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE

ACTION ON CANAL BILL IN SENATE POSSIBLE TODAY

Revised Measure Reported by Committee.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 22.—[Special.]—The revised house rivers and harbors bill, which contains among its numerous items an authorization for federal completion of the Illinois state waterway project, was reported formally today to the senate from its committee on commerce.

Senator Hiram Johnson [Rep., Cal.], chairman of the committee, gave notice that he would ask to have it made the unfinished business as soon as matters now pending are out of the way. It is possible that the bill will be taken up tomorrow.

Its passage at this session seems probable, although Senator A. H. Vandenberg [Rep., Mich.] proposes to continue his opposition to the Illinois waterway and New York barge canal provisions.

Dislikes Revised Diversion Plan.

Dissatisfaction with the revised water diversion proviso applying to the Illinois waterway as approved by the committee last night was expressed today by Senator Vandenberg, who arranged for a conference tomorrow to be attended by the attorney general of several lake states hostile to Illinois.

The revised proviso declares that the diversion of water from Lake Michigan "shall be so controlled by the secretary of war under the supervision of the chief of engineers as to meet the needs of a commercially useful waterway" and also so as to "conserve fully existing interests of navigation on the great lakes." It also stipulates that nothing in the act "shall prejudice any action at law or in equity respecting the diversion of water from the great lakes watershed."

Sponsors of the Illinois waterway have been anxious to have incorporated a specific declaration recognizing the authority of the secretary of war to control the amount of diversion, but representatives of the lake states oppose everything of this character, insisting that the amount of water to be diverted shall be agreed upon in a compact of the states or else it should be restricted definitely by congress.

Total Authorizations Raised.

The bill as reported to the senate contained numerous amendments, the total authorizations being increased from 110 millions, as passed by the house, to probably 125 millions.

The modified provision relating to the upper Mississippi as approved yesterday states that "the existing project is hereby modified so as to provide a channel depth of nine feet at low water with widths suitable for long haul common carrier service, to be prosecuted in accordance with the plan for a comprehensive project to procure a channel of nine foot depth."

PLAN MODIFIED FLEXIBLE TARIFF IN CONFERENCE

House, Senate Groups May Agree Today.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 22.—[Special.]—A modified flexible tariff provision was discussed today by the senate and house conferees on the tariff bill. It is expected that the proposal, which is understood to have the approval of President Hoover, will be agreed upon tomorrow by the conferees. This will end the work of the conferees, who will submit their conference report to the two houses early next week.

Under the modified proposal the President would retain the present power to increase or decrease duties, but would be required either to approve the exact recommendation made by the tariff commission or else reject it.

The commission now investigates costs of production at home and abroad, but does not attempt to make an exact recommendation to the President who may increase or decrease duties by not more than 50 per cent. In requiring the President to act one way or the other it is intended to avoid a controversy such as took place in connection with duties on sugar when former President Coolidge failed to act on a report submitted by the tariff commission.

The plan contemplates the retention of the differences in cost of production formula for the present law instead of providing for an equalization of differences in competitive conditions as was proposed by the house bill.

While the President's power would be restricted somewhat the plan fails to provide any congressional check upon the flexible tariff as has been advocated in the senate.

The tariff conferees disposed of a few remaining amendments relating to the tariff commission. Salaries of members of the commission were fixed at $11,000, the house bill having fixed the amount at $12,000 and the senate bill at $10,000.

SPEEDY TRIAL SENDS BOMBER TO PENITENTIARY

Frank R. Phillips, alias Orton, 50 years old, former Canadian soldier, he says, as well as an ex-convict, was sent to Joliet penitentiary yesterday in one of the speediest trials recorded in the Criminal courts. He entered a plea of guilty to a charge of bombing as soon as the grand jury returned the indictment against him. Chief Justice D. J. Normoyle heard the evidence and imposed the statutory penalty of one to twenty years in the penitentiary.

The testimony was brief. Gus Fraggian, 507 North Clark street, a coffee house owner, said that on Jan. 1, 1929, his former place at 449 North Clark street was bombed. He said Phillips confessed this crime in his presence. Policeman Jack Greer told of how Roche trapped the bomber as he was about to bomb the place now occupied by Fraggian. The portion of Phillips' confession involving "King George" Hillarbos was retracted and the latter was liberated by Assistant State's Attorney C. Wayland Brooks, who handled the prosecution.

FIGHT TO RECALL DETROIT MAYOR BEING PRESSED

Petitions Are Circulated by Business Men.

Detroit, Mich., May 22.—[Special.]—A campaign to recall Mayor Bowles, formally launched last night, was under full swing today, and petitions demanding a recall election were being distributed. The necessary fund for the work was raised by 150 young business and professional men of Detroit and headquarters were opened today in 704 Cadillac Square building.

The petitions for the recall of the mayor cite 10 reasons.

The Reasons Summarized.

These as given at the head of the petitions, are as follows:

"He has tolerated lawlessness by law enforcement agencies.

"Delegated to Frank Dohany, accident lawyer, dictation over Detroit's $60,000,000 street railway.

"Gave Gillespie, professional lobbyist and bondsman, control of Detroit's public works programs, with power to dicker with contractors who had made him wealthy—and paving costs to the home builder increased 20 cents per yard in days of financial distress.

"Gave Gillespie official direction of public garbage disposal despite Gillespie's long private monopoly of this business.

"Destroyed efficient public service through dismissal of faithful employés.

"Threatened success of municipal ownership by attempted increase in car riders fares and unwarranted discharge of Street Railway Commissioner Frank Couzens.

"Made people fifteen pledges before election and again at inauguration; kept none.

"Substituted secrecy for frankness in public business.

"Seeks to weld street railway and other city employés into political machine by manipulation of patronage and public funds.

"Fired Harold H. Emmons as police commissioner, for ordering enforcement of law while Bowles was out of town."

Efficient Drive Planned.

Petitions for the recall of the mayor were approved by legal counsel of the group last night and were rushed into print. The committee at present contemplates not only circulation of the petitions by volunteers, but by some company equipped to do such work with speed.

The organization will be known as the "Citizens' Committee for the Recall of Mayor Bowles."

Before the people are asked to vote on the recall it is proposed to expand the charges made in the original petition, and to make specified statements with regard to the conditions which justify the action.

The committee avows the complete freedom of the organization from all selfish motives. None of its members is holding public office or is or will be a candidate for any office. The committee says it has no candidate for office to succeed Mr. Bowles if he is recalled.

His Chief Backer Is for Recall.

"The men who have joined in this movement are actuated by no other motive than to see that Detroit has a clean, efficient city government," said a committeeman. "They are pledged to consider no candidate for the office of mayor to succeed Mr. Bowles, and will not ally themselves with any candidate, should one appear pending the recall election."

Robert Oakman, millionaire real estate man and veteran politician, whose switch from John Smith to Mayor Charles Bowles had much to do with the latter's election, declared today that the mayor should be recalled.

Mr. Oakman was the chief backer of Mayor Bowles in the last campaign. He contributed thousands of dollars to the Bowles campaign fund.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Trials in eleven of the sixteen championship events of the Western conference track and field meet will be held this afternoon at Dyche stadium, Evanston, starting at 3 o'clock. The finals in all competition start tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Michigan, Ohio and Wisconsin stand between Illinois, the favorite, and its fourth successive title in the thirtieth annual championships. The Wolvegine squad has added incentive because Steve Farrell, veteran coach, retires at the conclusion of the season.

Favor Michigan in Sprints.

Michigan finished fourth in the indoor meet this year at Minneapolis, scoring 12¼ points, when Wisconsin nosed out Illinois for the title. The addition of the discus and hammer to the program helps Michigan, which also figures to score heavily in the sprints and place in the broad jump and quarter mile, besides winning the mile relay. Brooker Brooks and Francis Sanderson are Michigan's probable point winners in the discus. Holly Campbell should be an easy victor in the hammer.

Team balance will decide which university will gain the title. Illinois has two fine hurdlers in Lee Sentman and Robert Rodgers. Capt. Verne McDermont should place in the pole vault, while Robert Carr and Thomas Miller are expected to score in the high jump. Joe McKeever in the mile and Keith Hampton in the quarter are others on whom Coach Woerner is depending in his championship bid.

Dick Rockaway in the hurdles and George Simpson, sprint star, are the mainstays of the Ohio State contingent. Tom Jones is entering the largest squad and Wisconsin's hopes center on Ted Shaw, premier high jumper, and Sammy Behr in the shot put.

Warne May Set Mark.

Three conference records probably will be broken when the field stars start this afternoon. At least three other marks may be tied or broken.

Tom Warne of Northwestern has the best chance to set up a new standard in his pole vault specialty. He now shares the mark with McDermont at 13 feet 7 inches and his best jump this season is 13 feet 11⅛ inches. With perfect weather conditions Warne has a splendid opportunity to better the world mark of 14 feet 1⅛ inches held by Lee Barnes.

Campbell has done better than the record for the hammer throw, which is 161 feet 7⅝ inches, and is held by Ketz, a former Michigan athlete. The shot put mark is the third likely to be surpassed. Behr holds the record at

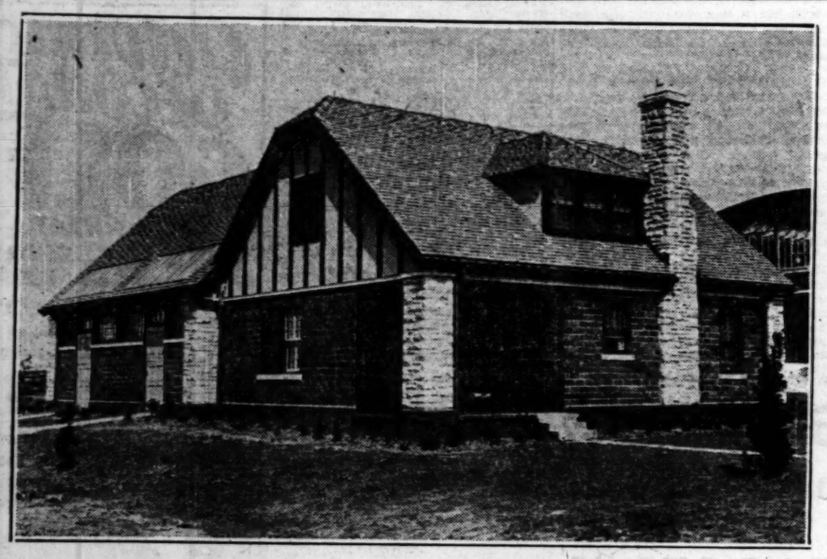
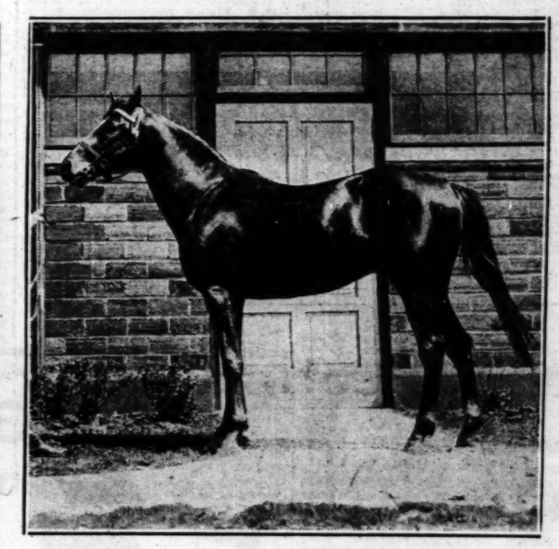
NEW QUARTERS AWAIT KING OF TURFDOM



Palatial stable and grooms' home at Leona farm near Cary, into which Reigh Count, the American turf champion of 1928, will move on Sunday morning. The barn, one of the finest on any thoroughbred farm in America, was built at a cost of about $30,000. Leona farm employes will give the big red horse a reception when he steps into his new quarters.



Reigh Count as he appears today as the sultan of the Leona thoroughbred harem on the John Hertz farm near Cary. Reigh Count was taken over to his new home yesterday for a final inspection of it.

Reigh Count to Open His New Home Sunday

BY FRENCH LANE.

There is to be quite a celebration at John D. Hertz' Leona farm, near Cary, next Sunday morning. The occasion will be a house warming for the American turf champion, Reigh Count, now well along in his first year as sultan of the Leona farm harem.

The fifty-six workers and members of their families on Leona farm yesterday were putting Reigh Count's palatial new home in order and getting ready to pay homage to the champion in a way every great champion should be honored.

Rivals Widener Stable.

Except for the stable on Elmendorf farm, near Lexington, Ky., where the famous Fair Play once stood and where Joseph E. Widener's stallions are quartered, Reigh Count's new abode is perhaps the finest on any thoroughbred farm in America.

It was built at a cost of a little more than $30,000, and aside from the stalls for Reigh Count and his roommate, Last Reveille, it contains living quarters of six rooms for Frank Owens, who is the stallion groom on Leona farm.

The barn occupied by Reigh Count and Last Reveille is 34 feet by 48 feet, and added to this are the groom's living quarters, 28 feet by 33 feet, and two stories high. Glazed tile of brown; ruble stone for the corners; stuccoed gables of brown; a red tile room, with ultra violet ray glass in many windows and in numerous sky lights, blend colorfully in the exterior.

Decorated in Hertz Colors.

Reigh Count should feel right at home there from the time he moves in, for his stall has been decorated in the familiar yellow and black colors which the Hertz horses carry on the turf.

His stall is 16 feet square and the ceiling, which is half skylight and half tile, is about 12 feet high. The floor is of clay and on the four sides, extending up for five feet, is a wall of walnut. Just to keep Reigh Count from leaving his foot prints in the walnut when he hears of a mediocre horse winning a famous stake to which he might think he is entitled, matting two and one-half inches thick has been placed over the walnut wall. The thick padding is so inviting that Reigh Count after being out late some night may decide to lean up against it and go to sleep without going through the conventions of preparing

4 Tribune Golf Students Grind for Final Exam Tomorrow

BY HARLAND ROHM.

In preparation for the playoff of THE TRIBUNE'S four novice golfers at Mid-City at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning, the four professionals who have been teaching the boys, devoted their final lessons to polishing the games they have built in the last month. None of the teachers gave his pupil any new shots, but each confined his efforts to rounding off the rough edges of what the boys had learned in earlier lessons. Tomorrow's competition will be 18 holes of medal play.

Alec Cunningham worked Howard Rich at North Shore on the brassie, midiron and chip shot with a mashie. Starting with the brassie, he worked to correct Howard's worst fault of breaking his left arm too much at the top of the swing, which brings the right elbow too high. The effect on the swing is that the weight comes through too fast and he slices.

"Keep the elbows close together," Cunningham told him, "and start the clubhead down with the hands a bit more."

Brin Does Nine in 57.

Jimmy Weager at Edgewater had Howard Brin trying all his clubs and then played nine holes. Probably because the boy was playing with three more experienced golfers, two of whom shot 38's on the nine, Brin didn't do as well as he has at Mid-City. His score for the nine was 57.

The professional was speeding up Brin's swing a little and insisting he use the clubhead. "Too much wrist in that one," he would say, "you hit the ball with the bottom of the club. Hit it a little smarter; you're too slow with your swing." Weager coached when Brin was short on several approaches.

Frank Williams at Skokie continued to work with Tom Milne on his swing, starting with a brassie on the tee. "Keep the back swing slow enough so that at the top you can feel the hands are right," he told the boy. "On the downswing don't worry about what your arms or hands are doing, the clubhead should be the only consideration on the shot. If you have the feeling you're throwing a weight on the end of a rope you are correct."

Keep Left Arm Straight.

Tom also had two of the most common faults of golfers, overswinging and letting his hands loosen up at the top of the backswing, so the club drops. Williams corrected the former by insisting on a straight left arm and the latter by having him put his left thumb on top of the shaft at the address so it would be under the club and support it at the top.

He worked on the short out of a sand trap for a time, in which he told Tom to chip the ball out unless it was buried, but in that case to explode it.

Randall Granquist, pupil of George Knox of Calumet, has been coming along in his game with 102 and 103 at Mid-City in his last rounds. Knox again started him on short pitch and run shots. "Tighten up your wrists a little," the professional said as Randall swung loosely, "and let the club go through just as far as you took it back. Keep an open stance."

Then he switched to the mashie, teaching him to hit down on the ball, hitting the ball first and then taking turf. "You can tell if you hit the ball well from the divot," he said. "If the divot is slanting, you've cut across the ball. Use both hands and hit through the ball.

"It isn't so much a matter of strength as it is of smoothness."

BY EDWARD BURNS.

George Uhle, who on Wednesday watched our Ted Lyons win a ball game with arm and bat, became an ornery plagiarist yesterday afternoon. He not only pitched a swell game, but like Ted, smacked out three hits, all of them heavy factors in his team's scoring enterprise. The Tigers evened the series by winning, 6 to 1.

Save for a homer by Smead Jolley, the first run of the game and the first major league homer Smead ever knocked, Uhle tamed the Sox completely. Otherwise not a man got to second. Smead smacked another of the six Sox hits, Reynolds made two, Hunnefield one, and Henry one. Shires got a walk. Thus only six Sox batsmen reached first, aside from that homer.

Tigers Claw Henry.

In the meantime the Tigers were most inconsiderate of the feelings of Mr. Henry, our debonair left hander. He was indeed fortunate that the enemy did not acquire many more tallies. In the third, fourth, fifth, sixth, and seventh innings the first batsman up produced a hit. In the eighth he retired the first two batsmen, but the inning turned out to be the Tigers' biggest session. They made three runs on two singles, a walk, and a triple.

Uhle scored the first Tiger run with two out, after singling in the third, drove in what proved to be the winning run with two out in the sixth, and scored another run after singling with two out in the eighth.

The Sox and Tigers will play the third of their four game series this afternoon and Hal McKain has been selected to oppose Chief Elon Hoggett, Cherokee lefthander, who trimmed the Sox recently in Detroit.

Cheering bulletins were issued during the afternoon in regard to the condition of Tommy Thomas, he of the ailing crazy bone. Tommy and his corps of specialists allow he'll be able to pitch the final here tomorrow or the opener at Cleveland Sunday. Thomas has been working out each day, and aside from the crazy bone is in prime condition.

Berg Comes Back.

One of the other Sox veterans jumped off the casualty list and got in the game yesterday. Moe Berg hadn't been in a game since April 5 prior to yesterday. Apparently Moe's knee trouble has completely vanished.

Jolley's maiden homer started the afternoon's scoring. J. Smead drove the ball over the scoreboard in deep right center to get the second inning under way. Cissell then tapped to Gehringer and Kamm and Berg both flied to Funk.

The 1 to 0 Sox lead was dissipated

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pittsburgh, Pa., May 22.—When Rogers Hornsby hits the ball, the Cubs go places. He hit today and his mates followed in his footsteps to attain a 12 to 5 victory over Pittsburgh in the second of the series. It was only the third win for the champions in 11 starts and was accomplished despite the hazards surrounding the employment of another pair of Joe McCarthy's rookie pitchers who are trying to succeed where the veterans failed.

The jolt the Cubs needed to bring them bounding out of their trance was furnished by the Rajah in the opening inning. With a man on base he sailed a drive over the wall.

Those two runs stood up until the fifth brought a tie, but the champions promptly started off again with two more runs off Jess Petty in the sixth, and it was Hornsby who led them with another long clout. From then on it was just a matter of Cub runs in quantities and a steady parade of Pirate flingers.

Regular Hurlers Ignored.

In keeping with his scheme to ignore the veteran hurlers until they decide to go to work, McCarthy gave the pitching assignment to Bob Osborn, and the young man was fair for a time. In three innings he yielded one run. In the fifth he gave up another which caused the aforementioned 2 to 2 tie. In the sixth, however, when a home run by Gus Suhr endangered the lead just taken by the champions, Lefty Moss was hurried into action and he kept things in order.

So long as he succeeded with rookie pitching talent today, McCarthy may take another chance tomorrow and pin his hopes on Lon Warneke. Hal Carlson will be available if there is a switch in plans. Brame is about Pittsburgh's only choice.

Homer Clears Scoreboard.

There was nothing of a bargain nature about the homer with which Hornsby harvested a two run lead for the Cubs in the opening inning. In advance of the blow English had doubled to left center, and Dan Taylor, playing because of the presence of a southpaw, had been whipped out by Bartell. Hornsby let the count drift only as far as one and one before he swung and sent the ball high over the scoreboard in left.

After choking off the Pirates on one hit for two innings, Osborn was nicked for two in the third, and a run resulted. Petty singled to right with one out. Brickell flied high to Wilson. Then Grantham sent one skimming along the ground just inside the first base line. It bounced off the right field concrete and just as Cuyler was about to grab it the ball took an unlooked for hop. This let Grantham stretch a double into a triple and let Petty go home.

Cuyler Cuts Off Run.

When a team explodes four hits in one inning and scores only once there is a reason. This happened to the Pirates in the fifth. Cuyler's arm was the reason. Bool opened the round with a hit and Bartell singled on a ball that took a bad hop over Hornsby. Petty fanned in an attempt to sacrifice. Brickell grounded to Bell, whose throw to Hornsby forced Bartell at second. Grantham singled and Bool scored. Then P. Waner singled and Brickell set sail for the plate, but Cuyler's peg nailed him.

Two runs which put the Cubs in front by a 4 to 2 in the sixth started with Hornsby doubling against the new screen placed in right to cut down the bargain homers. Wilson immediately scored him on a single to center. Hack was forced by Cuyler, who stole second on Petty's first pitch. Grimm's hit to center sent Cuyler home.

Grimm Leaps for Drive.

The first happening in the Pirates' half of the sixth was Grimm's one hand leaping catch of Comorosky's liner. It was well for the Cubs that this happened because Suhr followed with his home run into the upper reaches of the right field stand. Traynor flied out, but Bool walked and Bartell put him on third with a single. Braime was selected to swing for Petty, so McCarthy yanked Osborn for Moss, a southpaw. This induced the Pirates to substitute Flagstead, a right hand hitter. Fleagstead bounced into a forceout.

The Cubs collected two runs in the seventh, giving them a lead of 6 to 3. Spencer assumed the pitching burden in this session and fanned Moss. English then walked, went to third on a wild pitch, and scored on D. Taylor's single. Hornsby and Wilson walked, filling the bases, so Spencer was told he could leave. Changnon took his place and Cuyler was stopped on a grounder to Grantham, Taylor scoring. Then Jones was sent in to pitch to Grimm and Suhr made a leap for a hard liner which retired the side.

Get Five Bargain Runs.

The Cubs could hardly escape scoring five in the eighth. Jones wouldn't have it any other way. He walked Bell, and after getting the next two men, walked English and Taylor. Hornsby also walked, forcing Bell to score, and when Bool foolishly threw to second, English ran home from third. Comorosky dropped Wilson's fly and Taylor tallied. Then Cuyler delivered the only hit of the inning. It was a single through short, sending Hornsby and Wilson home.

A few hits off Moss in the eighth let the Pirates have a couple of runs that caused no worry. Then Hartnett completed the day's scoring in the ninth by hoisting a homer over the left field boards while Erickson, a southpaw, was laboring.

Senators Win 2d Twin Bill in 2 Days; Beat Red Sox 3-2, 13-1

Washington, D. C., May 22.—(AP)—For the second time in two days the Washington Senators made a clean sweep of a double bill at the expense of the Boston Red Sox, scoring 3 to 2 and 13 to 1.

In the first game a tight pitching duel developed between Hadley and Gaston, but the Senators broke through for a win. In the night cap Burke held the Sox to six scattered hits while his teammates bunch 18 off Morris and Shields. The Senators acquired a two run lead in the first and scored in all but two succeeding innings, twice with four runs.

Uhle Hurls and Bats Tigers to Win Over Sox

in a hurry. Uhle launched the first of the third with a single to center. Funk grounded to Cissell, who made the play to Hunnefield on second too late to force Uhle. Hunnefield tried to relay the ball to Shires but let loose of the thing just as Uhle hit him, the throw going into the stands. Uhle went to third on the error and Funk proceeded to second. Gehringer lined to Hunnefield. Hunnefield went into left to get McManus' high fly but the catch threw him off balance, enabling Uhle to touch up at third and score the tying marker. Hunnefield continued a busy man by throwing out Alexander from deep short.

The Tigers also got the first batsman on base in the fourth, fifth and sixth, but it was not until the sixth that they could produce a score. Then they produced two runs after two were out.

Fothergill Hits Double.

Fothergill led off with a double to left. Rice tried to sacrifice and popped to Berg. Rogell was thrown out by Cissell, Fothergill going to third. Hargrave walked. Uhle singled to right center, Fothergill scoring and Hargrave taking third. Funk singled, scoring Hargrave, Uhle stopping at second. Cissell threw out Gehringer.

In the eighth the Tigers for the third time did their scoring business after two were out. Rogell filed to Metzler and Hunnefield threw out Hargrave. Then Uhle got his third hit, a single to left. Funk walked, and then Gehringer tripled over Reynolds' head, scoring Uhle and Funk. He scored himself when McManus singled to center. Blankenship replaced Henry and Alexander grounded to Cissell.

Caraway pitched the ninth, and nary a Tiger reached first.

Tractor Hurlers Turn In No Hit Game; Beat Teletype

Kurn and Steininger pitched a no-hit game against the Teletype nine yesterday and the International Harvester Tractors triumphed, 2 to 1.

REIGH COUNT TO OPEN HIS NEW MANSION SUNDAY

for his soft bed of straw, which always covers the floor of clay.

From the top of the walnut to the ceiling is the tile of yellow and black, the colors Reigh Count carried to victories in the Kentucky Derby, Lawrence Realization, the Saratoga Cup, the Jockey Club gold cup, the Coronation cup in England, and other famous turf fixtures.

Feed Box of Porcelain.

The portion of the ceiling not occupied by the skylight is of Spanish mission type and in one corner of the spacious stall is his feed box of porcelain. Water is also served from a porcelain bowl and there's every other equipment of the modern home except an orchid bathroom. The turf champion must take his morning plunge in front of a hose, with an attendant aiming it at him in the open during the warm weather and in a 16 by 18 foot room known as Reigh Count's den, just across the hallway from the stalls which he and Last Reveille occupy when the sun is not shining.

Work on Reigh Count's new home was started last fall, not long after his public said farewell to him following an exhibition run at Arlington Park, in which he was ridden by Earl Sande. From the windows on two sides of his stall he can look out at the green paddocks on Leona farm and by next year will see the mares from his harem, with his sons and daughters at their sides, grazing and playing.

Such is the life of a retired champion of the turf. Reigh Count's harem this year includes 17 from Leona farm and a dozen royally bred mares owned by A. B. Hancock, Marshall Field, Otto Lehmann, Val Crane, Mrs. Payne Whitney, H. T. Archibald, Phil T. Chinn, Herbert B. Swope, and Mrs. Penn Smith.

Horses Begin to Fill Stalls at Homewood

Star racers from the four corners of the country began arriving at Washington Park yesterday for the opening of the Chicago turf season at the Homewood course on Monday afternoon.

The eastern division of Audley Farm stable arrived in charge of Trainer Miller Henderson, and the western division of the Rancocas stable came in from Baltimore in charge of Frank Taylor. Col. P. M. Walker's string of fourteen also came from Baltimore, and in his band was the American Derby candidate, Royal Panoply.

Six horses from the eastern division of Mrs. Payne Whitney's Greentree stable were arrivals. They will join the western division, which will be in charge of Trainer Edward Haughton. Mose Goldblatt, trainer of the western division of the Harry Payne Whitney band, wired that the twenty-two horses in his charge will arrive on Sunday morning.

Numerous Chicago racing outfits were in the big shipment which came yesterday from Churchill Downs in Kentucky. High Foot headed the Nash brothers' Valley Lake stable band, and Trainer John Partridge says his bad showing in the Kentucky Derby was an accident. "He will make amends for that defeat in the American Derby," Trainer Partridge declared.

Mose Lowenstein arrived with the string of LeMar stable horses. Mistep is the star of the outfit and is to start in the Washington Park handicap at six furlongs, which features the opening program.

Dedicate, Fred M. Burton's 3 year old, which went amiss in training shortly before the Kentucky Derby, arrived at the head of the Everglade stable string. He is back in training, and his conditioner, John Ward, hopes to get him to the post in the American Derby, and perhaps earlier in an overnight event. Tannery, another Derby disappointment, came from Churchill Downs in the E. F. Pritchard band, and he also may start in Monday's Inaugural.

ELECTRIC STARTING in Larger Sea-Horses

ALTERNATE FIRING
in Smaller Sea-Horses

GREAT news for all who buy outboard motors this year!

Larger Sea-Horse models—world's speed champions—now come with electric starter of amazingly simplified light weight design as optional equipment. It also charges battery and makes the motor non-stalling even at the slowest crawl.

Alternate firing in Sea-Horses "4" and "12" is an equally great advance in small motors. Two sparks per revolution, instead of one, make starting the easiest ever known in rope-started models and cut vibration in half.

See these revolutionary outboards at the nearest dealer listed below. Or write for color-illustrated catalog. Eight models, $125 to $395, f.o.b. factory, with features like the Water-cooled Underwater Exhaust and Release Charger that make Sea-Horses outsell all other makes combined.

Sold and serviced by dealers listed below.

RUTH, GEHRIG HIT 3 HOMERS; YANKS BEAT A'S TWICE

Babe Sets Record in 10-1 and 20-13 Victories.

Philadelphia, Pa., May 22.—(AP)—The New York Yankees turned the tables on the Athletics today and won both games of their second successive double header in a pair of amazing slugging matches. The scores were 10 to 1, and 20 to 13.

One record was broken and two were tied in the second game and Babe Ruth set a mark of his own by hitting two home runs in the first game and one in the second to make it six in two days and 12 for the season. His total put him in a tie with Hack Wilson for major league leadership.

Lou Gehrig hit three homers in the second game and equalled the American league record by batting in eight runs. Ten home runs in this contest, divided by the two teams, tied the record for the major leagues. The former American league mark was eight.

George Pipgras had no trouble winning the first game for the Yankees, holding the world's champions to six hits. A triple by Mule Haas after McNair had singled in the seventh deprived him of his fourth successive shutout. The Athletics used six pitchers and the Yankees four in the second game, in which New York made 21 hits and Philadelphia 15. Scores:

Big Ten Coaches Draft Grid Schedules for 1931 and 1932

Football coaches and athletic directors of the Big Ten, after a twelve hour session yesterday, drew up the 1931 schedule with the exception of one game. Opponents for 1932 also were named, but the dates for these games will not be determined until next year.

Iowa's game with Nebraska on Nov. 21 blocks the Iowa-Northwestern game, the only conference contest of the 25 for which the coaches could not find a spot on the schedule. Iowa hopes to get Nebraska to change the date and will offer Oct. 31, Nov. 7, and Nov. 14 as substitute days. The coaches adjourned early this morning and will meet at noon today at the North Shore hotel, Evanston. By that time Iowa hopes to have an answer on the proposed schedule change.

Purdue Agrees to Change.

If Nebraska selects Nov. 14, the Iowa-Purdue game now scheduled for that date will be switched to Nov. 7.

Michigan and Chicago will meet Oct. 10 at Stagg field. Fielding Yost and Harry Kipke agreed with Coach Stagg on the early date when none other could be found.

Minnesota's return game at Stanford on Oct. 10 was another stumbling block for the schedule makers. The Gophers wanted to leave Oct. 17 open because of the loss in practice time due to the long trip, and as a result had difficulty in finding dates for their four conference opponents.

48 feet 3 inches. At the Minnesota relays he surpassed this by 6 inches, and he has been consistently around the 48 foot mark all season.

Conference records in the 100 yard dash, high jump, and one mile relay also may be tied or broken. Eddie Tolan's world mark of 9⅖ seconds is the particular desire of George Simpson of Ohio State. Simpson has run the hundred in one-tenth of a second less, but his time was not recognized by the International Federation because he used a mechanical starting aid.

Shaw Star in High Jump.

Ted Shaw has done a fraction of an inch better than 6 feet 6 inches, the high jump record established by Russell of Chicago in 1925. More frequently, however, he has been just under this height in the early campaigning.

Lee Sentman may equal the 14.6 second high hurdle mark of Guthrie of Ohio State if weather conditions are right. He has done the high barriers in this time, which lacks only one-fifth of a second of tying Thompson's world record.

The athletic directors of the conference will meet this morning at 10 o'clock at the North Shore hotel. The basketball and football coaches also meet at the same time, with the track coaches going into session an hour later.

The faculty representatives have their annual meeting at 8:30 this evening.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

EARLIER CHICAGO.

FRIEND HARVEY: The present generation of racing devotees board a hot train, ride all night, wake up in Louisville all tired out to see a big hoss race, return the same night in another hot train, and think they have "got fun."

Therefore I envy the old timers, of whom I am one, who leisurely wended their way to Washington Park track at 61st and Cottage Grove avenue, where the great American Derby was run.

It was a show in itself to view the fine equipages, pretty girls on top of tallyhos, and society on parade—society so representative it never has been approached since. Among the prominent families of the time who never missed a Derby at the exclusive clubhouse were the Armours, Marshall Fields, Potter Palmers, Arthur Catons, Edson Keiths, Carter Harrisons, Gen. Jos. R. Stockton (the J. Ham Lewis of his day in politeness), the Dibblees, and scores of others.

Why, Harvey, you must remember, as a boy, Pink Coat, Robert Waddell, The Picket, Wyeth, Sidney Lucas, and Highball, even if you do not date back to Modesty in 1884, when the first American Derby was run. And surely you know the names of Isaac Murphy, Tex Covington, Snapper Garrison, and others. Those were the days of chivalry in racing. M. L. Hidy.

In 1851 Hamberger & Spiegels conducted a wholesale beverage house at Randolph and Michigan. The main storeroom was in the basement, where large barrels of cider were left to ferment. The cider then was mixed with blackberry treacle, an elegant blackberry brandy resulting. One evening I went to the basement to do a little extra work and was badly frightened by the explosion of a bung from one of the cider barrels. Kankakee River.

It's the same old bunk we hear each day,
And enough to give you the Willies, I'll say.
"All filled up. Nothing coming this way."

Wheels around in her squeaky chair,
Gives you the awfulest icy stare
And tells you something you surely know—
That things are dreadfully, dreadfully slow.

That position in the second division for our Cubs is a bit disconcerting. But when "Murderers' Row" is not murdering and our pitchers are not missing the bats of our rivals, we're fortunate to be as close to first place as we are even when ranking fifth.

JACK HOWE WINS BY FIVE LENGTHS OVER FAST FIELD

Flood Control Runs 2d at Aurora.

Jack Howe, noted sprinter of last winter, returned to winning form at Aurora yesterday, and with R. Ayraud in the saddle made a show of his field in the Pere Marquette handicap at 5½ furlongs.

Jockey Ayraud, who has been riding brilliantly at Aurora, earlier in the afternoon had landed a contract to ride the horses of Harry Sinclair's Rancocas stable, and he rode Jack Howe as if he wanted to show the millionaire oil magnate that no mistake had been made in giving him this important engagement.

He was opposed by five other smart sprinters, but Ayraud got Jack Howe away from the barrier flying and he soon urged him into a four length advantage. That happened at the end of the first furlong, and Jack Howe was just breezing along in front of all his rivals from there until the finish.

Bramstar from the Dearborn stable tried to keep step in the early stages, but found the pace too stiff, although he ran gamely to the final sixteenth, where Ald. Coughlin's Flood Control got up to beat him out of second money.

Jack Howe went on to win by five lengths. He ran the 5½ furlongs in 1:06 2-5, one of the fastest races of the season. He was heavily backed and paid $5.82 to win, $4.06 to place, and by a queer twist of the mutuels $4.18 to show. Flood Control was at $21.12 to place and Bramstar $9.54 to show. Irish was the big disappointment of the race, but appeared lame going to the post.

Jockey Mulrooney was the star of the afternoon. He rode three winners, opening the program with a victory on The Abbot and later booting Tanis' and Prospect to victory.

Von Porat 8-5 Choice to Beat Gagnon Again

Whether Otto Von Porat will be numbered among the challengers to the winner of the Sharkey-Schmeling fight in New York on June 12 will be decided Wednesday night, when the Norwegian heavyweight meets Jack Gagnon of Boston in the ten round windup of the Chicago Stadium boxing show.

Von Porat and his manager, Ed Stevenson, regarded the matter as practically settled, pointing to the fact that Otto stopped the Boston sailor in four rounds in a prior engagement. The Norwegian has been made an 8 to 5 favorite to repeat his victory.

Stadium officials announced yesterday that the ten round semi-windup between Larry Johnson and Paul Swiderski had been cancaled. The latter withdrew because of a cut on his lip incurred in his battle with Mickey Walker in Louisville last Friday. Johnson's opponent has not been chosen.

Other bouts on the card include a six rounder between Haakon Hansen and Victorio Livan, the latter a stablemate of Gagnon. Henry Lenard, South African featherweight, is matched with Marty Fields of the west side in another six round fight.

Von Porat continued training drills at Barry's gym yesterday. Gagnon is scheduled to arrive this morning and will resume training at the Arcade gym.

Roosevelt Preps Capture Triangular Track Tourney

Roosevelt High school scored 41⅓ points yesterday to win a triangular track meet at Chase park. Schurz was second with 40, and Lake View third, with 37 1-3. Moore of Schurz was the leading scorer, winning the 100 yard dash, 220, and 440. He was second in the low hurdles. Roosevelt won five first places.

Outdoorsmen! Prepare for War with Insect Pests

BY BOB BECKER.

Any one going into the north woods for fishing, camping, canoeing or other outdoor sport had better be prepared to give battle to some of the insect pests which make their unwelcome appearance at this time of the year. The mosquitoes and black flies got away to a flying start this year due to the unusually warm weather early in May. Trout fishermen who went north during the first two weeks of the month reported plenty of these insects, and the boys had to trot out their dopes and lotions to ward 'em off.

On our recent fishing trip into Michigan we were bothered but little during the early part of the trip because of a cool north wind. However, before we left the streams the last afternoon of the trip the sun had come out and with it came the pestiferous flies and skeeters.

Even in the more accessible woods close to Chicagoland the insect pest is the most serious hardship that fishermen and campers are obliged to meet. Farther north the situation is worse at certain times of the year, and it is a fact that the closer you get to the arctic regions the worse the mosquitoes are. In the tropics you must be prepared for pretty much, the same battle.

Thus these two widely separated locations—the arctic regions and the tropics—are in about the same class. They produce enough insect pests to drive an outdoors man crazy. Our experience bears this out. The only time that we have ever had to resort to headnets and gloves to foil mosquitoes and enable us to get around without being chewed up was when we were in the Amazon valley and in the interior of Alaska.

OPEN SERIES TOMORROW.

The Nashville Elites of the National Negro league arrived here yesterday for a five game series with the Chicago American Giants. The teams will clash in the first game of the series tomorrow. A double-header is scheduled for Sunday.

THE TOP-FLITE $15
THE SPEEDWIN $10

The Top-Flite is the fastest racket in tennis. The Speedwin is Spalding's answer to the demand for a $10 racket that would embody many Top-Flite features. Both have open throat construction which gives greater whip. Smaller, lighter heads permit tighter stringing, faster stroking. Strung with the finest gut, the famous Top-Flite is $15. Frame alone $8.50. The Speedwin, strung with Humidex, is an unbeatable racket value at $10.

The New Gillette Blade makes your damaged old type Gillette Razor
a serviceable shaving instrument

THE NEW Gillette Blade has restored thousands of damaged, old type Gillette Razors to active shaving service.

These veteran razors had become damaged through years of daily use. They were dropped on the floor. The corners of the razor caps and the guard teeth were bent. Poor shaves resulted, for the bent corners forced the blade out of alignment.

The New Gillette Blade remedies this defect

The dented corners of the razor caps and the bent teeth can no longer spoil the shave.

A glance at the illustrations will show you how this sweeping improvement has restored thousands of these discarded razors to useful service.

But of course the New Gillette Blade in a New Gillette Razor is the best shaving combination.

BROKERS' LOANS VEER UPWARD DURING WEEK

Small Rise Conforms to Dull Market.

BY O. A. MATHER.

Brokers' loans veered upward again in the last week, but the increase of [illegible],000,000, as shown in the federal reserve board's weekly report yesterday, was nothing to get excited about. It followed two successive weekly decreases which aggregated $267,000,000. Furthermore, the current total of $[illegible],000,000 is still $1,505,000,000 below the figure of a year ago.

In view of the dull and vacillating stock markets, not much change had been expected either way in Wall and La Salle streets. The boys who run the pools in stocks have been a bit active and probably have borrowed a little more money to carry their favorite stocks, as also have buyers of stocks on a price scaledown. But neither the professionals nor the amateurs have been much inclined to get in or off first base.

Expand New York Loans.

The New York banks continued to obtain the requisite cash for stock brokers' loans. They increased their own loans by $37,000,000, and now are lending $238,000,000 more than a year ago. The interior banks held their loans stationary, but are furnishing $582,-[illegible],000 less than a year ago. On the other hand, corporations and other lending lenders withdrew $30,000,-000 and now are lending $1,752,000,000 less than a year ago.

Neither the New York Federal Reserve bank nor the Bank of England made any change yesterday in their 1 per cent discount rates. But no change had really been expected, although the usual gossip concerning further reductions appeared in market circles. However, call money has been begging this week at 3 per cent and it is doubtful if even cheaper money would inspire much whoopee in the stock market.

Still another picture of continued light demand for credit for commercial purposes was shown in the weekly statement of the federal reserve system, issued last night. Borrowings of the member banks remained practically stationary, totaling $209,999,000. Neither the New York nor Chicago city banks are borrowing from their respective reserve institutions. However, the reserve banks did take on an additional $15,849,000 of bankers' acceptances and just about maintained their holdings of government securities.

Total Reserves Steady.

While gold reserves increased $2,-[illegible],000, total reserves remained about steady. The ratio of reserves to liabilities eased to 83.5 per cent, compared with 83.6 per cent a week ago. Deposits expanded $18,081,000, while note circulation declined $12,234,000. Gold imports totaled $2,515,000 in the last week, coming from Latin American countries, while there were no exports and gold earmarked for foreign account showed a net decrease of $1,900,000.

The report of the New York reserve bank showed a decline of $1,024,000 in member bank borrowings, bringing the total to $29,280,000. Bankers' acceptances increased $15,243,000, which was almost the amount of increase shown for the reserve system. Deposits moved up $13,916,000. Reserves increased $16,766,000, but the reserve ratio eased to 84.5 per cent, compared with 84.8 per cent last week.

Averages Decline.

The report of the Chicago reserve bank showed practically no change in member bank borrowings, the total being $13,778,000. Bankers' acceptances also held about stationary. Deposits increased $2,547,000. Reserves declined $[illegible],000 and the reserve ratio sagged to 82.1 per cent, compared with 83.4 per cent a week ago.

The average price of 103 stocks representing twelve industrial groups declined 4.31 points during April, according to the New York Trust company. Stocks of only three industrial groups showed an advance during the month, these being ten public utilities, the oil companies and five leather and shoe concerns.

Chicago Clothing Industry Gives Livelihood to Many

BY SCRUTATOR.

The manufacture of clothing is one of the important industries in the Chicago metropolitan area. Considerably more than 40,000 men and women gain a livelihood in it, on the basis of 1927 figures from the census of manufactures, the latest available.

Chicago, confined to its political boundaries, had itself an average of 33,285 persons at work two years ago in seven divisions of clothing manufacture. These divisions were men's and boys' garments, women's dresses and coats, work clothing, corsets and allied goods, knit goods, gloves of cloth and leather, and shirts.

In addition there were establishments of more or less importance in Lake county, Ind., and Lake, Kane and Will counties in Illinois. In Kenosha, Wis., well within the real metropolitan area, several thousand wage earners are usually employed in the making of knit goods.

Millions in Wages.

Chicago alone turned out in 1927 clothing with a factory value exceeding 200 million dollars. Wages paid were between forty-five and fifty millions. As no complete figures are tabulated by official bodies for the metropolitan area, estimates must serve. These are placed here at 275 millions for value of product and about seventy millions of wages in an average year.

The largest single source of employment in the Chicago clothing field was the making of suits and coats for men and boys. It took the labor of 19,494 men, and paid them $31,-018,295. To make women's clothing in the city alone required the services of 9,709 whose pay was $11,362,129. The average wage of the men's clothing factory worker would thus appear to have been in excess of $1,500 in the year under consideration.

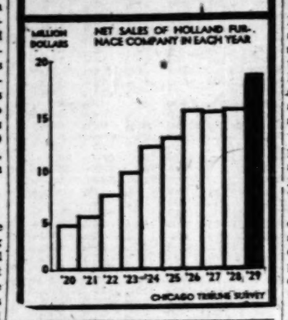
Those who have had the impression that the corset business was on the rocks may be surprised to learn that Chicago's output of these garments and those which the learned statisticians classify as "allied" exceed $7,500,000, and that 1,165 persons were engaged in making them. Besides the sixteen establishments in this business in the city there were two others in Kane county. The area's production was considerably above 10 per cent of the total in the country, which was about seventy-three million dollars.

Seen Favorable Location.

New York ranked first among the cities of the United States in clothing manufacture and undoubtedly still holds the lead. Despite the current depression, the latest figures of the Illinois bureau of labor statistics show that in March the clothing and millinery trade in the state, with the metropolitan area dominating to the extent of three-quarters of the whole, was employing 86.9 per cent of the average of 1925 to 1927. The employment in men's clothing was further off, but the state's statistics indicate that as a center of women's clothing manufacture, Illinois and Chicago have been growing during the last two years.

No other area in the United States, with the exception of New York, has so large a clothing industry as this one. The employment it offers takes up about 8 per cent of all wage earners in manufacturing lines. This proportion is not so large as it was in 1923, but is unlikely to fall much further in the near future. Accessibility of markets and the supply of skilled clothing workers make Chicago and the surrounding territory still a favorable locale for the establishment of factories.

HOLLAND FURNACE SHOWS CONTINUOUS GAIN FOR TEN YEARS



EXPECT MIDDLE WEST MARKETS TO BENEFIT FROM GAS SUPPLIES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 22.—Middle west markets are expected to benefit in supplies of natural gas from Kentucky districts as the result of acquisition of control of the American Fuel and Power company by the American Utilities and General corporation, Moody-Seagraves company, and the Hope Engineering company.

The American Fuel and Power company was formed in January, 1929, to hold controlling interest in the Inland Gas corporation and the Kentucky Fuel Gas company. The holding company controls proven natural gas reserves of 200,000,000,000 cubic feet in eastern Kentucky.

The new groups in the control of American Fuel have secured also additional properties in the adjacent fields which will give the three companies control of some of the most extensive reserves east of the Mississippi river.

Subsidiaries of the Kentucky Fuel and Power supply natural gas to some of the larger cities of Kentucky and southern Ohio. It is assumed in some quarters that lines will be pushed to some of the large Ohio cities and possibly to other cities of the middle west.

Stock Splits, Dividend Changes Are Announced

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 22.—The American Machine and Foundry company and its subsidiary, the International Cigar Machinery company, have announced split-ups in their respective common shares on the basis of five-for-one and two-for-one. The plan of American Machine calls for the approval by stockholders of an authorized capital stock increase from 300,000 no par shares at 1,500,000.

Inspiration consolidated Copper company about 31 per cent, of whose shares are owned by Anaconda, today joined the list of copper companies which have reduced their dividends by halving its quarterly rate to 50 cents a share. Three months ago $1 a share was declared. The directors of the Greene Cananea Copper company, which is controlled by the Anaconda Copper company, postponed action on the dividend until next month.

Will Cut Wages.

The Calumet and Hecla Consolidated Copper company will reduce miners' wages 10 per cent effective July 1. This will bring the wage scale back to the level prevailing before March 1, 1929.

Austin, Nichols & Co., Inc., today declared an initial quarterly dividend of 75 cents a share on the prior A stock, placing the issue on a $3 annual basis. The company stated that the preliminary report for the year ended April 30 showed net profit of about $212,000 after taxes and charges, compared with $197,235 in the preceding year. On April 30 the company's bank loans were $800,600, compared with $1,050,000 a year earlier. Cash receivables and the inventory remained about the same as a year earlier. Under the plan to exchange the preferred stock of Austin Nichols & Co., for prior A and new common stock there have been deposited more than 31,300 shares of the 42,400 outstanding preferred shares.

Other Payments.

Commercial Investment Trust has again declared a quarterly 1-52 of a share in stock or $1.50 a share on its convertible preference stock the choice of which kind is optional with shareholders. The regular 40 cents cash and 1½ per cent. Quarterly stock payments were ordered on the common, as were the quarterly cash dividends of $1.75 and $1.62½, respectively, on the 7 and 6½ per cent. First preferred stocks.

National Bond & Share corporation declared an initial dividend of 25 cents on its capital stock. The Mesta Machine company declared an extra of 10 cents and the regular quarterly dividends of 40 cents on the common and $1.50 on the preferred. The quarterly dividend of 75 cents on Mohawk Carpet Mills, Inc., due at this time, has been omitted.

Director of Chatham Phenix Allied corporation declared an initial dividend of 50c per share on the common stock.

Salt Co. to Split Stock, Offer Rights, New Dividend

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 22.—A three for one splitup, an offer of rights and an increase in dividend rate have been voted by the directors of the International Salt company. A special meeting of stockholders will be called on June 17 to ratify the proposed splitup and offer of rights. The splitup calls for the exchange of the present $100 par stock for three shares of new no par stock. Holders of the new stock will be given the right to subscribe to one new share at $36 per share for each three new shares held after the splitup.

Will Discuss Fox Film Program at Convention

Harley L. Clarke, president of the Film corporation and Fox theaters, is leaving today for Los Angeles with some 100 representatives of the firm from all parts of the world to attend the movie company's annual convention. It has been announced that Fox Film will spend $22,000,000 on the production of talking motion pictures for the season 1930-'31. The company's plans will be discussed at the convention. Delegates from England, the near east, Australia, and Cuba will arrive here in eight cars today from New York and will depart over the Santa Fé for California.

JOHN CARROLL IN TALK FAVORS BRANCH BANKING

Branch banking was favored by John A. Carroll, president of the Hyde Park-Kenwood National bank and one of the leading outlying bank executives in the city, in a talk which he gave before Group Eleven, Illinois Bankers' association at the Medinah Athletic club yesterday.

JOHN A. CARROLL.

"Unit banks have served a very useful purpose in the development of America, but that purpose has now passed," Mr. Carroll said. "Unit banks were of the age of the horses. Branch banks belong to the motor age. Moreover, it makes little difference what we think about branch banking; whether we want it or not, it is on its way, nothing can stop it."

LEARN THAT O. P. VAN SWERINGEN RESIGN OFFICES

Washington, D. C., May 22.—(AP)—O. P. Van Sweringen, Cleveland railroad magnate, has resigned all of the important official positions with railroads that he has heretofore held except a place as director of the Missouri-Pacific railroad, which is the most recently obtained of his railroad interests.

This fact became public today when Van Sweringen and six of his associates made formal application to the interstate commerce commission for permission to serve as directors of the Missouri-Pacific. In filing his own application, Van Sweringen said that he had resigned as chairman of the board of the Chesapeake and Ohio and as director of the Nickel Plate, Père Marquette and Hocking Valley systems.

First Quarter Loss of Aviation Corp. Is $863,651

New York, May 22.—(AP)—The Aviation corporation today reported loss of $863,651 for the first quarter. The company, organized March 1, 1929, showed a deficit of $696,727 from that date to Dec. 31, last. Loss from operations, before depreciation, totaled $580,265 in the first three months of this year.

Reports April Increase in Sheet Steel Output

April steel sheet production totaled 308,988 net tons, against 259,658 in March, according to the National Association of Flat Rolled Steel Manufacturers.

New York, May 22.—For the fifth time this year, sales on the New York Stock exchange fell below the 2,000,000-share mark today. The total was officially announced at 1,860,520 shares, the smallest for a full trading day since Jan. 20, when the world's minimum—so far—of 1,692,000 was recorded.

Nobody slipped a joint in an effort to start anything in any direction and the tale of the day's proceedings must be a pretty dreary chronicle. Bear operators succeeded in forcing a number of stocks to lower levels—without, however, going to any great pains to do it. A number of others slipped off by their own weight, although a number tilted—or were tilted—to higher ratings in a belated rally.

Close analysis of the returns probably would give the opposing factions a 50-50 break on the day's honors, with neither having anything in particular to cheer about. A dull day, a monotonous day, it was.

Case Cuts Up.

Case Threshing Machine went off at a tangent in the early dealings. Its weakness might have proved something of an upsetting factor for the

THE MEASURE OF PROGRESS

THERE is a group of essential industries in this country which act as a yardstick of progress. ¶Standing back of the looms, mills, workshops and laboratories, their strength lies chiefly in the indispensable service which they render. ¶Continental Shares has taken advantage of the investment opportunities that lie in the growth and development of basic industries, believing that a profitable return on the Company's holdings and a future enhancement of values are assured through steadily increasing prosperity and higher standards of living.

MAJESTIC AND GRIGSBY ISSUES SHARE SPOTLIGHT

Both Rise in Heavier Chicago Trading.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Speculative interest again centered in the shares of the Grigsby-Grunow company and its affiliate, Majestic Household Utilities, in trading yesterday on the Chicago Stock exchange.

Activity increased moderately, transactions for the day mounting to 360,000 shares, of which 88,000 represented sales in Majestic and 65,000 transactions in Grigsby. Majestic was easily the speculative favorite of the day. The stock opened more than a point above its previous close and advanced rapidly until it reached 72½. It sold off toward the close and finished the day with a net gain of 4½. Grigsby moved within a narrower range, touching a low below 22, then rebounding to 24, up nearly 2 points net.

Another Performer.

Merchants and Manufacturers was another conspicuous performer, moving ahead 2 points on sales approximating 3,500 shares. Elsewhere in the list notable improvement was made by Winton Engine, Great Lakes Dredge and Auburn Automobile. The latter recovered 5 points from its low at 160.

Duquesne Gas, a newcomer, made its bow slightly above 16 and held steady throughout the day on a fairly heavy trade. Trading in other utility issues was moderately heavy. About 17,000 shares were sold of Middle West, which is ordinarily among the most active issues on the board. Another Insull stock, Midland United, was more active than usual, but only slightly changed at the close. Cities Service was down a fraction on sales of 8,000 shares. The widest range in the group was shown by North American Light and Power, which advanced 2 points net.

Libby-McNeill was quiet in the face of news that stockholders had approved the plan of capital revision. The plan provides for the exchange of the second preferred stock for first preferred, which saves the company a substantial amount in dividend expense. The plan also calls for an increase in the present common stock.

Earnings Reports.

The report of the Studebaker Mail Order company for the fiscal year ended March 31, issued yesterday, reveals net earnings of $287,767 after all charges, including taxes, and is equivalent to $1.43 a share on 200,000 class A shares, compared with $2.83 in the previous year. During the year the company paid out $400,000 in dividends on the A shares, resulting in a decrease in surplus.

Seaboard Utilities Shares corporation reports earnings from the date of organization to May 12 were $1,309,181, after charges and taxes. The earnings include market value of stock dividends amounting to $110,993 received by the company.

NEW COMPANY TO OPEN SHOP IN BOARD OF TRADE

The Post Office News company will open a branch of its business in the lobby of the new Board of Trade building for the sale of general and financial periodicals, statistical volumes and books. J. Don Kearins, florist, has leased a fourteen foot store at 316 South La Salle street. Other leases closed in the building recently were the following firms: McCarthy, Werno & Lindsay, Julius & Leo Kirsner and Irvin J. Blazek, all three tailoring firms; Robert R. Reid, insurance; Runyon Testing laboratories; Joseph S. Duncan; James O. McKinsey & Co.; certified public accountants; Werthan Bag corporatiou; Brunner & Simmons, Inc., office layout engineers; Merchants Steel and Supply company; Thomas H. Savery Jr., machinery; John H. Bishop & Edward M. O'Bryan, lawyers; Harry L. McClellan, publicity; Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railway; Edward H. Bagley & Irvin A. Busse, commission merchants, and Smith, Graham & Rockwell & Annan, Graham & Co., brokers.

United States Stores Sales Show Increase

Sales of United States Stores corporation show a gain of approximately $150,000 for the first four months of 1930 as against the same period of last year. They are $9,598,138 this year, and were $9,448,459 in 1929.

Drug, Inc.

Kindly give any information you may have regarding Drug, Inc., with which the Vick Chemical company proposes to consolidate.—W. J.

Drug, Inc., was organized in March, 1928, as a holding company. It acquired Sterling Products, Inc., manufacturer of a number of well known trade-marked medicines and drug store merchandise, and United Drug company, which manufactures medicines, toilet articles, pharmaceutical and soda fountain supplies and candies, and operates a large chain store drug system, including Liggett's and Rexall stores.

Drug, Inc., has followed a vigorous expansion program. It has acquired control of Owl Drug company and Household Products, Inc., through exchange of stock, and more recently has proposed to take over Vick Chemical company.

The consolidated income account for 1929, including results of subsidiaries from date of acquisition, but excluding undistributed earnings of foreign subsidiaries, showed net income for the year of $17,013,543, which was equal to $6.35 per share on 2,678,713 no par shares outstanding at the close of the year. On the average number of shares outstanding during the year earnings were $6.90. Since this report additional shares have been issued. Net income for the eleven months ended Dec. 31, 1928, was $12,014,336.

The retail and manufacturing divisions have contributed almost equally to annual gross business, although net profits from manufacturing activities have shown a tendency to account for a larger proportion of earnings.

The company's financial position at the end of last year was good, with current assets around five times current liabilities and net working capital standing at $39,290,158. Earned surplus was $12,762,284.

Capitalization, including shares issued this year for acquisition of Owl Drug company and Household Products, Inc., consisted of 3,154,428 no par shares of capital stock and a funded debt of $44,899,419.

Dividends are $4 per year. The stock deserves a fairly good rating.

Massachusetts Gas.

What is your opinion of Massachusetts Gas Companies 5 per cent debentures, due May 1, 1955, which were recently issued?—W. R. G.

They are regarded as sound.

Chicago Board of Trade Stocks

A feature of yesterday's trading in Electric Bond and Share was spreading operations between the Chicago Board of Trade and the Chicago curb market, there being a fractional profit in the turnover. Offerings early were larger, and prices dropped almost a point to 97¾, from the previous day's close, with a rally of almost 3 points and a close of 99½, a net gain of ¾.

WHEAT MARKET TRIES TO COME OUT OF ITS RUT

Prices Advance 3@3¼c from Early Low.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Wheat market shows indications of getting out of the rut in which it has been for many weeks, prices advancing 3@3¼c yesterday from the early low to the best figures on the present movement. July touched $1.07¼, the highest since April 29, and the close was within a fraction of the top with May at 1.06½ and July at $1.07¼@1.07⅝, the net gains being 2⅜@2¾c.

Crop reports from Kansas, Nebraska, Oklahoma and Texas were less optimistic than of late and the trade was more inclined to pay attention to strengthening influences. This was reflected in an increase in the outside interest, and while a good part of the upturn was due to short covering, less pressure was in evidence than of late and some stop loss orders were uncovered on the way up when sellers of offers were forced to protect themselves.

REALTORS FROM SUBURBS PLAN LA GRANGE MEET

Ten Boards to Be Guests at Country Club.

BY AL CHASE.

Suburban realtors and their wives will play golf, weather permitting; amuse themselves with bridge, no matter what the weather man does, and incidentally listen to some talks by prominent realtors at the annual convention of the Suburban Real Estate Board Council of Chicago, to be held today at the La Grange Country club. The La Grange real estate board will be host to the ten other realty boards comprising the suburban council. The convention will start with a luncheon at the club at noon.

Speakers of the day will be Herbert U. Nelson, executive secretary of the National Association of Real Estate Boards; Leroy Morgan, president of the Illinois Association of Real Estate Boards, and Ralph V. Field, executive secretary of the Illinois Association of Real Estate Boards.

What They'll Talk About.

Mr. Nelson will speak of the activities of the national association; Mr. Morgan will outline the progress made by the Illinois association, and Mr. Field will discuss the tax situation in Illinois. Mrs. W. H. Wright of Oak Park, president of the suburban council, will preside. F. D. Cossitt of La Grange is chairman of the program committee, and J. A. Thorsen, president of the La Grange real estate board, is secretary of the suburban council.

The Suburban Real Estate Board council is made up of eleven real estate boards. They are: The Berwyn-Cicero Real Estate board; Chicago Heights Real Estate board; Du Page County Real Estate board; Evanston Real Estate board; Harvey Real Estate board; La Grange Real Estate board; Libertyville-Mundelein Real Estate board; Maywood Real Estate board; North Shore Real Estate board; Oak Park Real Estate board, and the Waukegan-North Chicago Real Estate board.

How to Get There.

For those realtors who haven't a 1930 TRIBUNE Chicagoland map before them, or tucked away in a pocket in their car, we'll take a look at ours and tell you that the La Grange Country club is in the extreme southwestern part of the town, just across the village line. Realtors motoring down from the north on Mannheim road turn west on 47th street, which is about three-quarters of a mile south of Ogden avenue. The club is about half a mile west on 47th.

If you're coming into La Grange either from the east or west on Ogden avenue, turn south on Brainerd avenue. It's just one mile to 47th street, the northern boundary of the club.

OFFICIAL WEATHER REPORT.

SYNOPSIS.

Juliette West of Boston, on her way to Paris, meets Geoffrey Macadam in the diner to Paris train. Macadam is an Englishman who lives in Paris. Catherine tells him that she is going to visit her cousin's widow, Mme. Belmont Bender. She is apprehensive about the coming visit because she had received just before sailing a letter from Hermione Cushing, who tells her that Mme. Bender is far from well. Macadam is a lawyer and he tells Catherine that his firm handles Mme. Bender's affairs, but doesn't know the widow very well. He had heard that she was ill. Arrived in Paris Catherine is a little disappointed when her cousin's chauffeur is not at the station to meet her. Geoffrey sees her into a taxi, giving her his address and telephone number, and tells her that he will be anxious to know how things are at the Bender apartment and promises to call him. Arrived at Mme. Bender's apartment, she is treated coldly by the servants, and Jeanne, Mme. Bender's maid, suggests that she go to a hotel. Catherine insists on staying in the apartment, as she is suspicious of the servants. Jeanne tells her that Mme. Bender attempted to commit suicide the night before. The next morning Catherine goes in to see Germaine Bender, who is pathetically glad to see her. She tells Catherine how she had taken poison by mistake.

Geoffrey invites Catherine to dine with him, and it is a relief for her to get out of the apartment and to tell him of her vague fears. He is disturbed, too. Geoffrey escorts her back to the apartment. The door is locked, but Geoffrey arouses Eduardo, who says that last night Miss West had come in long before.

The next morning Catherine calls on Miss Cushing, who takes her to her milliner, where she sees a man she has noticed hanging around the Bender apartment. Back in the apartment she finds the gallery open for the first time and she goes in, only to discover a number of pictures and tapestries missing. She asks Jeanne about them and the maid says they were sold shortly before Mr. Bender's death. Catherine feels she is lying and believes she and Eduardo are thieves. She finds Jeanne is exerting a baneful influence on Mme. Bender. She denounces Catherine to the invalid. Catherine tells Geoffrey of her fears and he puts an investigator to work on the case. Geoffrey takes Catherine to a music night haunt.

INSTALLMENT XLVII

A STRANGE COUPLE.

No one paid the least attention to them, and it was with difficulty that Geoffrey attracted the notice of the one frowsy waiter who plied his way among the jammed tables, executing orders and making change with an air of child indifference. Finally the man approached, wiped his hands on a dirty apron, and listened with dull eyes while Geoffrey said a few words to him in French. After a second he nodded, cast a glance over the room, and undertook to pilot the two towards the far end, where they managed to squeeze their way to the only vacant places, fortunately against the wall, and behind a sticky, marble topped table.

"We shall have to order something," Geoffrey said, "but I warn you it will be bad."

Whereupon he commanded a wine, while Catherine chose an orangeade, thinking it would be comparatively harmless. However, she was wrong. The drink in a smudged tumbler, arrived, poisonous red in color, sirupy and strangely chemical to taste. The garçon slopped it over on the table and made an ineffectual effort to sop it up with a filthy swab, his attention busy at other quarters.

What a place! Yet half the clients were of the leisured class, jaded but immaculately attired men, with women severely exquisite in the smartest of hats and the newest of ornaments. Why did they come here to stew in this stifling atmosphere, be served with nauseous drinks and sit with bored faces jammed like sardines against the unwashed bodies of midinettes, models and prostitutes of the lowest type? It was a question only Paris can answer. They did not appear to be extracting any enjoyment from the experience.

"No," she said. "I saw him lots of times after that."

The music stopped, the dancers wormed their way to their seats. Geoffrey bent his head towards Catherine.

"I want you to notice the couple beside you," he whispered, his lips barely moving. "Watch the girl particularly and try to catch what she's saying. She is the person I brought you here to see."

She looked at him with amazed inquiry, then turned her head and surveyed her neighbor, whom till now she had scarcely noticed.

What she saw was a little wrenlike creature of about twenty, jauntily arrayed in a bright blue jacket and skirt, with a red spotted neckerchief knotted round her throat and a hat like an aviator's helmet worn so as to display a fringe of hennaed hair. Her perfectly round blue eyes had a babyish stare amidst black beaded lashes raying out like the petals of a flower, her nose tilted up, and there was a circular patch of crimson painted upon each cheek, giving her the look of one of those naïve, slightly grotesque dolls seen in French shops. In a high, chirping falsetto she was chattering with an air familiar and inconsequent to a companion more than twice her age, a sober, yellow-eyed man just now regarding her attentively while his bony fingers fumbled in a yellow packet of cigarets.

"Who is she?" murmured Catherine, returning to Geoffrey in complete mystification.

"Never mind who she is. Listen."

She obeyed wonderingly. For a few minutes she caught nothing of interest, only a childish description of some escapade at Mi-Careme, punctuated with argot and laughter. At the end of it the young person drained her glass, set it down with a smack of the lips and gazed at her escort blandly, coquettishness in full play. At once the middle-aged man beat solemnly upon the marble with a coin till the waiter looked his way.

"Another port for mademoiselle," he called, abstracting a note from a tattered pocketbook.

Not until the full glass was brought did he speak, and though his tone was low Catherine heard every syllable of what he said.

"And that was the last time you saw this Monsieur Blom?" he asked meaningly.

Monsieur Blom!—Catherine repressed a start.

"Did you hear?" she whispered to Geoffrey.

He nodded and signed to her to continue listening. The girl at her side had risen to the bait like a hungry trout.

"No," she said. "I saw him lots of time after that. It wasn't till a month after that Bordeaux visit that I told him he could go to the devil, nasty little toad! As if I was going to play second fiddle to that bag of bones. There are too many chances for a girl like me, I can tell you." She sniffed contemptuously and ran a wetted thumb over her penciled brows.

"I don't know where his eyes were," murmured her companion flatteringly. "To prefer this Madame Baron to you. Old, isn't she?"

"Is she old?" chirped the damsel rhetorically. "Older than God, and a skin like an ostrich! Eyes—my word! They're sharper than yours are, I'll wager. They see where she's got her savings hidden. Rich she must be, although you'd never guess it to look at her! That's all he really cares about—money. He'd sell his soul to the devil for ten thousand francs."

"But he must do pretty well, what with one thing and another," suggested the other persuasively. "Shouldn't you say so?"

"O, I daresay. He's no spender, though. He was precious mean where I was concerned."

"Ever hear him mention any pictures?"

There was a blank stare.

"Pictures? Never—unless you count some postcards he showed me once—filthy little beast!" and with a grimace she produced her lipstick and applied it freely, studying her reflection in a small mirror.

"But what took him to Bordeaux? Have you any idea of his business there?"

"Bah! He never told me his affairs. Never talked much at any time—not at drinking his beer and staring like this with his spotted eyes. Sacre! It used to get on my nerves!"

"Secretive sort of man, was he?"

"Man! He's not a man at all, he's an animal, a crawling reptile who has no knowledge of life. Mind you, he's not French."

Catherine was too enthralled with the content of the discourse to do more than inwardly smile at the little creature's assumption of worldly poise. She had grasped the situation and realized that this birdlike piece of femininity had known the notaire on the most intimate terms; was as likely as any one to be aware of his private affairs. Yet it seemed fairly certain that she knew nothing.

"Did you ever hear him mention a client of his by the name of Jeanne Laborie?" pursued the agent smoothly, always with the manner of one not particularly concerned.

"Laborie? Never. Who is she? Friend of yours?"

"Only a lady's maid, working at a place in the Avenue Henri Martin."

Dollar a Book Move Growing to Boost Trade

Doubleday-Doran Adopt Same Policy.

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

New York, May 22.—The story sent to THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE last night about the new back-to-a-dollar-books movement literally set New York by the ears today. It precipitated the announcement by Doubleday-Doran of a list wide price cutting. That story made the front page of all the afternoon papers.

It was such a bombshell that the whole publishing industry, including the assorted book clubs, spent the day issuing statements, and denying rumors.

Doubleday-Doran went one step further than Farrar & Rinehart, Simon & Schuster, and Coward-McCann in their announcement of price slashing. They made a statement that, beginning June 20, all prices of all publications, whether fiction or non-action, will be cut; in the case of fiction to $1 and in the case of non-fiction to unrevealed lower price levels.

This is the most revolutionary move in the history of present day book-selling. The lowering of book prices was a spontaneous combustion among the publishers. The Doubleday-Doran announcement gives to the movement the support of old as well as the new publishers.

The Doubleday-Doran authors who will be published at the new price will include H. G. Wells, P. G. Wodehouse, Farrar & Rinehart will publish Mary Roberts Rinehart, Katherine Brush and others.

Doubleday-Doran also announced today that all of their crime club books will sell at $1 instead of $2, an announcement which brought statements from all of the book clubs.

Harold Guinsburg, president of the Literary guild, said the books published at a dollar would necessarily be of such a different type than those offered by the guild to its members that the new prices would not affect the guild. Thus its members would continue to receive retail value in excess of their membership cost. Thomas Stix, president of the Book League of America, welcomed the news, as it is in line with the Book league's present policy of publishing.

Charles Boni, president of Paper Books, announced the organization of a Dollar Book of the Month club, whose selections will be made from the new $1 titles.

Harry Scherman, vice president of the Book of the Month club, said since the members of the club are offered books at the retail price it mattered little, if the book was good, whether it sold at $2.50 or $1. The surgeons who are cutting prices feel that's what is needed to stimulate the ailing book trade.

The Booksellers, whose thirtieth convention closed its official business before the news was known, had no opportunity to discuss it officially. There was, however, a secret meeting of the board of that trade in the afternoon. The gist of its findings was that the booksellers would welcome any way of giving their public more value for the money paid, provided the publishers gave the booksellers as good discounts as formerly and did not stint their product in quality.

The most important deliberation of the final session of the sellers' convention was the raising of $17,500 in debenture bonds to take care of the finances of the association following its unsuccessful attempt to compete with the book clubs in selecting and advertising books. The new officers of the association elected today are George W. Jacobs of Philadelphia, president; Paul Elder of San Francisco, first vice president; Charles Jackson of Cleveland, second vice president; Alice Steinlein of Wilmington, Del., third vice president; Eugene L. Hurd of Lancaster, Pa., secretary, and Stanley Rimington of Baltimore, treasurer. Honorary fellowships were conferred upon Frank L. Magel of New York. Isaac R. Webber of Boston, and Theodore E. Schulte of New York.

The annual banquet of the association was held in the evening with J. F. McEvoy, formerly of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, as toastmaster. The speakers included Floyd Gibbons, also formerly of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE; Mary L. Jobe Akeley, Count Felix von Luckner, Ellery Walter, and Charles A. Beard with a Mr. Televox [a charming mechanical gentleman].

Council of Legion Asks for Limit on Decoration of Graves

Cook county council of the American Legion through its commander, Joseph Novotny, has issued an appeal that only the graves of veterans of the nation's wars be decorated with flags Memorial day. A recent practice of placing flags on all graves, Mr. Novotny said, serves to detract from the original purpose of Memorial day services. He also asked that children refrain from taking flags from graves, a practice which had been noted in recent years.

The council met last night in the Hotel Sherman to discuss a cleanup campaign for membership to reach a goal of 80,000 before the reception of O. L. Bodenheimer, national commander, by Cook county posts.

Final arrangements also were made for Poppy day which is May 27.

Junior High School Bands Will Compete Tomorrow

Chicago's first junior high school band competition, with bands from 17 schools competing, will be held from 8 a. m. until noon tomorrow at the Manley Junior High school, 2739 West Polk street. The competition will be under the direction of Joseph J. Connelly, district superintendent of junior high schools, and Maj. Beals, director of bands. The bands will be in two classes, those of more than 35 pieces and those of fewer than 35 pieces. Four cups will be awarded, first and second prize in each class.

Colored Hats for Men Among the Present Styles

Not only has the advent of feminine styles for women been a boon for the millinery trade, with the return of straws, brims, and trimming this summer, but men will wear variegated colored straws themselves this summer, it was said at a convention of the Millinery Association of America in the Drake hotel yesterday. Butter yellow, aquatone green and linen blue will be among the popular shades for men.

The Inquiring Reporter

Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

The Question.

Does the stock market hold your attention?

The Answers.

George S. Smith, 4009 Waveland avenue, insurance clerk—I give a lot of attention to it. I do a certain amount of buying shares outright and occasionally on margin. When I buy on margin it's on a seventy point basis.

Mrs. Ralph Bartlet, 1021 Maple street, Evanston, Ill., housewife — Why should it interest me? I never have had enough money to speculate and wouldn't speculate if I had it. I know a lot of women who have lost money that way. Many a family has less money today than a year ago because of unwise speculation.

Edward Sorrenson, 858 North Oakley boulevard, clerk—I have some stock that I bought at par 100; it's down to 42 now. I think it will take some time before it comes up to par. I don't expect it to see that this year, despite the recovery from the recent slump. To rise from 42 to 100 would be going some.

Miss Alice Westland, 5240 Christiana avenue, stenographer—I should say I do. The stock reports are the first things I turn to in the newspapers. I want to see whether I have lost or gained. I bought some stock when it went low, and I figured it probably would go up. It did.

Bert W. Ives, 7721 Colfax avenue, sales manager—Yes, I read stock quotations as somewhat of a barometer of general business conditions. I am interested in the gilt edge stocks as an investment; I am also interested in some speculation.

Phi Kappa Sigma Fathers, Sons Will Dine Tonight

Phi Kappa Sigma fraternity will hold a fathers and sons banquet tonight at 6:30 p. m. in the ballroom of the Hotel La Salle. Two hundred and fifty guests will attend, including members of three active Chicago chapters of Northwestern university, University of Chicago and the Armour Tech.

Women Give $10,000 Yearly to Heart Clinic

Baron Hirsch Club Aids U. of Chicago Project.

Ten thousand dollars a year for the support of a heart clinic at the University of Chicago has been given by the Baron Hirsch Woman's club.

Virtually equivalent to an endowment of $200,000, this gift will be supplemented by other funds of the university. It will encourage extensive research in heart disease.

"The gift of the Baron Hirsch Woman's club is particularly wise and important. Heart disease is a leading cause of death," Dr. Franklin C. McLean, director of the university clinics, said in announcing the gift. "Approximately two million people in the United States are suffering with heart disease; the mortality rate steadily is increasing. In Chicago the rate advanced from 108.3 per hundred thousand of population in 1905 to 234 per hundred thousand in 1929.

"For the United States the rate was almost 300 per hundred thousand. That is almost double the rate for the next most important causes of death, including cancer, pneumonia, tuberculosis, and diseases of the kidneys. Ninety per cent of the deaths occurring from heart disease are in persons over 40 years of age."

The funds available for the cardiac division of the clinics will be used for support of an out-patient department, cost of hospitalizing cardiac patients unable to pay for their care, and support of a social service worker who will follow the cases of patients to see that they are adjusting their activities to their physical powers and that they report for periodic examination, an important part of the care. The cardiac division will not only provide treatment for patients but also will facilitate research in heart disease.

Organized in 1880, under the leadership of Mrs. Wolf Levy, the Baron Hirsch Woman's club, originally known as the North Side Ladies' society, has been a leader in many important philanthropies.

Support of a cardiac clinic was decided upon after a committee composed of Mrs. Franklin J. Kahn, second vice president of the club; Mrs. Morris Neufeld, Mrs. A. H. Weinstein, Mrs. Samson Goldenburg, Mrs. Eric J. Danek, Miss Helen Frankenstein, and Mrs. Morris Fishbein had studied the necessity for such a project in Chicago.

THE STAGE

LILLIAN GISH, now that she has returned to the stage in "Uncle Vanya," figures on staying there for a while. She will remain in "Vanya," of course, as long as it runs. And after that, according to the present plans of Jed Harris, producer of the play, in "Othello," which he will stage next season. Osgood Perkins, whom Mr. Harris is bound to make forget the rôle of the managing editor in "The Front Page," will be Iago to Miss Gish's Desdemona.

The family of the late Jacob Adler, a famous actor of the Yiddish drama, nine in number, have united in one company and will be seen in performances of "The Wild Man," one of his favorite vehicles, at the Lawndale theater here tonight, tomorrow night and Sunday night. They are his widow and his sons and daughters—Mrs. Sarah, Stella, Frances, Julia, Luther, Charles, Adolph, and Irving Adler—and Joseph Schoengold, his son-in-law. For patrons of the Yiddish drama (an extremely active institutional) this is an event of great sentimental interest.

Three personalities of extra special appeal are announced for the new program of vaudeville at the Palace theater, beginning tomorrow. They are Trixie Friganza, a comedienne who has been popular for so many years that she doesn't care whether she is termed "portly" or not; Bill Robinson, who leads the numerous schools of Negro tap dancers, and Carl Freed, a musical clown, assisted by an orchestra. Other entertainers are Scott Sanders, Caledonian comedian, on his third American tour; Willie Higgie and Gypsy Lenore, Teck Murdock, A. K. Hall, and Wheeler and Morton.

"The Demi-God," a new three act play, was staged by the Uptown Players, winners of the 1929 Drama league contest, in the Chicago Woman's club theater last night. It will be repeated tonight and tomorrow night. The cast includes James H. Griffin, Pauline Fischer, Dorothy Braun, Helen Williams, Julia Sparling, Margaret Blish, John Graham, Donald Briggs, and John Esdale.

Arthur Hammerstein henceforth will book all his attractions through the Erlanger offices. He has announced his forthcoming retirement from Broadway—after two more productions—but the deal will mean that his theater may be used by Charles Dillingham, Florenz Ziegfeld, Earl Carroll or other nonretired music show producers.

Plans for another season of musical comedy and operetta revivals at Jolson's theater, New York, now being formulated, include the production of several Gilbert and Sullivan works. The Shuberts have launched a subscription campaign to back the enterprise, and the programs will follow the preferences of subscribers. Voting so far indicates that, among the Gilbert-Sullivan pieces, "The Mikado," "The Pirates of Penzance" and "Pinafore" are favorites. It is planned to begin the revivals early in October, and to continue the season for twenty-four weeks.

750 High School Students Seek U. of C. Scholarships

Seven hundred and fifty students from 75 high schools in the middle west will take examinations today for University of Chicago scholarships at the university.

This is more than 100 in excess of the total last year. Students are allowed to select one subject out of eleven, these being zoology, American history, botany, chemistry, English, French, Latin, Spanish, German, mathematics, and physics. Thirty scholarships for the entire freshman year will be awarded and about sixty part time scholarships.

University students have taken charge of their entertainment.

Radio Television Talkie Shown for Scientists

One of Whom Predicts Its Use in Wars.

Schenectady, N. Y., May 22.—(AP)—Dr. E. F. W. Alexanderson, pioneer in radio television research, in an address tonight before a party of scientists and newspaper correspondents, prophesied practical application of television to warfare.

Less than six months ago the projection of the television images was limited to a screen 14 inches square. Today a six foot screen was used. In addition, the radio movie was operated synchronously with a radio telephone so that the audience in the theater, where the demonstration was held, witnessed the first radio television talkie theatrical performance in the world.

The first view was given before a small assemblage of invited guests and was repeated at the regular matinée and evening public performances.

Some of the stunts included music by the orchestra in the theater led by its conductor standing in front of a television camera a mile away, who wielded his baton for the guidance of his players and listened by telephone to their renditions; comedy sketch acts with one member of the team on the stage and the other in the television laboratory at the General Electric company's local plant, and vocal and instrumental selections, with the image of the artists on the screen and the tones filling the theater through the medium of a public address system.

The images were produced with wonderful fidelity, with all the shadows and shades of the features of the performers showing on the screen with nearly the detail of a motion picture performance.

There was some swaying of the picture from side to side and there was a slight flickering. Unlike the flickering of the movies of years past, which was vertical, with perpendicular lines of light and shade upon the screen, the television flicker appeared to be horizontal, with the lines of light and shadow slightly curved.

The reproduction of the images on the screen was limited to the heads and shoulders of the performers.

Tonight, in prophesying the ultimate usefulness and development of television, Dr. Alexanderson said that the engineer or inventor who forecasts the future confines himself to the next five to twenty years.

"The possibilities for new inventions in this art of television are inspiring," he said. "Just think of it, when you can put an electric eye wherever you wish and you can see through this eye just as if you were there, an airplane with a news reporter will fly to see whatever is of interest and the whole theater audience will be with him, seeing what he sees and yet the audience will be perfectly safe and comfortable!

"Or what will this mean in the wars of the future when a staff officer can see the enemy through the television eyes of his scouting planes, or when they can send a bombing plane without a man aboard which can see the target and be steered by radio up to the moment when it hits? Or what it will mean for peaceful aviation when the ships of the air approach a harbor in fog, take on a local pilot—not from a little craft that come to meet the ship—but by television, whereby the trained eyes of the pilot functioning by television will guide the ship to the airport in safety?

"Perhaps I am letting my imagination run riot. But, to show the seriousness of my conviction, I wish to mention that I am leaving tomorrow in order to sail to Panama on the airplane carrier Saratoga at the invitation of the navy in order to study some of the practical conditions for the realization of such ideas."

Natalie W. du Pont Weds George Phippen Edmonds

Wilmington, Del., May 22.—(AP)—Natalie Wilson du Pont, daughter of Lamont du Pont, tonight became the bride of George Phippen Edmonds at St. Amour, the home of her father.

The Rt. Rev. Philip Cook, bishop of the Episcopal diocese of Delaware, performed the ceremony in the presence of a few intimate friends of the family. The bride was given in marriage by her father, who is president of E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co.

Mr. Edmonds, who is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Edmonds of Boston, is employed as a chemical engineer by the Bond Manufacturing company. He is well known as a golfer.

Rare Pottery Shows Art of Old Craftsmen

Wedgwood's 200th Birthday Celebrated.

BY SALLY LUNN.

An echo of the celebration of the 200th anniversary of Josiah Wedgwood, being held in England, is to be found in the exhibit of part of the Wedgwood collection of the Etruria museum on display at Marshall Field's this week. The British celebration at Stoke-on-Trent, the heart of the pottery district, was opened officially on Monday by her royal highness, Princess Mary, and is being participated in by the entire English pottery industry. Part of the exhibit was loaned by Queen Mary, who is a collector of Wedgwood ware.

The exhibit at Field's includes some seventy-five early examples of Wedgwood, some of them fashioned and designed by the master potter himself. Among the most interesting specimens are the wax medallions of Washington, used for the Jasper medallions. Wedgwood, who was an ardent admirer of Washington, made these and distributed them secretly among his friends at the time when it was decidedly unpatriotic for a Britisher to be in favor of the young rebel. Also on view is a plate believed to be the only one in existence from the service executed for Catherine II. of Russia, and which has had an involved and interesting history.

Originator of Queensware.

The student of the history and development of china will find much of interest in the historic pieces that show some of the experiments, trials, and successes of the early days of the industry. Josiah Wedgwood, whose fifth lineal descendants now own and operate the pottery at Stoke-on-Trent, was the first potter, you will remember, to experiment with cream colored ware, which is the basis of queensware. It was in 1763 that Queen Charlotte, consort of George III., ordered a complete service of cream colored ware and allowed Wedgwood to call it queen's ware, since which it has been known by that name.

Up to the 1760s the Englishman's house was poorly furnished with tableware. The wealthy purchased oriental porcelain or equally expensive pewter. Wedgwood's invention, improvement, economy, and increased production made the ware accessible to a large class. A French traveler of the age remarked that "from Calais to St. Petersburg one is served in every inn with Wedgwood ware."

Set of 952 Pieces for Royalty.

The production of the service of 952 pieces for the empress, Catherine II. of Russia, was achieved in 1774. One thousand two hundred and eighty-two English scenes were painted on the set, recording 18th century palaces, castles, cathedrals, and other buildings. The service was in the Peterhof palace and its fate is unknown.

Wedgwood is acknowledged to have done more for the ceramic history of the world than any other. He was born in 1730, the son of Thomas Wedgwood, who was a potter in the Churchyard works at Burslem, and began work as a potter at the age of 9 years. He died in 1795, and the monument erected to his memory in the parish church at Stoke-on-Trent bears an epitaph which speaks of him in part as the man "who converted an inconsiderable manufactory into an elegant art, and an important part of national commerce." The biographical notes are from material written by Harry Barnard, famous Wedgwood authority, and now attached to the Wedgwood museum at Etruria.

FINED FOR BETTING ON RACES.

Evansville, Ind., May 22.—(Special.)—Ten of the 30 men taken by police in Derby day raids Saturday afternoon, when more than two score police swooped down upon alleged gambling dens when betting on the Louisville races was at its height, were fined in Circuit court today by Judge Charles P. Rock, the fines ranging from $25 to $50.

RARE EXHIBIT OF WEDGWOOD WARE

Lettuce, Tomatoes Now Available the Whole Year Round

Two commodities which are really mere youngsters on the Chicago fruit and vegetable market in spite of the immense volume now represented in them each year are lettuce and tomatoes. Ten years ago each of them were shipped into this metropolitan area only in the north summer growing season.

Now they are available practically the year round. The "iceberg" lettuce industry is but ten years old, and its greatest growth has been in the last five or six years. Shipments by the thousands of carloads arrive annually from southern states and principally from California.

FALL IS FATAL TO WOMAN.

Mrs. Anna Herman Bates, 63 years old, a widow, who suffered a hip fracture in a fall at her home, 8430 Blackstone avenue, on April 25, died yesterday.

Illinois Fruits Are Not So Plentiful, but Quality's High

Principal Illinois fruits will not be especially plentiful this year, according to a survey just completed by the Illinois Agricultural association, which shows that the peach crop, as was estimated earlier, is almost a total failure, and that indications at present are for a strawberry crop that will be disappointing. Apples will be more plentiful than a year ago, but not so large a crop as was expected for 1930.

"Housewives will not have the same opportunity to fill their fruit jars with low priced peaches and strawberries this year as they did in 1929," says A. B. Lepper, director of fruit and vegetable marketing for the association. "Better prices will be realized, however, by those who have fruit to sell."

Last year many strawberry growers lost money when a flood of shipments arrived in Chicago about the same time that Illinois berry patches were in their heaviest yield. The 1930 Illinois peach crop was ruined, as a whole, by the cold weather of last winter.

With this fairly short crop of fruits, quality will be above the average this year, in the opinion of Mr. Lepper, who qualifies his prediction with the necessity for generally fair weather between now and harvest. Spur blight has damaged apples in the southern part of the state to some extent.

BUSY WOMEN

Rely on the sureness of Rumford's Two-to-One Leavening . .

SAVE TIME! Mix RUMFORD dough at night ...keep in ice-box...bake in the morning...

DON'T HURRY RUMFORD leavening is perfect whether dough is handled fast or slow...

SLAM THE DOOR ...It doesn't harm RUMFORD batter or dough...

TWO-THIRDS IN THE MIXING ... ONE-THIRD IN THE OVEN

...Mix breakfast hot breads at night. They will raise only two-thirds—and no more—till put in the oven heat next morning to complete the final one-third leavening. Such baking will be perfectly leavened with fine texture and delicate flavor.

...Don't worry if you can't get your batter into the oven the minute it's mixed. Take your time. Rumford-raised batter or dough will raise only two-thirds in ordinary room temperature. And it is not harmed by waiting. The final one-third leavening is completed in the oven heat. You'll enjoy the superior results of Rumford's perfect two-to-one leavening.

...Don't fret about jarring or quick movements when baking with Rumford. They cannot stop or spoil its perfect two-to-one leavening action. Such action is an essential characteristic of this pure, all-phosphate baking powder and is kept uniform by means of 52 tests during its manufacture.

Follow These Simple Rules

1—Every week-day for 48 consecutive days, (not including Sundays) the Chicago Daily Tribune will print a "Game of Counties" picture. Each picture will represent a County in one of these five States: Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Michigan and Wisconsin. You are invited to name the Counties.

2—The Chicago Tribune will pay $5,000 in Cash Prizes to the persons who send in the nearest correctly named and neatest complete sets of pictures in accordance with these rules. See prize list at right.

NOTE:—You do not necessarily have to name each of the 48 pictures correctly to win. The prize will be paid to the person whose entries rank the highest.

3—This offer is open to everyone—men, women, boys and girls, except employees of the Chicago Tribune and their families. You pay nothing. Just prove your skill.

4—Pictures are to be submitted only in complete sets. Do not send in each picture separately. Hold all pictures until you have the complete set of 48. Then send them to "Counties," Chicago Tribune, Post Office Box 1539, Chicago, Ill. All entries must be in by midnight 15 days after Picture No. 48 has been printed.

5—Each entry must be sent by First Class Mail, postage prepaid. Entries with insufficient postage will be returned by the Post Office Dept. Contestants may submit as many sets of pictures as they wish, but no contestant will be entitled to more than one prize. Accuracy will count. Neatness will count.

6—You need not buy the Chicago Tribune. You may copy or trace the pictures and send them in. The Chicago Tribune may be examined at any of its offices or at Public Libraries free of charge.

7—Judges will be appointed by the Chicago Tribune. Their decision will be final. In case of ties a duplicate award will be paid to each tying contestant.

Corn Flakes Make Delicious Little Cakes

Each the Button Recipe Has Variations.

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

There is a great demand today for [illegible] we might call touch the button [illegible] perhaps to match up with [illegible] beater that beats it if you [illegible] on the power, the oven that [illegible] correctly if you set the regula- [illegible]. And there are some other [illegible] that perhaps can be met at [illegible] season better than at any other [illegible] the year, now that the eggs are [illegible] and the cream is of new [illegible] feeding.

But if we should confine ourselves [illegible] and now to egg and particularly [illegible] white recipes, we could come [illegible] near to meeting the demand [illegible] which often says give me [illegible] thing that is simple and fancy, [illegible] and edible, colorful and caloric [illegible] at the same time. Quite an order, [illegible] so, but not an unusual one, and [illegible] are fortunately some items to [illegible].

The other day I was telling my [illegible] neighbor about a pastry shop [illegible] having the best items—freshest and [illegible] natural tasting—of any I had [illegible]. My interest had been aroused [illegible] the place as I passed it by seeing [illegible] pillow and almost beehive topped [illegible] tarts in pastry shells. These [illegible] really individual conical souf- [illegible]-egg white folded into a cooked [illegible] cream — which looked much [illegible] solid than a soufflé because the [illegible] was set.

Cornflake Macaroons

And then my young friend brought [illegible] some cornflake macaroons she had [illegible] made—she said she had made [illegible] but once before—and I felt at [illegible] as I have so many hundreds of [illegible] before, that there is something [illegible] coolness, a made every hourness [illegible] in the sweet things we make [illegible] same that we rarely get in any- [illegible] that we can buy. Home air [illegible] more than one thing, in this [illegible]. The few people realize the ac- [illegible] effect of the air of a room, or [illegible] part street, on a food.

These cornflake macaroons were [illegible] by the exact trade recipe that [illegible] so widely used, and so often [illegible], in the year 1918, before my [illegible] friend was married and doing [illegible] excellent job at setting up attrac- [illegible] meals of her own cooking. The [illegible] has been sent out often since [illegible] the trade, and is the same that [illegible] was used with rice flakes, and yet [illegible] had received it from a friend, [illegible] seems the best and pleasantest [illegible] over to get recipes, as I have had [illegible] reason to know. Here is the [illegible]:

[illegible] sugar	2 cups corn flakes
[illegible] nuts	½ teaspoon vanilla.

Beat egg whites stiff, add sugar [illegible], add other ingredients, add [illegible] beats last. Drop in spoonfuls on [illegible] pan. Bake 15 minutes in a [illegible] oven.

My young friend likes whole pecan [illegible] in anything of this sort, so [illegible] were what she used instead of [illegible] chopped nuts. The original [illegible] called for one cup of cocoanut, [illegible] many people use that quantity. [illegible] little cakes made are then [illegible] like an almond macaroon, that is, [illegible] are rougher, while with only a [illegible] cup people who really do not [illegible] much for cocoanut will not ob- [illegible] it in this pleasing combination.

Variations of the Recipe.

One of the best variations of this [illegible] is a corn flake torte made by [illegible] it in two layers to be served [illegible] whipped cream. This is truly [illegible], but according to the size of [illegible] torte will depend the worthwhile- [illegible] of the effect. Probably anybody [illegible] like it a bit "gooey," just as [illegible] people like that great meringue [illegible] a "schaume torte," a little [illegible], when it is used as a base for [illegible] strawberry shortcake.

During 1918 some of the titles given [illegible] recipe were: "Soldier's Kisses," "Freedom Fancies," "Korn Kisses," and cookies, balls, drop cakes, cocoanut macroons, and so forth. In sugar saving days honey, or maple sugar, or even corn sirup was used, while walnut or peanuts and sometimes the whole egg was used instead of the white only. And we can believe that in every variation this was still the simple and fancy, easy and edible, colorful and caloric dainty.

We can easily find as many variations of and from—and so perhaps more of a cooking lesson—in another recipe of this family which can also be presented in small proportions:

1 egg — 2 tablespoons flour
½ cup brown sugar — ½ cup chopped nuts.
1 pinch salt

Spread on a buttered tin in a thin sheet, bake slowly until brown, cut in squares without dragging the knife. These may be thin and crisp.

So far, we have but one possibility, and we need to give the warning concerning it that if this is baked too thin, it may be so brown and crisp that we shall lose the best of the nut flavor. If, instead, we drop this in widely spaced teaspoonfuls we can get an exceedingly dainty, round, cookie-like wafer which is softer at the center, agreeably so, than at the edges, while it will have a wonderful glaze on the bottom.

Speaking of Glazes.

And speaking of these glazes on cookies and other forms, because they do make for attractiveness, you cannot get them if you use twice as much sugar in this recipe. You will find the recipe in cook books with twice as much called for. Not only do you fail with it to get a glaze, but it is exceedingly difficult to get the wafer from the pan with the greater amount of sugar, even while it is hottest. That is one of the troubles with many such recipes. They have so much sugar that it catches on and in trying to cut a sheet of wafers so made you get mostly ragged effects.

Like the cornflake mixture, this can be baked to form a torte with a gooey center and shapes of it several times thicker than the wafer, topped with whipped cream, make an excellent dessert and not at all cloying, as some cake and whipped cream combinations are. And we are not through with what can be done with this interesting family of recipes, by a great deal. There are perhaps a hundred numbers in it.

By the way, my friend was serving her pretty and delicious macaroons to company, along with a strawberry sundae.

Tribune Cook Book

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Veal Collops.

Before the meat people began reminding us that veal was a spring meat, the fact had occurred to me along with the desire to try to imitate a charmingly presented dish of small thin disks of this meat in a gravy served at a unique, partly studio, dinner last fall, where I was a guest.

It would be easy to go to French cookery books, some Italian cook books, too, and either old American or English cook books, to fine recipes for preparing veal in tiny pieces which used to be called collops, defined as pieces the size of an oyster and not too tick. Those in the dish served at the studio dinner were really quite thin, and veal recipes which I have seen worked out in Italy practically all contained veal that was cut in exceedingly thin pieces.

Probably it is easier to experiment or adventure with a recipe of that sort if some other than a meat gravy is used, because the making of a fine meat gravy is certainly an art while simple sauces are much easier to succeed with.

A quantity sufficient for two people at least may be prepared by the following recipe: Cut a thin slice of veal into small rounds and roll these in well seasoned flour, using enough flour to make two tablespoons for each cup of sauce to be made. Tomato juice is perhaps the surest liquid, but milk can be used instead. Have a little hot fat in a frying pan, hardly more than will grease the pan well, and the pan hot enough so that the pieces of meat will sizzle when put into it. Put any flour left over at the side of the pan. At this point the fire can be reduced and should be reduced so that the veal can cook five minutes to a side and to a nice brown without being burned. Remember the pieces are thin and small and can be burned in about one minute. When the meat has browned on both sides, take it up and put in the liquid, whether tomato juice, milk, or if you care for it, meat stock. Stir till the liquid thickens, then put back the meat and cook the whole gently for ten minutes. Two pieces to one good slice of toast make an agreeable service.

Milk Prices Here Show No Change in Level

Producers, Dealers Defend 14 Cent Charge.

BY PAUL POTTER.

In the face of reductions of one to seven cents in the price per quart of milk in sixteen other principal United States cities Chicago's milk price remains at 14 cents per quart in the retail trade delivering bottles to the home. Producers and milk dealers who supply about 3,500,000 pounds of the fluid each day to the metropolitan area defend the price they are receiving.

Farmer producers get 5.2 cents of this 14 cents on their basic price of $2.64 per hundred pounds; wagon drivers get about 3.4 cents for every quart they deliver; the inside dairy worker is getting about 2.2 cents for every quart handled; bottles and pasteurization cost another two cents, and incidentals, including the returns to the milk dealers, take up the other part of the retail price.

"Consider the huge investment in the 19,000 dairy farms producing milk for Chicago," says Don Geyer, representative of the Pure Milk association, which is supported by these farmers. "Estimates place the value of each farm at a minimum average of $25,000, and that means that the total investment is around $275,000,000. The 400,000 cows alone are worth at least $40,000,000, or $100 each. Chicago never had better milk as regards quality and the area is being supplied with efficiency throughout twelve months of the year."

Little Change in Price.

Little change in price, either up or down, is predicted by those who have the best insight into the producing and distributing conditions and present costs. Otto P. Black, president of the Chicago Small Milk Dealers' association, says that the price to the farmers appears to be stationary, and similarly the price to the consumer, because other costs do not appear to be changing.

The only possible innovation in retailing might come with an increased charge for pints of milk. At eight cents they mean a loss to the dealer, and a fairer price would be 10 cents per pint, Mr. Black says, even if the quart charge remained at 14 cents. He cites the nearly equal bottle cost and distributing cost as reasons for his statement.

Reports made within the last few days by milk dealers show only a three per cent average reduction in milk consumption in Chicago over corresponding periods in 1929 before the stock crash. These reports are held as evidence of the solidness of the industrial backbone of this city and of the cities in and adjacent to the metropolitan area.

Seven Cent Cut in Miami.

Miami leads the list of cities which have had reductions in charge per quart of milk since Jan. 1. The price in the Florida city was cut 7 cents to the present retail charge of 15 cents. Other reductions have been given the home trade in Des Moines, Dubuque, and Iowa City in Iowa; Louisville, Ky.; Detroit and Grand Rapids in Michigan; Minneapolis and St. Paul in Minnesota; Hoboken, N. J.; New York City; Akron, O.; Oklahoma City, Okla.; Pittsburgh; Burlington, Vt., and Seattle, Wash.

The Chicago "milk shed" producer area holds the view, however, that because of the quality of milk which is being sold here the comparisons of reductions in other cities and maintaining the same price here should be used only with a study of conditions in other cities. Some of them are "deplorable" as regards inspection and quality in general, according to local producers' association representatives.

15 Boys Take Part in Kite Flying Contest

Chicago's annual kite flying contest was held by south park officials yesterday at 55th street and the lake. Fifteen boys flew kites of their own manufacture. The kites were attached to small logs and allowed to sail over the lake. Medals will be awarded for the fastest and longest flights. Last year the first kite to cross the lake was sighted three weeks after the contest.

Even little sister can make good coffee when she follows a few simple rules and uses GOOD coffee.

But the best cook in the world can't make a good tasting drink from a cheap coffee . . . coffee featured for its price rather than for its flavor.

Benjamin Franklin once said that the "best is the cheapest" and we think that's true today too.

Buy McLaughlin's Manor House Coffee—make it right—and the flavor will always satisfy you.

thrilling taste—plus bran to keep you fit

YOUNG FOLKS — old folks — all the folks agree that Kellogg's Pep Bran Flakes are a taste-treat any time.

How these sun-brown flakes tempt you. Thrill you. Tease you to taste their goodness. You'll vote them the best bran flakes you ever ate.

Healthful too. Filled with the goodness of whole wheat plus just enough extra bran added to be mildly laxative. A glorious dish that helps keep you fit and regular.

Serve them at breakfast. At lunch. For the children's supper. Kiddies go wild about their famous flavor.

At your grocer's. Look for the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

IMPORTANT—Kellogg's Pep Bran Flakes are mildly laxative. ALL-BRAN—another Kellogg product—is all bran and guaranteed to relieve both temporary and recurring constipation.

Five Debuts Set for Fall on North Shore

BY THALIA

The north shore debuts are a series of presentation teas, many of them garden affairs, that take place annually just before going-away-to-school time in September.

They are gay, pretty affairs, though not so formal nor so large as the town debuts that begin in November. The north shore debutantes usually do not let their social introduction interfere with the course of their studies, but manage to attend a prodigious number of parties during their vacations. Dates have already been set for five Winnetka debut parties.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace W. Armstrong are to present their daughter, Miss Jane Armstrong, on Saturday afternoon, Sept. 6. They will give a dance following the Indian Hill club later in the evening. Miss Armstrong went to Bryn Mawr, and is just about to complete her sophomore year at Smith college, where she is class president. She and her mother, and brother, Horace Jr., who is in his second year at Yale, are to sail in June for Europe, to be gone until August.

The next party already scheduled is the one Mr. and Mrs. Martin Lindsay are to give for their daughter, Beatrice, on Friday afternoon, Sept. 12, at the Indian Hill club. Miss Lindsay finishes at Dana Hall this year, and will probably go to Connecticut college in the fall.

Miss Evelyn Bouscaren, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis H. G. Bouscaren, and Miss Leila Withers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allen L. Withers, both are to have coming-out receptions on Saturday, Sept. 13, the former at the Bouscaren residence, and the latter at the Indian Hill club.

Both girls have been studying in Italy during the last winter, and are soon to arrive home. The Withers family are to spend the summer in Santa Barbara.

Miss Lucie Jacobs will be presented by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Jacobs, at a tea on Wednesday, Sept. 17, at their residence on Woodley road. Miss Jacobs is at Pine Manor, Wellesley, and will graduate a year from this June.

The details of the quiet marriage of Miss Faith Cullen of New York City, and Louis C. Seaverns, son of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Seaverns of Lake Forest, which took place in New York on Wednesday unknown to most of Mr. Seaverns's Chicago acquaintances, have not yet reached here from the east. It is understood, however, they had their wedding at a friend's apartment, and that they will be coming to Chicago shortly. The groom's parents didn't go east for the wedding, as Mrs. Seaverns is in poor health.

The board of directors of the Improvement Association for Blind People, which conducts the Chicago Lighthouse, met in the directors' room of the Foreman National bank yesterday, and elected the following new officers: Mrs. Stanley Morrill, president; Mrs. J. Glen Sample and Miss Edith Ware, vice presidents; Mrs. Oliver Perry Kline, treasurer; Mrs. B. Botsford Young, assistant treasurer; Mrs. Everett L. Wyman, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Marshall Keig, recording secretary; Mrs. Daniel Peterkin Jr., president of the Lighthouse Volunteer Aids, reported on the success of the recent benefit dinner dance given by the aids.

The membership of the Lake Shore League of Women Voters has so exceeded that all the card tables available at the Casino will be put to use for its bridge tea there this afternoon. Among those who have made reservations for tables are Mrs. Augustus A. Carpenter, president of the league; Mrs. Charles H. Chadwick, Mrs. Walter Borden, Mrs. Oliver Caldwell, Miss Marie Rozet, Mrs. Wilhelm L. Baum, Mrs. Frank J. Loesch, Mrs. D. Mark Cummings, Mrs. Paul Rittenhouse, Mrs. Walter Jarrett, Mrs. Oren E. Taft, Mrs. Henry Chapin, and Mrs. Harold Foreman.

The Christ church choir guild of Winnetka will give its annual choir concert and dance this evening at the Winnetka Woman's club. Mrs. J. Williams Macy is chairman of the committee in charge.

Assisting Mrs. C. A. Dunbar, chairman of the ladies' auxiliary committee for the annual South Shore Country club horse show to take place from June 10 to the 14th, are Mrs. William R. Alcorn, Mrs. E. Malcolm Anderson, Mrs. J. G. Chapline, Mrs. H. P. Conboy, Mrs. W. E. Dee, Mrs. C. Groverman Ellis, Mrs. C. B. Goes, Mrs. Joseph E. Hitt, Mrs. Daniel A. Orth, Mrs. Scott M. Rogers, Mrs. W. J. Sutherland, Mrs. A. C. Thompson, Mrs. A. J. Bates Jr., and Mrs. M. B. Johns. There is to be an unusually large registration of women exhibitors this year, and the famous Olympic team, United States America, is to compete.

Mrs. Joseph T. Bowen, who is now at her place near Libertyville with Miss Mary Roset Smith as her guest, is to leave on June 15 for Bar Harbor where she annually spends her summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry C. Holloway of Glenmoor have been in Stockbridge, Mass., for the purpose of opening their summer place at Tyringham, Southern Berkshire.

Mrs. Harry H. Shearson is back at the Drake hotel after a brief sojourn in New York City.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Jocelyn Butler of Ladue in St. Louis county, Mo., are receiving congratulations on the birth of their second daughter on April 29. Mrs. Butler is the former Martha Ferguson and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis A. Ferguson of Evanston.

CHICAGO GIRL WINS HER 2D POPULARITY VOTE AT LAKE FOREST

For the second successive year Miss Gertrude Brennan of 3100 Palmer square, Chicago, was selected this spring as the most popular girl at Lake Forest college by a vote of the student body. The election was held early in March, but was disclosed for the first time in the Forester, college year book, distributed yesterday. Miss Brennan is a member of the graduating class and a member of Theta Psi sorority.

Miss Elinor Corcoran of Libertyville was adjudged the most beautiful co-ed. This is the second year she has won this honor. She is a senior and belongs to Gamma Rho Delta sorority. Miss Corcoran is a brunette and wears long hair.

Beldon Churchill, a sophomore, of Canton, Ill., was chosen as the most popular man on the campus.

Russell Bundesen, son of Coroner Herman N. Bundesen, was selected as one of the three most promising members of the freshman group.

Other choices of the students are: Faust Ferracca, Iron Mountain, Mich., best all around athlete; Gigi Pietrangeli, Kenosha, Wis., most scholarly student; John Gress, Pleasant Unity, Pa., best dressed man; Charles Kerry, Grayslake, Ill., most thorough gentleman; Helen Diver, Waukegan, Ill., best co-ed dancer; Blythe Muir, Zion, Ill., best man dancer; Ruth Adams, Milwaukee, Wis., and Peter Mayer, Forest Park, most loving couple.

Youthful Chorus Adds Beauty to Musical Fete

BY EDWARD MOORE.

Another choral group did important service in the performance of "The Children's Crusade," the cantata by Gabriel Pierne, the principal item of the third program of the North Shore music festival last night.

In this piece the composer had written many passages for a children's chorus, and to sing them a high school chorus of about 300 voices took the back of the stage, and by alternating with the main festival chorus produced a charming effect.

The piece is one of the most delightful choral works of the last thirty years. Persistently undramatic in character, in spite of the drama of the legend upon which it is founded, it nevertheless is packed full of melodies that are the more entrancing when done as well as they were last night. Mr. Lutkin conducted the work at a former festival several years ago, and it was both a graceful and artistic thing for him to revive it on this, his final year as director of festivals.

In one respect it could have been improved. That one was the translation. No one is more desirous of hearing pieces to be sung put into English than the one who writes this. But the music of "The Children's Crusade" is peculiarly French in its rhythms and accents, and while this translation was a good piece of English, it did not always fit the curve of the music. In other words, it read well, but sang less easily.

Possibly that is why the English words of Florence Macbeth, somewhat the most expert of the soloists, were the most intelligible of all.

In fact hers was an uncommonly expert performance throughout in both quality and musicianship. Though there were many instances of other good tone from Jeannette Vreeland, who was the other of the two children's leaders. It was they who gave point to the performance, against a background of wholly delightful tone from the girls' chorus.

The performance began with Mr. Stock conducting his own orchestral transcription of Bach's Passacaglia and Fugue in C minor, a master scoring, wholly in the Bach atmosphere and mood, and played in the same manner. Mr. Stock then resigned the baton to Mr. Lutkin and retired for the evening. There will be no performance tonight, but tomorrow afternoon and evening both will appear again.

ENGAGEMENTS

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Taylor Smith of Glencoe announce the engagement of their daughter, Dorothy Brewster Smith, to David Dushkin. Miss Smith is a graduate of Smith college, and Mr. Dushkin attended New York City college. Both of them are musicians, having supplemented their study of music in this country by two years of work with Nadia Boulanger at the Ecole Normale de Musique in Paris. There they became acquainted.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hall Armstrong of 6814 Jeffery avenue announce the engagement of their daughter, Eleanor J., to George Nau Burridge, grandson of Mrs. George D. Nau of 504 Porlier street, Green Bay, Wis. Miss Armstrong attended Lawrence college and was a member of Delta Gamma sorority. Later she was graduated from the University of Wisconsin. Mr. Burridge is also of the University of Wisconsin and is a member of Delta Upsilon fraternity.

NEW YORK SOCIETY

New York, May 22.—[Special.]—Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt and Miss Anne Morgan will sail for Paris tomorrow afternoon on the French liner Paris.

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Webster Fish started for their ranch in California. They will return next month and go to East Hampton for the summer.

Miss Gladys Rockefeller will give a dinner at Sherry's on May 28 in honor of Miss Faustina Munroe, whose marriage to John F. Degener III. is to take place soon.

ENGAGED

[Malcolm Balfour Photo.]

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Page of 1209 Astor street, announce the approaching marriage of their daughter, Frances, to Ralph Sebring Clark of Kalamazoo. It will take place on June 7 at their residence. The ceremony will be attended only by members of the families. The bride's sisters, Mrs. H. L. Wynegar of New York City and Miss Eleanor Page, will be her attendants. Chapin Dewing of Kalamazoo, will be best man for Mr. Clark.

Zeta Tau Sigma Dance.

Zeta Tau Sigma sorority will give its annual spring dance this evening at the Edgewater Beach hotel.

These Are Dog Days at Show by This Artist

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

A most attractive and vivacious young artist is in town, Diana Thorne, watching over the welfare of her exhibit of etchings and paintings at the O'Brien Art galleries and engaged in fulfilling a number of important portrait commissions.

Her exhibit is one of dogs and her portrait commissions are also of dogs. Not aristocrats, all of them, but many of them just plain dog, for this artist finds as much personality and character in a mongrel as she does in a winner of blue ribbons—possibly more.

Diana Thorne is not in the least the typical Englishwoman. She acknowledges she was born in Canada and that explains much of the irrelevance of her appearance and manner. She has a great deal more of the French than the British in her. She is dark, sparkling, animated and speaks with a slight accent. Humor is her strong point and her work is full of amusing touches.

Very clever is she at bringing a pup out of crowd and forcing him into the limelight.

Again and again we find her doing it. There is the little fat innocent curled asleep into his pillow; the three curious terriers marveling at the wonder of the spinning top; the brown dog from nowhere sniffing a mystery in a crawling worm; old sobersides looking at a fly. The incidences pile up. In all of them it is the dog who counts. One scarcely thinks of breed. In fact breed is relegated to the farthest background.

In painting portraits of dogs in oils, Miss Thorne stands practically alone. Extremely few artists have followed her into this field. Her portraits are capital likenesses and are decorative paintings at the same time. She paints spaniels and terriers as well as collies. Size makes no difference, the dog is what matters. Some dogs have more personality than others and it is by their possessing more or less character that the one triumphs over the other. Miss Thorne makes friends of them all but she cannot be blamed for being a little keener on the dog with an imagination and a brain [as some dogs have] than on the dog who boasts a pedigree and rests his laurels on his forefathers' achievements.

The exhibit will continue for some time and Miss Thorne will be in Chicago for some time. Both the exhibit and the artist are worth meeting, and if you do not fall in love with some of the etchings it is because you are really at heart not a doggy person.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., May 22.—[Special.]—The Vice President was guest of honor at a dinner tonight at the Panama legation. Mr. and Mrs. Edward E. Gann also were present.

The Spanish ambassador and Señora de Padilla gave a reception tonight at ten thirty in celebration of the anniversary of the birth of the king of Spain. The king's natal day, however, really was May 17. On that date the Spanish chamber of commerce in New York had a banquet in honor of King Alfonso, and the ambassador was the ranking guest. That caused the postponement of his party until tonight. After the receiving of the guests tonight, Mme. Lucrezia Bori, Spanish prima donna of the Metropolitan Opera company, sang. Mrs. Thomas H. Birch of New York and her sister, Mrs. Eugene S. Dorey of Philadelphia, are guests at the embassy.

Mrs. Wilbur, wife of the secretary of the interior, accompanied the secretary to White Plains, N. Y. There he made an address today at the dedication of the new recreation center of which Mrs. Eugene Meyer Jr. of Washington is the founder.

Mrs. Grant, widow of Brig. Gen. Frederick Dent Grant, and mother of Col. U. S. Grant III., has so far recovered from her long and serious illness as to receive guests every day and to occasionally take automobile drives in good weather. She has been ill at her New Hampshire avenue home for more than a year.

Girls Present Plays to Show Their Activity

As if a little skeptical that girls can put on demonstrations as well as boys, a number of boys were present yesterday at the health and education show in the Coliseum to witness the opening of the Girls' week festivities.

When the curtain fell on the last scenes of various skits, concerts, moving pictures, and playlets by Girl Scouts, Camp Fire Girls, Girl Reserves, Life Saving Guards and others, enthusiastic applause bespoke approval.

The theater in the north hall was filled all afternoon and again last night. Mothers brought younger sisters and brothers, and fathers slipped away from business for awhile to see their daughters perform. Blue uniformed policemen took a few minutes off from guard duty about the Coliseum to see the snappy performances of school girls.

In smart maroon and white uniforms and cocky "trench" caps to match, the Austin High school girls' band, the only one in the city, put on a concert considered the equal of any by boys' bands. Chicago Commons children in quaint frocks exhibited English folk dancing, and Northwestern university settlement girls, Polish dancing. Girl Scouts have a clown circus, and Girl Reserves a "Mixing Bowl of Health." Camp Fire Girls, in a motion picture, demonstrate the joys of camping at Camp Nawakwa. Life Saving Guards gave a playlet on "Death to the Fly," and Junior Friends of Art gave "Pandora Up to Date," a musical playlet on the smoke evil. Marshall and McKinley High school girls' choruses sang.

Other Girls' week activities at the Coliseum concentrated at the booths where the handiwork and exhibits of the girls' organizations participating in the program were on display.

Girl students had a try at teaching in Marshall High school yesterday. For an hour they traded places with their teachers. Today most of the activities will be in the schools, with girls' glee clubs and dramatic and gymnastic groups giving programs. Tomorrow the growing girl will be honored at the Chicago Woman's club in a rally of 700 girls from all the schools.

The annual May breakfast of the Girls' conference of Oak Park and Proviso will be held tomorrow from 9 to 11 a. m. at the home of H. W. Austin, 1022 Lake street, Oak Park. Breakfast will be served on the lawn and interpretive dancers coached by Eleanor Sherman, general chairman of the meeting, will perform.

Winnetka Rector Going to Cathedral in Manila

The Rev. R. Malcolm Ward, assistant rector of Christ Episcopal church, Winnetka, has accepted a call as dean of the Cathedral of St. Mary and St. John, Manila, P. I. This was announced at the headquarters of the Episcopal diocese of Chicago. In addition to being the rector of the cathedral the Rev. Mr. Ward will be the head of the cathedral school of the Philippines, founded by the late Bishop Charles Brent. The Rev. Mr. Ward and Mrs. Ward will leave for their new post in June. They have resided in Winnetka during the last three years.

Hines Hospital Chaplain 50 Yrs. Roman Catholic Priest

Catholic clergy, friends and associates of the Rev. Peter Hamley, chaplain at Edward Hines Jr. hospital, Maywood, gathered yesterday at the Passionist monastery in Norwood Park to celebrate his 50th anniversary as a Catholic priest. The Rev. Father Hanley celebrated solemn high mass, assisted by his nephew and namesake of Providence, R. I., as deacon, and the Rev. John Schroeder of St. Ambrose church, subdeacon. The sermon was preached by the Very Rev. Father Stanislaus Grannon, C. P., superior of the Passionist Preparatory college. Those attending included Col. Hugh Scott, chief of staff at the hospital, staff physicians, patients, and visiting clergy. A similar celebration will be held at the hospital on Sunday.

Extended the Invitation.

My friend and I had been shopping, and were returning to our respective homes on the street car. I was just thinking of asking her to dinner some day soon, when she asked me to come to her home that evening.

"That will be just fine!" I said, "I was just dreading to cook supper this evening." Then I realized she had not asked me to supper! She laughed, but I was certainly glad that the next stop was mine! E. A.

Tit for Tat.

I met an old flame of mine at a party and decided to high hat him.

"Sorry," I murmured, when the hostess introduced him to me, "I didn't get your name."

"I know you didn't," rejoined the old flame, "but you tried hard enough." L. V. B.

PATTERNS BY CLOTILDE

[Registered U. S. Patent Office.]

CHILD'S DRESS.

This dear little dress has flared cap sleeves with a scalloped edge, matching the finish at the bottom of the skirt. The skirt is tucked at either side of the front and back and stitched to the French bodice. Yellow pique with white piping and yellow grosgrain ribbon, sailor blue on a white ground, with matching ribbon in blue, and red and white cotton broadcloth print are pretty for this small frock.

The pattern, 2540, comes in sizes 2, 4, and 6 years. Size 4 requires 1¼ yards of 39 inch material with 2½ yards of binding and ¾ yard of 1¼ inch wide ribbon.

FARM AND GARDEN
BY PAUL POTTER

To make death for pests both short and sweet, take equal parts of granulated sugar and powdered dry arsenate of lead, mixing thoroughly so that the arsenic poison will coat the sugar crystals and entice ants to drag them into their burrows instead of aggravating lawnmakers and gardeners.

This advice comes from Charles E. Fredrickson of Elgin, Ill., who thinks the practice will aid the hundreds of persons entered in THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE'S lawn contest which is now under way.

His system is this: "Take equal parts of the two ingredients, mix thoroughly, and sprinkle this over the ant hills. The ants will carry this down into their homes for food and in three days the lawn trouble will have been solved. This treatment will not discolor or stop the growth of the grass in any way. I have tried other materials including acids, gases and poisonous powders but the most that I got was a bad yellow spot where I used them on the ant hills."

The treatment should be carried on when the soil is not too damp, in order that the ants will have a chance to get the sugar and with it the poison before the crystals dissolve and disappear. With ants, as with earthworms, less trouble is encountered in a rich and well kept lawn which has grown a heavy turf, than with thin and scanty coverage which often occur where there is excessive shade or a wide and open lawn area which is subject to drouth.

Asks Cash for Chinese.

An appeal to Chicagoans to contribute funds for famine relief in China was issued yesterday by Wirt W. Hallam, acting secretary of a committee just formed here to coöperate with the national organization at New York City.

Greek Draped Bodice Combines with Plaits

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special Correspondence.]—Plaits are back in again. The faction of Paris fashion makers that go in for making clothes different and difficult to copy made war on plaits in the ordinary and garden varieties this spring. Nary a plaited skirt could be found in the haunts of chic exclusivity. But smart women wanted their plaits, and they cried out loud for them. The result is a revival of accordion plaits that require a lot of attention to be kept in good condition, and that are not nearly so easy to achieve as common knife and box plaits.

Paris is making accordion plaited skirts, with plain yoke tops for tailored suits. She is fond of accordion plaited, gored skirts for evening, and accordion plaited godets are being set into frocks for all kinds of occasions. They satisfy the yearning of women for plaits and at the same time give us a change from the kind we have seen and worn too much.

A number of Paris dressmakers are adding plaited skirts, of the accordion persuasion, to draped bodices and this is a fashion that is particularly good. The Redfern Sunday night frock shown in our sketch combines the Greek draped bodice with the skirt flared by accordion plaited godets. This frock is made of faille [a silk that holds plaits very well], and the short coat is made of the same material and color. This coat has short cape sleeves, descending to the bottom of the wrap at the sides of the back. It has wide revers and no collar. These two items make it both smart and unusual.

The color of this ensemble is emerald green and it is worn with a necklace of silver set with emeralds. The slippers are silver.

Home Surroundings Produce Exceptions to Usual Phases

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

Having devoted four days to generalities about children and their normal social development, I can't resist devoting the fifth to exceptions.

The generalities stated are true of the average or normal child under average or normal conditions, and because they are scientifically correct they are fine things for us to know about. But at the same time that we know what is to be expected at certain ages we must not expect every child to go through every phase at each specified age. Any one who has had varied and personal contracts with children knows that.

Some children, for instance, have unusual home surroundings — unusually good, or unusually bad, or just unusual—and the chances are those children will not meet the world of adults and children according to the specifications for the average child.

For example: The child who grows up on an isolated farm, the child who is sternly repressed in every direction, the one who is overindulged, the child who has some physical defect, the child of actors who travel constantly, the child who is deperately poor, the child who is desperately rich—these children will not pass from phase to phase in the way described in the past articles.

Then there are the children of unusually high intelligence—they are exceptions in the way their contacts with other children work out. The girl or boy of 10 who has the intelligence of a boy or girl of 13 will not often have many interests in common with children 10 years of age. Especially if that child is receiving his schooling with children three years older will his "social" life develop differently—and sometimes not as happily as that of the average child.

Indeed the superior child is often a problem as far as companionship is concerned and needs guidance and help. That is, unless he is educated with a group of other gifted children, in which case their mental age and chronological age are both the same as his.

A book which makes really fascinating reading on this subject is "Gifted Children" by Leta Hollingworth, published by MacMillan.

Bright Sayings of the Children

The Tribune will pay $5 for each childish saying printed. The story told must never have been printed in any magazine or paper. It is not possible to acknowledge or return unavailable contributions. Write on one side of the paper. Address bright sayings to Aunty Bee, The Tribune, Chicago.

Whenever my son, 5 years of age, was disobedient, I would tell him that there was a big bear upstairs who ate up disobedient children. One evening, as it was nearing his bedtime, I told him to go upstairs to bed. He didn't want to go, but after much persuasion he decided to do as he was told. As he got to the top step, he turned around and yelled, "Aw, I don't wanna go to bed, I smell fur." MRS. C. Y.

The day had been a series of "don'ts" to 3 year old Bill. His grandmother had frustrated his every attempt to amuse himself. Finally, exasperated, he walked to the door. "I'm leaving," he said. "You're two of the derndest women I ever tried to live with." C. C.

"Bill" Believes in Baiting Pockets for Probing Wives

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Apropos a recent suggestion of mine that men—husbands particularly—submit their coat and trouser pockets to daily overhaulings, that strange telephone number evidence be kept from pocket probing mates, "Bill Jones" write: "Heretofore when I read your stuff, I was impressed. 'There's a pretty smart girl,' I says. 'She knows her humans.' But t'other morning, Doris, you pricked the iridescent bubble and from now on you're just another woman—and that goes, even if you are a bald headed gentleman who chews snuff.

"The peccadillos—or was it armadillos?—are over my head, but on this pocket purifying business you took the wrong tack. Instead of sweeping out the evidence, any man unfortunate enough to tie up with a pocket probing female should deliberately bait the hook with all the phone numbers he can think of, from Mary Gardenn's to the Cherry sisters. Or, if that's too much trouble, he should carry a phone book in each pocket.

"On second thought, the phone book is the best bet, as it might stop a bullet when the shooting starts. Though, again, it is a mystery why any man should want to live if he has to do it with that kind of a meow. The least he should do is to prime said pockets with a list of self-starting, sure fire divorce lawyers and let nature take its course.

"You know the sacred constitution of these United States says that citizens, their homes and persons, shall be secure from unreasonable searches and seizures, and that includes pockets. Now, Doris, do your duty and defend the constitution. Your truly, Bill Jones."

So, says the constitution, that cellars shall not be searched, and lookit what's happening to them.

But what has the constitution got to do with a wife and a strange telephone number wrested from a vest hiding place? Nothing. Not by all the rules of the female's own constitution. Keep your pockets cleared, I insist, is the wisdom that passeth constitutions.

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

May Effect a Reconciliation.

"Dear Miss Blake: I have left my sweetheart, and his birthday is soon. Should I send him a birthday card?

"BABY."

To send a birthday card indicates a friendly spirit and may bring about a reconciliation.

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Persian Cat for Some One.

"I have a blue Persian cat, two years old, which I can no longer keep. If you will find a good home for it I shall be grateful to you. MRS. C."

An animal of such beauty and lineage should have no difficulty finding a home where he will be well cared for and appreciated. If you want to become the new owner of this attractive pet, write me for it; please do not telephone.

Offers Muskellunge.

"I have a thirty-five pound muskellunge stuffed and mounted that would be suitable for a boy's room, scout organization or club. Do you know of any one who would want it? H. Y."

This should be a much prized trophy to the boy or boys' club who receives it and it will make an interesting and attractive ornament. If you'd like to have it, I shall be glad to have you write me; please do not telephone.

Crispness of Attire Never Fails to Have Stimulating Appeal

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Crisp is a word you want to think a lot about, these days, in connection with your own nice self. Take a tip from the crisp collar and cuff accessories that make the dresses so irresistible today.

It's a good word and you can use it in connection with so many things in the making of the lovely femme. Its flavor is appetizing in pie-crust or girl, table linen, lingerie linen, household complexion or housewives. Anywhere you meet crispness, its appeal is the same—stimulating, refreshing. Naturally, then, it is a woman's asset—and an easier one to cultivate than almost anything else you can name in the cultivated arts.

From skin out a crisp freshness may mark every step in the toilette. And it is of the skin chiefly we would talk today.

An appalling phrase from a young woman followed a brief visit with a girl who had everything on earth to make her attractive. "She smells sour," it was. Her clothes bore the musty, rumpled look that stirs up visions of sour hampers or drawers into which careless mothers chuck discarded infant's wear. Her face was smudgy. Whether there was a sour odor about the attacked one's person or not, the lack of crispness suggested it.

The subject of odors is always a hard one to handle. It's not pleasant writing. It's not pleasant conversation. Being so, then, how much more unpleasant it is to meet. So inexcusable, too, in this era of relief measures, temporary and permanent, to rid the person of the faintest undesirable scent. There is protection offered for underarm offense in simple, inexpensive remedies.

The use of a deodorant should be a daily habit, not one for particular occasions. If for no other reason than to know that one is safe, a soothing cream, a dusting powder, an astringent lotion should be used. Then, there is no question about the thing that no one will speak of directly.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

MRS. T. K.: FOR ORDINARY stains on the hands from vegetables and fruits lemon juice is effective. In cases of stubborn stains use tomato juice or ground pumice stone mixed with peroxide. The latter is excellent for stains under the nails. Dip the brush in the pumice and scrub the nails with it.

J. D.: THERE IS NO DANGER IN frequent hair washing if the soap is properly rinsed out and the hair thoroughly dried. Wash your hair as soon as it is dirty—and don't wait until it is awfully dirty. Shampooing instructions may be had for a stamped addressed envelope.

Mrs. Edward Rogers Fifield

—prominent in Chicago's exclusive social circles, and noted for successful leadership in charity drives and club work, says: "I treasure my delicate silks, linens and precious pieces—that's why I allow nothing but American Family Flakes in my household. Our maid and laundress much prefer it, too, because it cleanses so quickly and is so kind to the hands." It's the only laundry soap you'll find in most of Chicago's wealthy Gold Coast homes. Because it actually saves delicate colors and frail fabrics . . . lets things wear a third longer. Three liberal size packages.

Katherine S. Pillsbury and Elliott B. McKee Will Marry in Paris

BY HENRY WALES.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
[Copyright: 1930: By The Chicago Tribune.]

PARIS, May 22.—Wearing the same dress in which her sister was married to Oswald Lord last December in Minneapolis, Katherine Stevens Pillsbury, daughter of Charles Stinson Pillsbury, will be married at the American Procathedral Saturday to Elliott Bates McKee. He is employed by the National City bank's Champs Elysees branch.

The gown is of ivory white panne velvet. Mrs. Oswald Lord will be the matron of honor and another sister, Helen Winston Pillsbury, will be the maid of honor. Mr. Lord will be the best man.

The couple were engaged when Mr. Lord's classmate, McKee, attended his wedding in America.

The bride's parents arrived last week on the Aquitania and her brother, Philip Pillsbury, and Robert Colgate of New York arrived a couple of days ago on the Berengaria to attend the ceremony.

Mr. McKee is the son of Mrs. Frederick H. Brook of Washington, D. C. He graduated from Yale in 1926 and attended Christ's college, Cambridge, for two years.

The ushers will be Allen Murray and Cornelius Agnew Jr. of New York; John Utter of Washington, D. C.; John Quarles of Idaho, Robert Buell of Rochester, N. Y., who is secretary at the American embassy at London; Robert Fisk of Boston, James Greenway of New Haven, Conn., and Edwin Lord of Wynnewood, Pa.

Dean Beekman will perform the ceremony and a wedding breakfast will be held at the hotel where the Pillsburys are stopping.

The couple will motor through southern France on a honeymoon trip and will reside in Paris.

WANTED—MALE HELP.

Salesmen, Solicitors, Etc.

A Specialty

Two necessities in great demand—selling for half of what they could be purchased for anywhere else, at terms of a dollar down and a dollar a week.

You should write at least 2 orders a day—yet just one order a day with a dollar deposit pays you $50 a week in full. We prepare your way by getting you right into the home and build for you a clientele that assures additional income.

No competition—we are the world's largest manufacturers of our kind. Sincere men of good character assured steady income with excellent future. 11TH FLOOR, 23 E. JACKSON-BLVD.

A BIG OPPORTUNITY FOR BIG MEN ONLY.

We have an unusual opportunity for successful one call specialty salesmen; you must be keen, aggressive and possess good business judgment, plus the ability to picture profits and possibilities in a convincing manner and close contracts on first call.

You must have had at least 10 years' experience in the sales of ideas rather than merchandise and you must prove yourself to be a Big Money man. You must be 35 to 50 years of age, and your past record must stand closest investigation to receive attention.

These positions require constant travel; you will appoint exclusive dealers for a highly rated manufacturer doing a national business. You will be paid large commissions and your traveling expenses will be advanced.

If you can meet these requirements, call in person at Room 1112, 230 N. Michigan-av., between 10 and 12 a. m.

SECOND
LOANS

There is a general tendency today for people to think that the more they pay for something, the better it must be.

While this may be true of merchandise, it is distinctly not true when applied to second mortgage financing. Financing of any type must stand or fall by whether or not it accomplishes its object at fair and reasonable cost.

It has been our constant effort to reduce second mortgage costs, without sacrificing any efficiency in handling transactions. Our rates on loans of this type are today the lowest in Chicago. We charge 7% accruing interest, and a commission which works out as follows:

$65.00 per $1,000 for 2 years
$90.00 per $1,000 for 3 years

JUST A SHORT TIME LEFT TO TAKE ADVANTAGE OF STUDEBAKER'S 25TH BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION

We have specialized in great car values for 25 years in Chicago, and in order to fittingly commemorate this fact, we set aside May 19 to May 24 as a week of superbargains. Prices were slashed $150 to $450 on every car. A visit to our showroom will convince you of this fact.

You are protected by the famous Studebaker Used Car Pledge that guarantees 5 days' free driving trial, no matter what you buy.

FIAT COACH. This European small car is famed for its economical transportation and fine appearance. It's in wonderful condition now. Reduced to $175.

JORDAN SEDAN. Str. 8 equipped with 4 whl. brakes snubbers, bumpers, trunk, spare tire, driving light, etc. Oiled and greased every 500 miles by the original owner, so it's topnotch today. Reduced to $250.

HUDSON BROUGHAM. It's exceptionally clean throughout and is in dandy running condition. It has shatter front, spare tire, bumpers, etc. $145.

STUDEBAKER COMMANDER. 1928, five pass. Sedan finished in an attractive color. The Bir Six motor is smooth and powerful. The upholstery and carpets are in dandy condition. Has 4 whl. brakes, snubbers, spare tires, bumpers, etc. $450.

OAKLAND SEDAN. '1929 that was driven exactly 9,149 miles. It's finished a beautiful dark green, with a green panel along the sides. Equipped with new tires and a wealth of extras. Priced at $785, but worth at least $200 more.

CHRYSLER COUPE. The finish, upholstery and motor are all in splendid condition. Has new tires and many extras. Reduced to $195.

PAIGE SEDAN. Recent model that was carefully checked over in our shop and adjusted wherever necessary. The appearance is unusually smart and the equipment includes 4 whl. brakes, snubbers, trunk, new tires, etc. Reduced to $275.

STUDEBAKER SEDAN. 1927 Dictator that will please most exacting buyer. The motor was carefully checked over by expert mechanics and every feature of the exterior and interior is in wonderful condition; 4 whl. brakes, snubbers, bumpers, spare tire, etc. Now $375.

FORD COUPE. One of the latest model A's that's a beauty. An inspection and demonstration will convince you it's in new car condition today. $295.

LINCOLN SEDAN. This 7 pass. was chauffeur driven, so it's in topnotch condition today. Has 8 practically new tires, shutter front, shock absorbers, bumpers, etc. Reduced to $395.

ROOSEVELT SEDAN. One of the very latest eights with wire wheels, shock absorbers, trunk rack, and other extras. Has very low mileage, so it will give new car satisfaction today. Reduced to $750.

PACKARD SEDAN. This six is equipped with snubbers, heater, bumpers, spare tire, etc. It's lacquered a beautiful blue. The motor is A-1. It's an exceptional buy at our price, $445.

PONTIAC COUPE. Here is the best Pontiac buy in Chicago. The finish glistens like a new dollar and the motor runs smoothly and quietly. Has brand new tires and every essential extra. $295.

BUICK SEDAN. Late Mast. 6, seven pass. Brand new tires, snubbers, heater, bumpers, etc. This car is as clean as a whistle and it's as comfortable as your home lounge. The motor is in wonderful condition. $445.

HUDSON SEDAN. Late 1928 that's the last word for sparkling performance and attractive appearance. Equipped with shock absorber, bumpers, shutter front, trunk, etc. The finish actually glistens. Has a sweet running motor. $585.
